Rents for cold-water tenements in this vicinity average about $3.50 per room a month, while non-elevator apartments with all other modern improvements are said to average about $4.50 per room a month. Store rentals have advanced about 50 per cent. during the past year.

In the Tremont section rents are a little higher in the line of steam-heated apartments, it being reported that they range from $5.00 to $6.00 a room per month, while in more remote locations inducements are offered of five rooms and bath, ranges and boilers, in 2-family houses for about $19 a month. There are a few cases where as much as a month's rent free is offered to attract new tenants.

—The Realty Finance Co., of which Geo. R. Read is president, has declared a dividend of 10 per cent. The company was incorporated in 1902 with a capital of $2,500,000. George R. Read, William G. Park, Perry Belmont, W. K. Mathews, F. K. Pendleton, J. R. Drexel, Jefferson M. Levy, W. J. Van Pelt and E. Thilman are the directors.

Effect of McAdoo Tunnels and Approaches

Running Under the Hudson River the McAdoo Tunnels Will Connect Metropolitan Business and Shopping Centres with the New Jersey Suburbs and Railroad Terminals—Fourteen Miles of Tunnels, Two Sets of Parallel Tubes Under the River, Connecting Subways to Broadway at Ninth Street and Greeley Square, and Commodious Terminals—By Connection with the New York Subway the Time Between Given Points Will be Cut Down One-Half, and the Jerseys Will be Brought as Close to New York as is Brooklyn and as Queens Will Be—A Great Territory Will be Opened Up to Residential Settlement, and It Is Well to Follow Comptroller Metz's Advice and Keep a Watch on New Jersey—Work Is Progressing Rapidly and it Is Expected the Entire System Will be in Operation by 1908.

AT this writing a number of shafts are being driven in Sixth avenue, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, in front of the Big Store and in the heart of the shopping district. It is the start of the construction work for a new Subway; this one not to wait the financial convenience of the Municipality, but to be worked out and paid for by a great public service corporation, the Hudson Tunnels Companies, which seem to have digging qualities equal to the Belmont syndicate and the Pennsylvania Road. The particulars of the plans being a matter-of-fact story some years old, and the dream of a generation, it remains only to say that the clock has struck and that the dream has come true. The Degnon Construction Company, which made a record in the Manhattan Subway, and is now showing the English tunnel builders how to bore under the East River, will do this job also, and it is safe to predict they will deliver the goods and no excuses when the time is up.

Degnon's section is from the Thirty-third street terminal to Thirteenth street; and all the rest of the Subway in Sixth avenue to Ninth street, and thence through Christopher to the river, the Hudson Tunnel Companies are doing for themselves, the work being under the direction of Chief Engineer Jacobs, who has also been supervising in the same capacity the building of the Pennsylvania tunnel under the East River. There may or may not be a significance in this, for those who have fancied that the Pennsylvania had an interest in the McAdoo tunnels but could not prove it.

The Record and Guide is interested in the work because of the tremendous effect it is going to have on real estate of this region. The opening of the road in 1908 will not make such a furore as if it had been opened before the recent great boom, but still the real estate world will soon begin to see things doing on the Jersey shore. The new road will bring to Broadway the passengers of the West Shore, the Susquehanna, the New York and Northern, the Erie, the Lackawanna and the Jersey Central, not counting the Pennsylvania, and will serve all the territory that they serve, and will eventually build up the country for fifty miles around. All the Subways and bridges heretofore have tended to build up Brooklyn, Queens and the Bronx. The McAdoo tunnels will populate the banks of the Hackensack, the Passaic and the western slopes of the Palisades. The movement will operate to some extent against Brooklyn and Queens, but can only tend to make Manhattan a more important business and high-class residential centre than ever. The theory that any suburban movement can hurt New York can be no longer entertained. The local disturbance in Sixth avenue will not be very serious, it is promised, no worse than it was in lower Broadway, which the public did not mind.

Briefly, this system, as planned to date, consists of four tunnels in pairs under the Hudson River, connecting the New Jersey shore with the island of Manhattan at two points; two parallel tubes running from two of the river tubes under the island through five metropolitan shopping districts; two tubes along the New Jersey water front connecting the four river tubes and all the trunk line terminals, except one, on the Jersey shore, and a spur running from one pair of the river tunnels back from the Jersey water front to a point where connection can be conveniently made with the intricate network of trolley lines spread over the streets of and interlocking Jersey City, Hoboken, Newark, the Oranges, and other teeming suburban centres, within a twenty-five mile radius of New York's City Hall. These cities and towns combined have a population of 2,100,000, which is greater by 100,000 than the population in 1875 of New York City, and all the towns and cities, Brooklyn included, within its sphere of influence.

The north tunnel under the Hudson was completed to the New York bulkhead line March 11, 1904. At that time Mr. McAdoo conducted a party through the bore and was himself the first man in the world's history to cross under the river and into New York. The south tunnel is rapidly nearing completion. At the present rate of progress it is conservatively estimated that all the tunnels will be completed and in operation in 1908.

One distinct and unrivaled feature of the upper McAdoo tunnel will give it a peculiar advantage over all other lateral traffic lines, and here lies the exceptional importance of this project. . . . The Brooklyn Bridge comes to Park row and stops there; and the other bridges from Brooklyn and Queens, built and building, end definitely at certain city meridians, leaving traffic to pursue its further course by other means. The Belmont tunnel route will discharge its passengers at Park avenue, where they must change to another vehicle in order to reach their ultimate destination, unless this happens to be within easy walking distance of the tunnel entrance, a circumstance which will only favor a few. The Pennsylvania tunnel line also will operate only on one line of latitude, and commuters will have to pay tribute to another public service corporation in order to complete their journey.

Entirely different will be the case of the McAdoo tunnel. It will have wings of approach reaching from Ninth street on the south to Thirty-third street on the north, with entrances at intermediate points also—at Fourteenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-third and Twenty-eighth. From any of these it is but a few minutes' walk to any particular place of business within the great central zone of Manhattan, which means but one fare to pay as well as great convenience and quick transit for New Jersey commuters. Comptroller Metz, when he warned Long Island real estate interests to keep a watch on New Jersey, as he did on the occasion of the Long Island Real Estate Convention, had a real prophetic vision.

The event of the week in the real estate market was a transaction which signalized another step in the carrying out of the plans of the Hudson Tunnel Companies. Through the firm of Douglass Robinson, Charles S. Brown & Co. they purchased from Edward A. Morison for the sum of two million dollars all of his holdings on the Sixth avenue block front between Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets, including the Trainor Hotel property and the three parcels separated from it by the Manhattan Theatre, an area of about 11,500 square feet, which is said to complete the tract required for the great structure which will be erected at this terminal.

The tunnel terminal proper will be in the block bounded by Christopher, Tenth and Greene streets, and the further subways up Sixth avenue to Thirty-third street, and along Ninth street to Broadway and Astor place will be in the nature of approaches, which will tend to distribute the enhancements in value which real estate will naturally derive from the improvement over a larger territory than if the tunnel ended absolutely at one particular point. Among real estate appraisers it is therefore the opinion that while Sixth avenue interests will be strengthened as a whole, there will be a tendency to extend the shopping district both northward and southward of its present limits, and that these extremities are the sections which will see the greatest advance. It is pointed out that terminals of any kind never help property close to them, except directly opposite, but rather scatter their favors some distance away. On the whole, it is considered that the position of the West Side shopping district will be additionally fortified, and were it not for the fact that the McAdoo interests have another trans-Hudson tunnel under construction, to terminate at Dey and Church streets, there might be observable a considerable migration from the lower West Side to the region served by the northern tubes. One other effect prophesied is a new movement to the west, counteracting in a large part the rapidly strengthening tide of travel eastward; and the beneficial effect to property on the west of the Hudson is not problematical.

November 3, 1908.—The first train to go over the entire McAdoo tunnel system is about ready to start. Its four handsomely finished cars are comfortably filled with the officers, directors and head builders of the tunnels and a few invited guests. The guards give the signal to start. The motorman throws the lever around, the train gathers its speed even before the platform of the terminal in Hoboken is left behind, and in fancy, we hear Mr. McAdoo say to his companions, "Now, gentlemen, we shall behold what dream man has made real after thirty-five years at a cost of untold energy, numerous bitter disappointments and millions of dollars."

Assessable Improvements.

The contract liability against the city's street improvement fund, as appears by the books of the Finance Department, is $6,222,396.90. On Sept. 1, 1906, in addition to $5,251,000 of un-issued assessment bonds, there was in the fund $494,665.47 in cash, making the total amount presently available $5,745,665.47. While the contract liability exceeds the available assets by $476,731.43, the fund is being continually replenished by the payment into it of assessments and the interest thereupon.

The following table shows by boroughs the amounts received for assessments and interest from property owners, upon assessments levied during the years 1903, 1904, 1905 and up to Sept. 1, 1906, viz.:

Development of the 23d Ward, Bronx.

CONCERTED ACTION TENDING TO HIGH-CLASS ATTRACTIONS.

The sale at the junction of Bryant av, 167th st and West Farms road last week by Henry Morgenthau Company to an investor, through A. L. Gitterman, directs attention to a portion of the Bronx of which very little has been heard of late by the public, but which has been one of the most active in the 23d Ward.

A little over a year ago when builders, such as Daly & Carlson, George C. Edger's Sons, James A. Frame & Sons, etc., recognized the desirability of Longwood av section, they bought up most of the available lots and erected on them the best of 5-sty apartment houses. Up to this time this section had been gradually improved by George F. Johnson's Sons Company with high-class two-family houses, but the advent of the flat builders drove the prices of lots beyond utilization for small houses. George F. Johnson's Sons Company, therefore, moved the centre of their activity a few blocks northeast and purchased about 300 lots in a tract bounded by Whitlock, Hunt's Point and Lafayette avs, with Garrison av and other streets intersecting.

On the Whitlock end of this property they began by laying foundations for twenty-two two-family houses and are building fourteen of them. On the westerly side of Whitlock av, Michael Meehan is completing nine houses on lots purchased out of the Johnson tract. These houses are between Hunt's Point av and Barretto st, and between Tiffany st and Lafayette av. Arthur Rothermel is erecting twenty-four two and three-family houses. Of the fourteen Johnson houses, five have already been sold, and Mr. Meehan has disposed of three of his. Two blocks over on Faile st McCarthy & Macy have just started twenty-five two-family houses and have sold one from the plans. On Faile st, near Aldus, the American Real Estate Company have completed twenty two-family houses, all but a few of which have been sold.

Crossing Westchester av, on Vyse and Longfellow sts, twenty-eight two-family houses have been or are being completed, and those finished have found a ready market. During the spring and summer the American, Elmore and Hunt's Point Realty companies, and the George F. Johnson's Sons Company, who together own over 2,800 lots in the section above mentioned, have been regulating and grading the streets, curbing and flagging them, putting sewers and all other improvements in at their own cost. Besides which, at the Bronx River waterfront, docks have been built and the river dredged, making them accessible for canal boats of all kinds.

There is probably nowhere in the whole of the 23d and 24th wards a section where the concerted action of a few owners covering so large an area is tending to high-class and permanent development. The Southern boulevard trolley and the subway stations on Westchester av at Prospect av and Simpson st make this section accessible. The six-tracking and electrifying of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, and the proposed extension of the subway through the Southern Boulevard, the contract for which will probably be let this coming spring, the widening of the Hunt's Point road to 100 ft. from Southern boulevard to the Sound, which is under way, and the building of a trolley on its tracks for part of which have already been laid, all point to the sure and extensive growth in this section.

New Codification of City Ordinances.

The Committee on Codification of Ordinances of the Board of Aldermen has made a report embodying a compilation of all ordinances, including the building laws, of the city of New York, including all such ordinances as are mentioned in sections 41 and 57 of the Greater New York Charter, together with all new ordinances and amendments which have been adopted, and have become existing ordinances up to Jan. 1, 1906.

The report, with the accompanying code, was adopted, and the way is now clear for the revision of the building laws.

The committee has not reported anything as an existing ordinance which has in it any new matter or has been revised in any manner whatsoever. Nor has the committee eliminated from its report any formerly existing ordinance, or part of an ordinance, which has not clearly been repealed by subsequent legislation or ordinance, or which has not been decided by the highest courts of this State to be of no force and effect.

In order to preserve certain well known ordinances, which have been repealed by the changes made necessary by the provisions of the Greater New York Charter, the committee has reported them, not as existing ordinances, but as ordinances whose immediate re-enactment, with the substitution of such words as are suggested in the committee's report, is recommended. Instances of such ordinances are to be found where the ordinance relates solely to some locality, such as the Borough of Manhattan, or the Borough of Brooklyn, and where the words formerly contained in such ordinance were "the City of New York," or "the City of Brooklyn," and where the duties of a designated office have devolved upon an official with a different title. In other words, the changes recommended are in cases where the name of some locality, or of some office, or the sense of the laws here declared by the language of the Greater New York Charter, or some State law.

The committee, in its treatment and report of the existing ordinances, have considered only such acts as constitute the local laws of the city enacted by the Board of Aldermen, or similar body, and duly approved by the Mayor, or returned without his approval in such a manner that they have become ordinances by force of statute, and which are continuing in their nature, force and effect, and are either rules under which the government of the city of New York is administered, or rules for the guidance or regulation of the conduct of the citizens of said city. This report contains only such acts of the legislative body of this city as fall within the foregoing definition of an ordinance.

For the purpose of clearing up a very confused state of affairs, the committee recommended that with the adoption of this report, the board should also adopt a general repealing clause, wiping out all ordinances that were in effect Jan. 1, 1906, and adopting anew the ordinances as presented in the report as the existing ordinances of the city of New York, up to the date of Jan. 1, 1906, together with such ordinances in their corrected form as were recommended for re-enactment.

American Builders Break Records.

REMARKABLE RAPIDITY WITH WHICH SKYSCRAPERS ARE NOW BUILT—TWELVE-STORY BUILDING FOR NEW YORK EVENING POST PUT UP IN THREE MONTHS.

Three months ago there was nothing but a big hole in the ground where the new building for the Evening Post was to stand. To-day on that spot stands an enclosed building, in which the plastering and other parts are well advanced. Although only started on Aug. 1, it is already possible to get a definite impression of what the new building will be like when completely finished.

It is a striking example of the rapidity with which skyscrapers are now put up by American builders. The constant growth of business, requiring larger office accommodation, and the increasing value of the land upon which big buildings must be erected have led to a demand for the utmost speed in building construction, so that time has become more important than cost in new buildings, every month's delay meaning a loss of thousands of dollars in rentals or interest.

Architects and builders have met this demand for speed by adopting the steel type of construction which enables them to run up buildings of great height with amazing rapidity. But the steel has to be protected from rust and corrosion. Likewise the walls, floors and partitions and other parts of the building have to be absolutely fireproof.

Although buildings like the new home for the Evening Post—the U. S. Realty Building, the McCreery Building, the U. S. Express Building and others—are run up in a few months, they are not in any way jerry-built. They are put up to last. The Baltimore conflagration showed they could withstand fire; the San Francisco disaster showed they could withstand both earthquake and fire. In fact the big steel and tile structures of New York are not only examples of rapid construction, but they represent the highest degree of perfection which American architects and builders have attained in the art of skyscraper building.

Work is well advanced also on the foundations of the Trust Company of America building at 41 Wall st, adjacent to the U. S. Trust Co. and the Mills building, which is to have two stories below street level and 25 above, or a total height of 330 ft. above the curb. The style of architecture is to be Italian renaissance, with a Colonial effect, and the front is to be finished in white marble up to the eighth floor, and above the twenty-second, the intervening space to be of special red brick.

The floors and roof are to be of hollow-tile construction, which is also used for fireproofing the columns and exposed girders. All the floors are to be finished with cement or terrazzo and all of the trim is of fireproof wood. The side windows will be glazed with wire glass; partitions are made with hollow tile.

The building will have a total rentable area of 5,000 sq. ft. on each of the regular office floors, and has an estimated cost of $1,000,000 exclusive of the value of the site.

Francis H. Kimball is the architect; Purdy & Henderson, consulting engineers for the structural steel work; Griggs & Hol-

Washington Heights Outlook Brighter

Inside lots on Amsterdam av from 145th to 160th sts are held at about $1,200 a foot front, while on the side streets they are locally considered as worth from $12,000 to $14,000 a lot. Brokers continue to report a dull market, although it was stated that there had been more inquiries on the part of clients to purchase property during the past week than there had been in a long period. Money, while a little easier, is still very scarce, and a number of builders are having difficulty in procuring permanent loans; the few that are fortunate enough to obtain them are said to be paying at the rate of 5½ per cent. interest on a 60 per cent. valuation basis as approved by the lenders' appraisers.

Mr. E. Osborne Smith, of the firm of E. Osborne Smith & Co., whose Manhattan office is at 181st st and Amsterdam av, said regarding the overproduction of new law houses on Washington Heights, that outside the vicinity of from 170th to 180th sts, bounded by Amsterdam av and Broadway, there were comparatively few new houses. He said renting was now very good, he having rented about forty-one apartments within a fortnight. The rents of non-elevator apartments having all other modern improvements average about $6 a room per month. Vacant inside lots on Amsterdam av he estimated to be worth about $16,000 each; St. Nicholas av, $15,000 to $17,000; Audubon av, $12,000, while side streets bring from $9,000 to $12,000, excepting 181st st, which is held at $16,000 a lot.

Washington Heights in this upper part is very attractive, with the Harlem River and its valley on one hand and the Hudson on the other, giving grand outlooks. Furthermore, one can reach almost any part of the Bronx by boarding an Interborough trolley car via Washington bridge. Mr. Smith also has an office in the Bronx and reports lots along Jerome av as averaging in price from $5,000 to $6,000 per lot; Ogden av, $4,000 to $6,000 each, while side streets bring about $2,500 a lot.

—It is reported that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has made a building loan of $340,000 on two 6-sty elevator apartment houses, 100x100, e. s. Broadway, between 158th and 159th sts.

Retail Merchants Becoming Landlords.

Recent sales of Broadway property are the chief topic of debate this week among the brokers and operators whose interests are centred in the lower business section of the Borough of Manhattan, and the former, stimulated by the desire to emulate the example of more fortunate members of the fraternity, are giving closer attention to a new feature of the buying movement, namely, the tendency on the part of retail merchants to acquire the ownership of buildings in which they are conducting their lines of trade.

"It is an indisputable fact," said a Liberty st real estate broker, "that it is becoming more apparent each day that the permanent location of his place of business has as much to do with the ultimate success of the retail merchant as the quality of the goods he sells, and his reputation for fair dealing. Besides," he added, "there are other reasons which make it desirable for the merchant to become his own landlord; chief among them being the freedom from various annoyances, and the undeniable probability of increased future rental, especially in the skyscraper district."

Referring to the sales of 177 and 179 Broadway, it seems probable in view of the prices supposed to have been paid for these old buildings, that the new owners will find it necessary either to remodel the structures or tear them down entirely, erecting buildings of greater height, and of a type better calculated to meet the needs of the small office renter. The block between Cortlandt and Dey sts, upon which these purchases are situated, stands in great need of improvement, the buildings being old fashioned and not up to the requirements of the times.

"It is practically conceded," said a prominent operator, "that ere long many retail merchants doing business on this leading avenue, as well as in the side streets, will follow the precedent so recently established and count among their most valuable assets the item of 'building owned.'"

New Jersey Auction Sales in the Near Future.

A well known auctioneer who has conducted many successful auction sales of note this year, and by reason of his familiarity with suburban real estate is regarded as an authority in his profession, made the statement recently that he believed the time ripe for the owners of well situated New Jersey acreage to arrange for the disposal of their property at public auction. He argued that, "The multiple factors which created the land boom on Long Island are in the making of that territory lying west of the Hudson River as well, and the general desire to own real property in nearby Jersey is becoming more apparent as the character and scope of the great improvements now being made are better understood."

New Jersey has always been handicapped by the need of a quick and reliable means of communication with the Island of Manhattan, and this fact alone has prevented a growth in land values naturally to be looked for under more favorable conditions; but with the completion of the North River tunnels it is believed that a very unusual demand will be created for building lots within fifteen minutes' ride of the metropolis, and it is at just this stage of a boom when lots put up at auction frequently bring more money than they would at private sale. The practice of selling vacant Jersey property in this manner has not been so extensively resorted to as within the borough limits of Greater New York, but reliable information is at hand which warrants the statement that in the near future the experiment will be tried by several of the large land holding companies, and the results, it is needless to say, will be watched with considerable interest.

It is Mr. Stewart's opinion that the life insurance companies intend making more liberal loans in the upper part of Manhattan Borough in the future.

Herbert A. Sherman, 9 Pine st, speaking of the great activities of the middle section of Manhattan, said he anticipated a great buying movement on the part of dealers in high-class property as a result of the many large sales which have recently taken place above 34th st. Mr. Sherman regards the purchase of the southeast corner of 5th av and 42d st as the most important sale of the year.

Operators David and Harry Lippman, 198 Broadway, Manhattan, who, it will be remembered, purchased at auction 449 Broadway last week, advance the belief that the dullness in the realty market can be attributed to the uncertainty as to the result in the coming election. In reference to their Broadway purchase, Mr. D. Lippman said that they regarded the property cheap at the price which they paid, $134,000.

Many real estate brokers have important sales and loans pending, some of which it is safe to say will not be concluded until after election, as there seems to be the usual uncertainty among traders as to the effect of politics on the money market. The extent to which this exists can better be understood by citing an instance of a money lender of prominence who accepted a loan conditioned on the election of his choice for the gubernatorial office.

Brokers who have spoken during the week of the general condition of the realty market practically agreed that the small operator is beginning to evince a stronger degree of optimism, due to the large sales in the middle section of Manhattan which have taken place during the last fortnight. "It is to be hoped that this spirit will soon give a stronger impetus to the purchasing movement, which has been dull during the past week," said a well known broker.

Mr. Edward L. King, 10 Wall st, Manhattan, is the possessor of a valuable reference file containing maps and full printed information, including sale prices, etc., relative to all the auction sales which have taken place in the city of New York from 1871 to date. "The collection of this data has been a special hobby of mine for years," said Mr. King, "and I am now beginning to find the information very convenient as well as a help in forming opinions of values."

HURD'S PRINCIPLES OF CITY LAND VALUES

Price, $1.50.

A book just published that shows how city values are made and the basis upon which real estate appraisements should be made.

The Trinity Securities Company, 240 Broadway, Manhattan, who purchased a tract of 17 1/2 acres at Brighton Heights, Richmond, about three months ago, is now improving the tract. All told there are 265 lots in the parcel, of which more than one-fifth have been sold. The average price obtained for small lots is about $370. The property is easily reached by the Castleton av trolley and is within ten minutes' ride from St. George.

Thos. S. Walker, of Hall J. How & Co., 171 Broadway, Manhattan, has just returned to the city after an absence of about six months. When asked about the situation on Washington Heights, Mr. Walker said: "Just as soon as the permanent loan question is satisfactorily adjusted I look for a renewal of interest in this section. It's got to come," he added, "and when builders are satisfied that no trouble will be encountered in this direction many lot sales will be made."

There have been several successful auction sales of Staten Island property this fall which seems to indicate that small buyers are beginning to appreciate the fact that this is a good time to get in on the ground floor and reap the harvest which surely is coming. Jos. P. Day, auctioneer, conducted the latest auction on Saturday last, of 182 lots near Brighton Heights, at which sale the sum of $40,000 was realized. The property sold is within ten minutes' ride of the Municipal Ferry Terminal at St. George.

Mr. B. Mordecai, of the firm of A. L. Mordecai & Son, 135 Broadway, Manhattan, in speaking of the money market as applied to mortgage loans, said: "Adverse conditions seem to be disappearing with great rapidity and the number of loans which the life insurance companies are making is a proof of atmospheric clearing. During the past six months about twenty-five million dollars have been loaned by life insurance companies on bond and mortgage." The firm is paying especial attention as usual to this branch of the brokerage business.

The result of the sale at auction on Thursday of 57 Warren st, an 8-sty brick loft and store building, 25x87.6, sustains the contention of operators that narrow buildings, particularly those erected on short lots, are undesirable from the standpoint of investment. The chief objection to a loft building of this size is that the floor space contained is not sufficiently ample to accommodate the needs of the average mercantile house, and is therefore attractive only to concerns doing business in a small way. The property was sold to the plaintiff on a bid of $17,000 over and above a first mortgage of $83,000 at 4 1/2 per cent. and accrued interest. The second mortgage with charges, etc., amounted to $26,360.54. The action to foreclose was brought by Charles M. Preston, as receiver for the New York Building-Loan Banking Co. Both lot and building is assessed at $95,000.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in Section 2, Block 482, Lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

The most desirable class of tenants are those who can afford to pay a good rent. They usually wont unless the store has all the modern improvements. If it hasn't Luxfer Prisms it is not up-to-date. Make your property more valuable by increasing the amount of real daylight into it. Let us explain matters to you either by mail or personally.

situation, remarks by some of the most influential men of finance, as quoted elsewhere in this number, indicate that more consideration, if any has been lacking, is hereafter to be shown for real estate interests. Certainly one effect of the publication will be to call the attention of certain large lending institutions to the high importance of this matter from the point of public welfare. With the approach of winter, building operations, especially new undertakings, are tapering off and, in consequence, trade in certain lines of building materials is less pressing, which is noticeable in such leading commodities as cement, brick and lumber. Cement quotations have recently declined, and in a marked degree, while brick values continue at a low level, to indicate the general tendency of things in the building world upon the approach of the winter season, and after several years of the most unprecedented activity.

THE people of New York have to thank Mr. William Randolph Hearst for one thing, and that is for the opportunity to vote for Mr. Hughes and to elect him. The Republican machine would never have nominated an independent resident of New York City had the nomination of Mr. Hearst not made necessary the selection of an exceptionally strong candidate. For the first time in many years we shall have a Governor who is not identified with the State machine, and who will pay some attention to the needs and requests of New York City. Just what the opinions of Mr. Hughes are in relation to taxation and the similar problems of State government, have not been divulged, because the canvass did not turn upon State issues. But Mr. Hughes' speeches have confirmed a very favorable impression of his abilities, his disinterestedness and his independence. He will bring a fair mind to the questions of State government, and with his help there will be a better chance than there has been for years to propose some more radical and effective legislation. How much and what can be done in this respect remains to be seen. It will not be possible to tell the trend of Mr. Hughes' opinions until after the publication of his first message to the Legislature. He has an admirable opportunity to propose a really effective reform in the system of taxation, and in the general franchise laws; and he will have every inducement to pursue a vigorous policy, because his canvass against Mr. Hearst demanded on his part definite promises of a house-cleaning at Albany. How far his party will support him in such a house-cleaning is doubtful, but he is committed so far that he cannot ignore his promises, and in any steps he may undertake, he will, of course, have at least the moral support of President Roosevelt. The great result of the elections this fall has been the vindication of Mr. Roosevelt's policy, and the apparent increase of his influence. After his overwhelming victory two years ago an emphatic reaction might have been expected, but as a matter of fact, it has been scarcely perceptible. Mr. Roosevelt has triumphed once more. His influence, wherever he chooses to exert it, must be stronger than ever and it is comforting to remember that it will be exerted in favor of a better political condition in New York State.

SHAKESPEARE, when he wrote "The Tempest," must have had in mind the Singer Building, now in course of construction at the northwest corner of Broadway and Liberty street, when he spoke of the "cloud-capped towers." The structure is literally a tower such as was projected by the builders of the Tower of Babel, which, according to the Bible, was "to reach the Heaven." At any rate, the Singer edifice will be the loftiest on the earth. The tower will rise to a height of 613 feet above the curb level. The gigantic mass of steel and stone, with its forty-two stories, will stand out above every structure in this city. Every other tower or monument will be dwarfed by it. Time was when the Tribune's "tall tower" was gazed at with wonder, and more recently the New York Times's new establishment in Times Square, but the Singer Building is higher than any other on Manhattan Island. Let us compare it with other tall monuments. The Eiffel Tower in Paris was erected in 1889, and is 984 feet in height, but it is simply a skeleton iron tower, isolated and not forming part of any building. The Washington Monument in Washington, D. C., is 555 feet high. Among other lofty structures are the Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt, 486 feet, Antwerp Cathedral, 476 feet and Strasburg Cathedral, 474 feet. The question now presents itself as to whether higher buildings are to be constructed in New York City, or will the Singer Building represent the limit?

BULLS and bears alike are still aggravated and tantalized by the action of the Stock Market. The election, with its indecisive result, has practically had little or no effect on either small or large operators. The market has its hours of strength when it seems that the long deferred activity and advance may be at hand, whereupon the professional bears run to cover and the bulls get aboard. When this description of stock-buying ceases, the market halts and the sagging tendency is again in evidence to the great disgust of the bears who have covered and the bulls that have gone long—only those who have the courage to sell on strong spots without reference to the accompanying news and to buy when stocks are weak and deterred by the scare of the moment which makes the low prices, only these two classes of operators we repeat are making any money in this extraordinary and peculiarly strange market. Meanwhile the patient ones who are holding stocks in the hope that the great prosperity everywhere must find expression in higher figures are being slowly "chewed up" by interest charges. Money is still a cause of anxiety, and some bankers say that the outlook is discouraging. Otherwise it is impossible to regard the immediate future with anxiety in view of the continued prosperity prevailing. The election of Mr. J. T. Harahan as vice-president of the Illinois Central Railroad to succeed Mr. Stuyvesant Fish is regarded as a great victory for Mr. E. H. Harriman. It is claimed that it will make the Union Pacific system of much greater importance, and puts it on a firmer basis from a dividend point of view. The management of the Illinois Central and the Union Pacific will now be under the control of the Harriman interests, to the great advantage of the latter system.

THOUGH this has been a short and broken week in the real estate market, it has not been without features of some prominence and a very good list of private sales. And, speaking generally for Manhattan and the Bronx, there is observable this week a very decided improvement in the tone of business affairs. Brokers speak of the outlook as being brighter than it was some weeks ago, of actual trade as being much more considerable, and of the money situation as gradually growing more favorable. All this notwithstanding that Monday and Tuesday were almost inconsequential days for real estate interests on account of the general elections. The sales included almost all kinds of property—several office buildings, a notable Fifth avenue transaction, and a number of dwellings, particularly on the West Side, to which quarter a certain tide of business seems to be drifting over from the choice population of the East Side. It has become very noticeable this year that the northern limit of East Side residence growth seems to have been fixed with some finality at about 96th street, beyond which there seems to be a determination not to go, not alone because of the uncongenial surroundings, but also because of the poor transit facilities. No part of the city is more meanly served by the rapid transit companies than the upper Fifth and Madison avenue sections. Regarding the money

Residences on the West Side.

DURING the early part of the fall, residences situated on the West Side were in somewhat better demand than they have been for several years, and this fact was the subject of much comment in the real estate columns of the daily newspapers. It was pointed out that although the price of old dwellings on the side streets on the East Side had almost, if not fully, doubled since 1901, the value of more modern houses on the West Side had remained practically stationary, but it was predicted that the better demand for residences on the West Side was the forerunner of a permanent transfer of the attention of the buyers of residences to the other side of the Park. The subsequent course of the market has not, however, justified this prediction. During the last month there have been more dwellings sold on the East Side than on the West Side. It is evident that at least for the present the unusual demand for residences on that side of the Park is over, and the Record & Guide does not believe that the movement ever had the significance which was generally placed upon it. As time goes on, residences on the West Side may and probably will increase slowly in value, but if so, that will not be because the West Side becomes very much more desirable than it is as a location for private dwellings. The East Side is and will remain the part of the city devoted to private residences, and the West Side will gradually decrease in importance in that respect. Such is the lesson of the transformations of the last few years; and such is the interpretation put upon it by the speculators, for there has been little or no speculative buying of residences on the West Side in anticipation of an increase in value.

In case the West Side were destined to retain its past importance as a private residential section there would already have been unmistakable evidence to that effect. During the past seven years the whole situation in respect to the standing of private residences as a firm real property in New York City has completely altered, and this alteration has from the start been diminishing the comparative importance of the West Side. Only about ten years ago, an average of about 1,000 new private residences were erected each year in Manhattan, and the greater part of these were situated west of Central Park. About 1898, however, the demand suddenly diminished, and since 1900 there have been on the average only about 75 new private residences erected each year in Manhattan. These 75 new residences per annum do not begin to replace the number of old ones destroyed during the same years. Since 1900 hundreds of old brownstone houses have been torn down, on the sites of the new railroad stations, and in the new wholesale and retail districts between 5th and 6th avs. There has been an actual decrease of the number of private dwellings in Manhattan, and what has been the result of this decrease? Here is a city which not so long ago would have appropriated and used 7,000 new residences in these years, but which now is obliged to satisfy its demand with a supply which is absolutely smaller than it used to be. Obviously in that event one would expect an increased price for all the existing residences in the city, but such has not been the case. We find on the contrary that almost the whole of the effective demand for residences has been confined to the East Side and that almost the whole of the increase in value has been concentrated in that quarter. Comparatively small increases have taken place elsewhere in Manhattan; but the lion's share has gone to the East Side. The significance of such a distribution of the demand cannot be overlooked. It means that, unless some totally new influence comes into play, the East Side is to be the principal, and probably in the end, the only private residential district in Manhattan.

The reason, of course, is that in the course of time none but rich people will be able to afford private houses in the central borough of New York City; and it so happens that it is the rich who are or want to be fashionable. Fashion has stamped its approval on the East Side, and has passed the West Side by, so that it looks as if people would never pay much higher prices for houses on the West Side than they do at present. The many thousands of moderately well-to-do New Yorkers who formerly occupied small private houses in Manhattan will either move into apartments or else will occupy residences in the outlying boroughs. Of course, thousands of such families will hang on to the residences on the West Side for many years to come; but little by little they will be displaced, and little by little the space on the West Side now occupied by private dwellings will be filled up with apartment houses. The whole history of the West Side proves that in that part of the city the private residence cannot compete with the apartment house. The increase in the value of land to the west of Central Park has meant that land in that section was more valuable for apartment houses, while the increase in the value of the land on the East Side has meant that to the east of Central Park it was more valuable for residences. The rise in the cost of vacant property stopped the building of new private dwellings on the West Side, because people would not pay the increased price for that class of building in that section, but a greater rise in the value of vacant land on the East Side actually augmented the demand in that section for private dwellings. There is no reason to suppose that these conditions will change hereafter. A very small increase in the value of houses on the West Side will merely increase the emigration to the outlying boroughs, and to the apartment houses. The people who occupy these dwellings are not the kind who are willing or can afford to pay a much larger rental than the one which they pay at present, and every enlargement in price means inevitably a corresponding diminution of demand.

The only change in the conditions which might considerably increase the value of West Side houses would be a transfer of the demand on the part of rich and fashionable people to that part of the city, but there is no reason to anticipate such a transfer. There is not much room on the East Side but there appears to be room enough. There is a gradual tendency to increase prices and improve the houses even on the less desirable blocks; and in the course of time, we have no doubt that many of the existing flats will be pulled down for the purpose of building handsome residences in their place. Furthermore the demand on the part of fashionable people will not increase so rapidly as might be anticipated. Many of these people will, indeed, always wish to have large houses in New York, where they can entertain on a large scale, but it is becoming increasingly customary with such people to have a large country place near the city, and to live there winter and summer. Then they are satisfied with an apartment in New York, in which they can spend a few days or weeks when business or pleasure keeps them in the city. It looks consequently as if the East Side would continue to satisfy the needs of people who want houses in Manhattan, and that the West Side would in this respect merely hold its own until the time came when their space would be required for large apartment houses.

Mr. Lawson Purdy Made President of the Tax Commission.

Remarks of an exceedingly pleasant nature are being made on account of the elevation of Mr. Lawson Purdy to the presidency of the Tax Commission, to succeed the late Frank A. O'Donnell, by Mayor McClellan's appointment. No one is able to conceive of an appointment deserving of more commendation, not alone on account of Mr. Purdy's distinguished fitness, but because also of the unrewarded service he has given to the public during many years.

Lawson Purdy is one of the best known authorities on taxation in this country. Though a practicing lawyer he has given a large part of his time for the past ten years to the work of the New York Tax Reform Association, of which he is secretary. Mr. Purdy drew the bill providing for the publication of the annual real estate assessment roll, and was also the foremost advocate of the abolition of the mortgage tax, for which he labored at Albany for many years.

Mr. Purdy is a member of the city Finance Commission, has been consulted by Governor Higgins in public matters, and, generally speaking, has rendered many public services. His salary as president of the Tax Board will be $8,000 a year, and real estate interests will be well served.

—The recent acquisition of the 39th st ferry by the City of New York has raised the question whether the improved service is likely to have any effect on the value of realty in the vicinity of its South Brooklyn terminal. While the maintenance of a schedule requiring the operation of three boats is no doubt a benefit to those who have occasion to use this route, it is not believed that the increased service will materially effect any but manufacturing property in the section in question. For some time past it has been the custom of manufacturers and merchants to transport their wagons and trucks over this short cut, and as the old service has been anything but satisfactory, the addition of another boat and the extra room which the boats now being constructed will afford is a matter of great importance to the many large industries in this section of Brooklyn. A study of the transit system affecting this district indicates that the bulk of commuters will continue to utilize the elevated and surface roads until the Subway extensions are finished, in preference to the ferry.

Life Insurance Companies and Real Estate Mortgages

IS Justice Being Done to Real Estate Interests in the Present Tight Money Market?—Assets of About $1,500,000,000 in the Four Leading Companies and Only $260,000,000 in Real Estate Mortgages—Interviews With Presidents Morton, Peabody, Hegeman and Other High Officers—Remarks of Mr. Charles T. Barney

A NUMBER of letters have reached the RECORD AND GUIDE from its subscribers, and from a number of borrowers on bond and mortgage in different parts of the city, stating that the life insurance companies have been practically "shutting down" upon loans on real estate for two or three years, excepting in individual instances. A canvass among real estate brokers shows that there is a very strong feeling, almost akin to indignation, at the ruthless manner in which the smaller owners of real estate are being crowded out by the insurance companies, and particularly by one or two.

In the early days of life insurance and up to within six or seven years ago it was the policy of those who controlled these institutions to favor mortgages on New York city real estate in preference to stocks and bonds. The reason is obvious. While real estate mortgages were made on a basis of 6 per cent. and later 5 per cent., and in more recent years at 4½ to 4 per cent., high class bonds and stocks, including government and municipal bonds, netted the companies from 3 to 4½ per cent., the average being generally 1 per cent. net lower in personality than in reality. In the early days of life insurance, when the railroads were not developed as they are to-day, the assets of the life insurance companies and savings banks were largely secured by investments in real estate mortgages.

Hence, the three mammoth institutions, the Mutual Life Insurance Company, the New York Life Insurance Company and the Equitable Life Assurance Company, largely built up their gigantic assets, amounting on December 31, 1905, to $1,327,655,281, by means of the profits secured from their investments in real estate mortgages. These very real estate interests that have helped to make them the rich and powerful institutions that they are to-day, are the very ones which, brokers and others claim, are not receiving fair consideration in the present tight money market.

And that consideration is much needed, real estate men say, not so much by large corporations and large owners of realty, as by hundreds of builders and others who are now struggling to ward off foreclosure proceedings because they cannot get loans ranging from $30,000 to $100,000 in the usual avenues, owing to the fact that there is so little money to be had in the lawyers' offices, in trust companies and in savings banks on real estate to-day.

Curiously enough the smaller companies seem to have loaned a larger proportion of their assets than the wealthier institutions. For instance, the annual statement of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, issued December 31, 1905, shows that its loans on real estate amounted to $7,112,510. This was 117 per cent. larger than the amount invested by the company in stocks and bonds, which was $3,269,341.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on the same day had $38,062,610 in bonds and mortgages on real estate, a proportion of only 49 per cent. of the amount invested by it in stocks and bonds, which was $79,629,477.

The Equitable Life had $86,530,982 invested in real estate mortgages, being only 35 per cent. of the amount invested in stocks and bonds, which was $243,706,855.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company had $109,771,163 invested in real estate mortgages, or 41 per cent. of the amount invested in stocks and bonds, which was $265,301,867.

The New York Life Insurance Company had but $25,586,644 invested in real estate mortgages, showing the remarkably low figure of only about 8 per cent. of the amount invested in stocks and bonds, which was $317,996,895.

Taking the proportion of the real estate mortgages owned by these five companies on December 31, 1905, as compared with their assets, the contrast is even more glaring.

The Manhattan Life Insurance Company had 37 per cent. of its assets (which were $18,751,868) in real estate mortgages.

The Metropolitan Life had 25 per cent. of its assets (which were $151,663,477) in real estate mortgages.

The Mutual Life had 23 per cent. of its assets (which were $470,861,165) in real estate mortgages.

The Equitable Life had 25 per cent. of its assets (which were $420,973,756) in real estate mortgages.

The New York Life had the extraordinarily low figure of less than 6 per cent. of its assets (which were $435,820,359) in real estate mortgages.

Hence, the smallest lender, proportionate, on real estate appears to be the New York Life Insurance Company, which suffered so severely from the Armstrong investigation.

"It would seem," said a broker who has been loaning money on mortgages for over twenty years, "as though all the insurance companies, instead of using their money so considerably in Wall Street securities would, after the exposures of the insurance investigation, have placed larger sums of money than formerly in real estate, which in the end means larger profits for their policy holders than can be secured in railroad bonds and municipal and government securities, but this does not seem to be the case with all the above named companies."

PRESIDENT PAUL MORTON SPEAKS FOR THE EQUITABLE LIFE.

Mr. Paul Morton, President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, when seen, said: "We have increased our loans on real estate in the last year and a half by over $10,000,000."

"But these are said to have been mostly large loans," suggested the reporter.

"Well," said Mr. Morton, "we cannot help that. We are ready to entertain all loans on approved real estate that may be presented to us, and we will loan 60 per cent. on our appraised valuations."

A director of the society when seen, said: "We are putting more money in real estate mortgages now than we have done for a number of years. I think the company would be perfectly safe in loaning up to 66 per cent., that is, about two-thirds of the value of property. I look upon real estate as being the best security that we can get and it gives our policy holders probably an average of one per cent. more profit on our investments than we secure through money placed in railroad and other personal property."

An official of the Equitable, who declined to have his name mentioned, said: "We are ready and anxious to make loans on real estate. Since the new management we have put out lots of money on real estate. We have applications from builders from time to time, but they want loans as high as 90 per cent. on what the land and buildings has cost them. Of course, we cannot be expected to make loans of that kind. We will make loans amounting to about two-thirds of the valuation, as valued by our appraisers, and we think that is fair."

PRESIDENT PEABODY SAYS THE MUTUAL HAS NOT REFUSED WORTHY LOANS.

Mr. Charles A. Peabody, the new and able President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, represents one of the great Astor estates, and is inherently a friend of the realty interests. Whatever policy the Mutual Life pursued before his selection for the presidency, has not affected his favorable disposition towards real estate mortgages since his advent.

"We have taken almost $10,000,000 of real estate mortgages this year," he said, "and our policy is to increase this amount from time to time. We are loaning at 4½ and 5 per cent. We shall be only too glad to receive applications, whether they be for hundreds of thousands or tens of thousands—office buildings, residences, flats or tenements. We have not refused any loans that have been offered us that are worthy of acceptance, from either large or small borrowers. Of course, there are people who want as high as 80 per cent. on the fairly appraised value of their property, and they must not be disappointed if their applications are refused, or if we offer them two-thirds of the value. We are not allowed by law to loan over two-thirds the value. We have loaned some $2,000,000 within the past few weeks. Of course it is our duty to our policy holders to get the best rates for our money, and when we can buy first-class railroad bonds, as has been the case for many months past, on a basis of 4½ per cent. and more, we would be false to our duty not to take advantage of such purchases. But borrowers on real estate can come to us with perfect confidence that they will receive fair and courteous consideration."

VICE-PRESIDENT KINGSLEY SEES NO DISPOSITION TO "SHUT DOWN."

Mr. Alexander E. Orr, President of the New York Life Insurance Company, being engaged, Mr. D. P. Kingsley, the Vice-President, said:

"We have increased our loans on real estate this year by over $9,000,000. We are loaning at 4½ and 5 per cent. We are glad to get good real estate loans."

He denied that there was any disposition to "shut down" on real estate to the advantage of railroad securities.

Mr. Kingsley has been Vice-President for a number of years. During the year 1905 the New York Life increased its investments in real estate mortgages from $23,595,105 to $25,586,644, that is $1,991,539, while it increased its investments in railroad and other bonds from $287,062,384 to $317,996,895, namely, $30,934,491, a difference against real estate of 1,553 per cent.

The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, a New Jersey corporation, stands in strong contrast to the New York Life Insurance Company. It is a fact well known among insurance men that the Mutual Benefit, besides being one of the oldest, is one of the strongest and most conservative of the life insurance companies, and that its policy holders receive greater benefits, pro rata, than, so it is said, any of the New York City companies. The Mutual Benefit has been able to do this because it has always given preference to real estate mortgages, on which its losses have been practically nil, and on which its interest has averaged higher than on personalty; whereas the New York Life Insurance Company has given its preference to railroad securities, which are subject in times like the Baring panic and in periods of business depression to considerable loss. The Mutual Benefit has nearly $50,000,000 in real estate mortgages, as against less than $30,000,000 in railroad and government bonds, being a proportion of 166 per cent. in favor of real estate as against but 8 per cent. in the case of the New York Life. The Mutual Benefit has 45 per cent. of its assets in real estate mortgages, whereas the New York Life has less than 6 per cent. To equalize its real estate mortgages, as compared with the Mutual Benefit, it should put out some $138,000,000 more than it had in real estate mortgages on October 31, 1906.

PRESIDENT STOKES'S STATEMENT.

"Our annual report," said Mr. Henry B. Stokes, President of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company," speaks for itself. We are a small company compared with some of our competitors, but we carry over $7,000,000 on real estate mortgages, as against some $3,000,000 on stocks and bonds, which shows a preponderating selection in favor of the former. We rarely call our loans, and we have etacmtamofwiwynpnwofamtfarlow preponderating selection in favor of the former. We never call our loans, and we have never raised the rate of interest on our mortgages above five per cent. It has been our practice always to mark our mortgages down or up in accordance with the market. The investment on bond and mortgage is a preferred asset of this company's."

PRESIDENT HEGEMAN SAYS THE METROPOLITAN LIFE HAS BEEN LIBERAL.

Mr. John R. Hegeman, President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, said: "We have been more liberal in the matter of mortgage loans on New York City real estate than probably any other company. We consider real estate in this city the safest security in the world on which to place our mortgages. We prefer real estate mortgages to bonds, and the records show that we are doing everything we can to encourage real estate. We loan from 60 to 66 per cent. on the appraised value of the properties presented to us."

Mr. Fred. H. Ecker, Treasurer of the Metropolitan Life, said: "Real estate mortgages are our favorite investment. We are constantly adding to them. We loan about two-thirds of the value of property. We appraise conscientiously with a view to our own safety as well as in a sense of fairness to the borrower. We are now pretty well loaned up and have probably placed on bond and mortgage during the year of 1906 something like the sum of twenty-four million dollars. We rarely if ever call in our loans, and when we do so it is for cause only. It is our custom to extend loans on maturity so that once placed with us our loans are generally continued. Our company has an established policy, which is, that our investments shall be divided nearly equally between real estate and railroad and other bonds. At present we are favoring real estate, because we can secure a better rate of interest than for bonds. If the conditions were reversed we would probably put more in personal than in real estate. We have contracted for between twenty-five and thirty millions of dollars in real estate loans at rates of interest varying from 5 to 6 per cent."

"Do I understand that you are getting 6 per cent. on some real estate mortgages?"

"Yes, on straight mortgages, and on building loans. We have made a point of aiding building operations and have found this profitable, and on these operations we get 6 per cent. interest, which has been the market interest on such loans for many years past among private individuals as well as institutions. The borrowers are glad to pay 6 per cent. temporarily until their buildings are completed. Then, if they wish to retain the loans with us, we have reduced the rate to 5 per cent., but in many instances they secure their permanent loans elsewhere, pay them off and frequently get their money at 4½ per cent., and in previous years as low as 4 per cent. We are thus performing an important function in building up the city, with profit to ourselves and advantage to the builders, and we think that this class of loan should be popular with the insurance companies and others. We believe our action has been helpful in many cases, but we do not seek any credit for it. One of our loans was of $5,000,000 on the New Plaza Hotel and another of $5,000,000 on the Broadway-Cortlandt office building. On expiring mortgages we have not raised our rates of interest excepting in some cases from 4½ to 5 per cent., as we are ordinarily a 5 per cent. institution. It is of the greatest importance at this time to help real estate along, and we are as much interested to-day in sustaining values by legitimate loans as we are in making profitable investments for our institutions."

PRESIDENT CHARLES T. BARNEY'S VIEWS.

Mr. Charles T. Barney, President of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, whose large interests in real estate are well known, said:

"With the savings banks all drawn down to their loaning limit, and most of the insurance companies practically stopping loans, the situation, from my point of view, is very serious. It has come to the point where a very large group of men in the community have no credit, although they have perfectly good security to offer. Builders cannot procure permanent loans, and a great many enterprises, to my knowledge, have been stopped on account of the inability of those who desire to build, both capitalists and builders, to secure promises of building loans. The result is, indirectly, to the detriment of the people at large, for it cuts down the number of apartments and other buildings that might otherwise be erected, and thus, by diminishing the supply, increases rents. The unpopularity of the insurance companies with a large class of men in real estate, both rich and poor, is due to the practical shutting down of loans by most of the institutions during the last three or four years. A large class of men who are not gamblers, but who are dealing in or erecting a necessary commodity, are practically without credit in consequence."

"I think it is time for the savings banks, where permitted, to let as much of their funds go into real estate loans as possible, even if they have to sell some of their less profitable stocks and bonds. The loans offered to-day in real estate form unusually good security. Many can be put out at from 4½ to 5 per cent. for the period of three years or more, thus securing to these institutions a high rate of interest for that length of time. A year or two hence they will only be too glad to loan money at 4 per cent., as was the case a year or two ago. It would be a far-sighted policy to do this and prove very profitable in the end."

"The dry goods merchant, the store keeper, the contractor or the business man goes to his bank when he requires credit, but the real estate man is placed in a different position. He has to rely upon the loans made to him by savings banks, trust companies and insurance companies. I am a director in a savings institution, and I some time ago recommended to our people that the surplus of $10,000,000 or more we had on hand be put in real estate mortgages. This has been done and is still being done with great profit to our bank."

EX-COMPTROLLER RICHARDS OF THE MUTUAL LIFE ON THE SITUATION.

Mr. W. W. Richards, for many years well known as the Comptroller of the Mutual Life, and now head of the Real Estate Department of that institution, said:

"We have loaned more money on real estate during the last year than usual, and this year we have increased our mortgage loans by about $10,000,000. This is the largest increase in the same period that we have made for years. Our charter permits us to loan to the extent of 66 per cent. of the valuation. Our Real Estate Committee scrutinizes all loans, and usually cuts down the loan to a lower limit. We make it a point to make our loans where a large part of the security is in land somewhat more liberal than when it is in the building, because the land generally appreciates, whereas the building depreciates. We give the preference to business property first, residences next. In the old times mortgages were made for one year, and were continued thereafter as long as taxes and interest were promptly paid and security remained intact. Of late years we are making three-year and five-year loans."

"There seems to be considerable complaint," ventured the enquirer, "among brokers and builders that the appraisals of the insurance companies are based on about 50 to 55 per cent. of what may be termed fair valuations. Why, if in Wall Street, a margin of 10 to 20 per cent. is required, should loans on real estate not be made to the full limit of 66 per cent. of a liberal valuation, a margin of 34 per cent?"

"Speaking for myself, and not as an official of this company," said Mr. Richards, "I would say that if a right selection of real estate is made, a loan of 70 per cent. would be perfectly safe, and I would go so far as to say that with very choice property, in sections where land is bound to appreciate in value, a loan of 80 per cent. would be safe. I can see no reason why stocks, that have a violently fluctuating value at times, should secure larger loans than New York real estate, which rarely fluctuates, but as a general rule increases in value, thus making a more certain and more solid security than stocks."

THE EXPERIENCE OF AN IMPORTANT MORTGAGE BROKER.

A member of a prominent real estate mortgage firm, who declined to have his name mentioned, said:

"The market has been a trifle easier lately, but money is still hard to secure. All the title insurance companies have loaned to their limit, as they are unable to readily dispose of their mortgages, owing to the present high rates for money ruling in Wall Street. Some of the savings banks are raising their rate to 5 per cent., yet we have always been led to believe that a 60 per cent. loan, which is their limit by law, would be well repaid by receiving 4 to 4½ per cent. Many of the savings banks have not changed their old rate of 4 to 4½ per cent. on some loans, as their securities have increased in value, so that these loans range from 30 to 45 per cent. of the value. The trouble is that there is not enough money to go around. Withdrawals from the east side savings banks have been unusually large, and enquiry as to the reason for this shows that a good deal of the money is going into lots on Long Island and in the Bronx. Thousands of applications come in to us, and we have applied in a great many instances to the insurance companies, but do not seem to be successful in placing loans with them."

"How many loans have you placed in the last year with the life insurance companies out of all the applications you have made?" asked the reporter.

The reply came after an investigation of the books as follows: "We have placed one loan with one of the insurance companies, and that was about a year ago—an amount involving about $500,000."

A large capitalist was seen, who said: "I had intended building an apartment house to cost about $1,000,000, and it had been my intention to secure a temporary loan of $500,000 for the purpose of erecting this structure. I find that the rate of interest required, and the expenses involved in securing this loan are so large that for the present I have shut down on the enterprise, and shall continue to do so until money rates are easier. I have heard of others who are taking the same position."

VIEWS OF OTHER PROMINENT BROKERS.

Mr. Charles S. Brown, of Messrs. Douglas Robinson, Chas. S. Brown & Co., who is a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and on its Bond and Mortgage Committee, said: "I can speak for the Mutual Life when I say that I know they are making more loans on real estate now than they have in the past, and I believe there is a similar disposition in the New York Life. I think that in the last six to nine months the three big insurance companies have changed their policy in the matter of making loans on real estate. Certainly, as far as I am concerned, I shall try to get the Mutual Life to increase their mortgage loans on realty. Now that the law compels the sale of stocks held by insurance companies during the next five years, I look forward with great confidence to a large part of the proceeds of the sale of their stocks going into real estate mortgages. These mortgages certainly form a stable security, one that does not fluctuate with financial conditions, and they will undoubtedly in the future, as they have in the past, be a more profitable investment for banks, trust and insurance companies in the long run, than government, railroad and municipal bonds. I need not say that I am heartily in favor of all insurance companies considerably increasing their loans on real estate."

Mr. George R. Read, of the well known firm of George R. Read & Co., said: "I have found that the life insurance companies are very willing to make loans on real estate. We have placed more loans during the last twelve months on real estate than we have placed in any year in the whole history of our firm, most of them being with the life insurance companies. The rates of interest are, of course, somewhat higher than in previous years—4½ and 5 per cent."

"Do you not, as a policyholder, think that it would be to the interest of policyholders in the life insurance companies if they increased their mortgage loans, owing to the higher average rates of interest prevailing on real estate?" asked the interviewer.

"I undoubtedly do," was Mr. Read's reply. "I will go further and say that I think it would be wise and profitable, not only for life insurance companies, but also for other institutions, as well as trustees and executors, to place a large portion of their funds in real estate mortgages, first, because they are a non-fluctuating and certain security, provided a proper selection of property is made and a safe amount loaned; and, second, because they provide a higher rate of interest for the mortgagee."

Richard M. Montgomery said: "The question of where the real estate dealer and the builder are to procure mortgage money to carry on business operations is becoming very serious. The title companies have taken mortgages and have been disappointed in not being able to dispose of them, and, therefore, are out of the market as buyers until such time as they can find an outlet for the mortgages they have on hand. The large insurance companies, who until some four years ago loaned large sums on bond and mortgage and made it possible for real estate dealers to carry on their operations successfully, have, during this period, put out but a very limited amount of their surplus funds on mortgages. About 1902 it became the fashion of insurance companies to employ their funds in syndicate operations and the purchase of personal property, that is, stocks and bonds. The decline which followed in the value of such assets was viewed with considerable concern by the members of the various finance committees and the trustees of these institutions. While the mortgages they held subsequent to 1902 were worth almost their face value, many of their underwriting securities, and nearly all of their stock and bonds, had declined in value. The experience of that period should prove a warning to them, but it would seem, from the reluctance with which they are evidently now willing to invest their surplus funds in mortgages, that the effect of the depression of 1902 upon their securities known as 'personal property' has been quite forgotten. The insurance companies stand to the real estate dealer very much the same as the banks stand to the merchant. The merchant must have facilities for discounting his paper or he will come to grief; the real estate dealer must have facilities for borrowing upon real estate or he will come to grief. Inasmuch as a large percentage of the policy holders are directly or indirectly interested in real estate, any liberal policy on the part of the companies in putting out money on mortgages would meet with their approval. I think the future maintenance of values and the prosperity of real estate in this city depends upon whether the insurance companies are going to make it possible for real estate men to get reasonable loans upon real estate, or whether they are going to withhold their funds from the mortgage market and use them in other channels."

The Record and Guide would be pleased to hear from any of its readers on the above subject, in the hope of some good coming from a free and open discussion.

Savings Banks Increasing Interest.

The following letter appeared in the New York Times a few days ago:

To the Editor of the New York Times:

The Seamen's Savings Bank, the West Side Savings Bank and others have raised the rate of interest on their loans on real estate to 5 per cent., whereas only a year or two ago and for many years previous the ruling rate with savings banks was 4 per cent. and at times 4½.

To make matters worse, these banks issue notices to their mortgagees within a few weeks of the maturity of mortgages, thus causing considerable hardship in most cases, for there is a tight money market temporarily, and mortgagees are compelled to pay the higher rate of interest, being unable to replace their loans, and where able to do so, being compelled to pay legal charges and commissions so steep as to make a change equivalent to a rise of the half of 1 per cent. demanded.

Is it fair or honorable for savings banks to squeeze their customers in hard money times? Will they not eventually defeat their own objects, and be hoist with their own petard? Borrowers will harbor the injustice, beyond a doubt, and when money gets cheaper will inevitably pay off their mortgages and get them renewed elsewhere where money is offered at a lower figure.

A SUFFERER.

A Drawback to the Bronx.

Many rumors have been advanced as to why the Interborough Rapid Transit Company fails to operate its road intersecting the 2d and 3d av lines, near 150th st.

The inconvenience experienced by weary travelers when returning from their day's vocation at rush hours, with the congestion of traffic not only in the cars themselves, but also in the station is very great. They are compelled to file in line and wait their turn to receive transfers, and descend to the street, sometimes through rain and slush, then down two more flights of stairs to the subway, only to be carried to the elevated structure again to repeat the descent on reaching their destination, or vice versa.

Mr. Julius H. Haas, the real estate broker of 149th st and 3d av, stated very emphatically this week to a representative of the Record and Guide that the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners had the power to direct and order cars run at reasonable intervals throughout the day and night over this unused structure, which would greatly help to relieve the congestion at 149th st, but that the Rapid Transit Board were too considerate of the local railroad officials.

He further stated that it was the intention of his association to introduce a bill to legislate the present Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners out of office, and substitute a new committee which would contain a representative from each and every borough in Greater New York. The Joint Rapid Transit Committee of the Bronx Civic Associations, of which Mr. Haas is secretary, has issued the following statement:

"The Joint Rapid Transit Committee as a central representative body, working to obtain better transit facilities on the elevated, subway and trolley lines in this borough, have held public meetings, prepared and submitted plans, and conferred with railroad officials, the commissioners of rapid transit and State Railroad Commissioners to that end.

"This work is great, and of vital importance to the Bronx; it will take many months, if not years, for the committee to complete its work. By agitation and education some things have already been secured, notably through express service via subway to West Farms, and further needed relief by third tracking 2d av and 3d av is in sight.

"There is necessarily some expense attached to all this. We would therefore be pleased to have business men of the Bronx who are and will be directly benefited by our labors, contribute small sums toward paying these expenses. Contributions of from one to five dollars are respectfully solicited. Due acknowledgment will be made therefor."

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Progress of the U. S. Realty Building.

(See Illustrations.)

The illustration (Figure 1) embraces the foundations of the addition to the Trinity Building and of the adjoining United States Realty Building. This view is taken from Trinity place looking east to Broadway. The broad platform shows the newly located Thames street, which was moved north from its original lines about 26 ft. Along the left side is Cedar street, which was supported by the shoring braces shown from Broadway to Trinity place in the foundation work. These braces remain in their present position until the steel construction and walls of the building are sufficiently advanced to permit of their removal. It will be understood upon examining the illustration that Temple street, which is seen on the left, at Cedar street, has been cut short to make room for the new building.

The work of the Foundation Company, which included the supports for the pillars of the Elevated Railroad, as shown in to build on Travers' Island. Work on the structure will be started immediately, and it is expected to be ready for occupancy in the spring. It will be fireproof, 3-stys in height, of reinforced concrete construction. The building will occupy the site of the former structure which was destroyed by fire about a year ago. Figures will be received on the general contract in about ten days. No contracts have been placed yet. The estimated cost is about $125,000. (See also issue of July 28, 1906.)

Fuller Company was commenced about the same time, and the preparation for raising the gigantic steel columns and girders for the Carnegie Steel Company may also be seen on the right of Figure 1, where huge derricks have been erected.

Proposed Plans for a Railroad Terminal and Another Hotel Belmont Combined.

The Record and Guide was informed this week that the probability has become almost a certainty of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. establishing a terminal on the block site of the old car stables, bounded by 4th and Lexington avs, 32d and 33d sts. It is stated on apparently very good authority that there is also to be another Belmont hotel erected, either upon or in the proximity of these holdings. The site faces the Park Avenue Hotel on the west and is on the line of the Pennsylvania road, with which the New Haven Company is understood to have made an arrangement for entering the city. Property values in the immediate vicinity of these contemplated improvements, it is noticed, have advanced recently. For a parcel, 24.8 ft. fronting on Lexington av, between 32d and 33d sts, it is said $100,000 is asked.

The National Sculpture Society announces a memorial exhibition of the works of the late Charles Albert Lopez, from Tuesday, Nov. 13, until Saturday, Nov. 17, in the rooms of the society, 215 West 57th st.

Henry R. Asserson, chief engineer in the sewer department Brooklyn, has resigned after twenty years in the city's service.

James H. Fuerters, M. Am. Soc. C. E., a hydraulic and sanitary engineer, with offices at No. 140 Nassau street, has been appointed a member of the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission by Mayor McClellan.

Frank Orr, sales manager of the Reliance Ball-Bearing Door Hanger Co., has just obtained the largest single order for door-hangers ever given out. The order amounts to more than $7,000, and is for 96 double-speed and 124 double-gear elevator door-hangers for the Plaza Hotel, besides several smaller hangers for interior sliding doors, etc., for the same building, of which H. J. Hardenbergh is architect. The order also embraces several new Reliance barlocks which are being specified daily for neat and careful work.

Mr. W. H. Gill, formerly of the firm of Robinson Gill & Sons, who for many years was one of the most prominent cut stone contractors of this city, but who retired from the business in 1902, has recently connected himself with the H. P. Binswanger Co., of 3 West 29th st. This firm has been identified with the stone trade during the past 22 years as well as of Indiana lime stone, besides being importers and dealers in various other kinds of building stones. Mr. H. P. Binswanger, president of the company, has lately returned from a Western trip, having gone to Indiana to arrange for the southern agency of a prominent quarry that promises to become quite a factor in the trade next season.

Condemnation Proceedings for Bridge Approach.

Blackwell's Island Bridge is expected to be completed and in operation in 1908. It is now estimated that the total cost for the structure, including real estate, will not exceed $15,000,000. The present plans are to have the Manhattan approach begin at 2d av, between 59th and 60th sts. It was learned from Mr. Jos. M. Schenck, who is acting as secretary to the commissioners who were appointed to obtain proof of the values of properties which have been duly selected for bridge purposes according to law, that this body is holding meetings every Monday and Thursday, and cases are being tried as fast as they can be taken up. Individual parcels represented by attorneys are acted upon first. Walter B. Hopping, attorney for the Realty Protective Co., represents a number of holdings. The properties involved at the present time are between 1st and 2d avs, from 59th to 60th sts, taking in the entire square block; also the block front on the east side of 1st av, running 200 ft. in depth. The city has already acquired title from this line to the river.

At the eastern end of the bridge direct access to the easterly portion of the Borough of Queens is cut off by marsh land, a big tract of which is now being improved by the Long Island and Pennsylvania railroad companies, which are sinking tracks, also constructing large car yards for their rolling stock. A viaduct is planned to span these premises in order to maintain a straight road leading to and from the bridge. As regards this approach, it is feared that considerable time will be taken up in litigation between representatives of the people and railroads, as the latter object to paying any part of the cost for the construction and opening of this thoroughfare.

For a Subway to Van Cortlandt.

Among matters affecting the interests of residents of the Bronx which came up for consideration by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment at its meeting yesterday was a request from the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners for an appropriation of $675,000 for the purpose of providing means for constructing an extension of the rapid transit railway system from Broadway and East 230th street to Van Cortlandt Park. The communication was referred to the Comptroller. Another matter referred to the Comptroller was a communication from the Property Owners' Association of the Bronx requesting a hearing on a proposition to construct a bridge at East 167th st over the New York and Harlem tracks. The Borough President called the attention of the board to the necessity existing for the construction of a temporary bridge over the tracks of the New York Central at Mott av.

Cement Prices Weakening

THE TRADE FEELS THE EFFECT OF TIGHT MONEY.

When asked for his views on the present market, Mr. W. P. Corbett, the general manager of the American Alsen Portland Cement Works, 45 Broadway, said:

"We can only say that we are at a loss to find any legitimate reason for the unfortunate weakening in prices during this season, which is a very busy time in the cement industry. Records show that there is hardly enough cement in the Lehigh Valley district to warrant a properly cured article, and in New York State stocks are exceedingly low. One of the cement companies, with an output of one and a half million barrels, apparently thought they had more than their proportion of stock in the bins and started a cut in the market, which was of course immediately met by some of the larger companies, and prices at present are about 25c. per bbl. lower than the maximum reached in September.

"It is to be hoped that prices on cement will be maintained on a more even basis in the future than in the past, as it benefits alike the manufacturer, the yard and the consumer. The present price at the works is certainly none too high for a moderate profit for the average mill in this section, and while prices have been lower, it must not be forgotten that they were also at one time about 50% higher than at present. Either extreme is very bad.

"It is evident that the cement market has proven in the past more of a speculation than the stock market. Tight money in New York has seriously hurt building here temporarily. Nevertheless, all indications for next season point to a tremendous demand, not only in this country but in nearly all sections where Portland cement is used. For a month we have declined all new orders on German Alsen for any section, for shipment prior to Jan. 1. The inquiries received have shown that the use of cement in all sections is increasing wonderfully, and while no other country is increasing in the production of cement like the United States, there seems no prospect at this time that it will not all be needed next year and that mills can well afford to store a reasonable amount during the winter to take care of the spring demand."

How the New Singer Building Is to be Anchored to the Earth.

The new Singer Building, Broadway, near Liberty st, Manhattan, is to have an unusual interlocking contrivance that will brace the structure to withstand the most severe storms and hurricanes. The new devices which are being employed for the first time in any structure were being put in position Thursday in the caisson piers which form the foundations. Skyscrapers of the ordinary type are not intended to withstand any uplifting strain. Their own weight prevents them from being disturbed. The new Singer building is to rise to a height exceeding 600 ft., and it is to have forty-one or forty-two stories. The wind pressure, on account of the structure's great altitude, will be tremendous, and for that reason the building is to be literally tied to its foundations by an ingenious arrangement of steel rods.

These rods will be 3½ inches in diameter and descend for nearly 50 ft. into the concrete which forms the caissons resting on solid rock 85 ft. below the curb. The rods, which are bolted together, are in lengths of from 6 to 10 ft. each, and the devices are put in before the cement is placed in the caisson. The lowest rod has on the end of it a great anchor plate, to which it is secured, and on the other end are bolted the two rods of the second section.

The third section has four steel rods bolted alternately to those of the section below and connected with four rods above. The four rods are made to converge so that they may be carried through the grillage beams at the top of the caisson and the iron base of the column. They are then run into the hollow column, which is thus tied and built up to the very top of the structure. The strength of these rods is ample to counteract the effect of the most severe storms.

Edward F. Kellogg, of the Foundation Company, which is doing the work, said Thursday that the foundations of the Singer building would cost twice as much as those of the largest skyscrapers which are on an average half its height, or twenty-one stories.

Transformation of Another Private House Block.

The sale of 6 West 48th st, by Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown & Co., for Miss Spence, to Edward L. Burrill, who also owns No. 8, comprises a 50-ft. front. Columbia College originally sold Nos. 4, 6 and 8 unrestricted. Nos. 1 to 11 West 47th st are leased till 1919 and 1921. From No. 13 to 69 West 47th st (excepting Nos. 35 and 41), also 10 to 70 West 48th st have been sold by the same brokers with 15 years' restrictions thereon against business occupations. Speaking of the money market, it was said that more loans were being made, some at the rate of 4½% interest. It is firmly believed that there will be plenty of money to loan by the first of the coming year at reasonable rates, furthermore there will be a great deal of buying for investment.

Long Island Real Estate Exchange.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS PLANS BIG HOME BUILDERS' EXHIBITION AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN—REALTY CONVENTION TO RE-CONVENE DECEMBER 11, 1906.

A well attended meeting of the Board of Governors of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange took place on Nov. 5 at the office of Paris & MacDougall, 1123 Broadway, Manhattan. On the report of the membership committee about 100 members were elected, among them being some of the most representative and influential real estate dealers of Long Island. It was decided to re-convene the realty convention on Dec. 11, 1906, which was first held on Sept. 18 and 19. At this convention the Board of Governors will report the constitution and by-laws that was adopted. The main idea of the re-convening of the convention, however, will be the discussion of the various papers which were read at the original convention, and for which there was no suitable opportunity for debate.

That the new exchange means to be an important factor in the real estate field of Long Island was evidenced at the last meeting of the Board of Governors, when they took up for discussion the proposition made by President Kempner to hold a "home builders' exhibition" at Madison Square Garden in the spring of next year. This exhibition is intended for the display of everything relating to modern house appliances, landscape architecture, road and street building, heating and lighting inventions, sewer construction, laying out sites for suburban developments, and all other things bearing on and essential to the real estate industry. The general opinion prevailed that by an exhibition of the character proposed and intense interest would be awakened in all matters pertaining to the construction of homes, which would naturally result in an increased interest in the buying and building of houses and investing in suburban property. After a full discussion a committee was appointed consisting of the following: H. Allen Tenney, John W. Paris, John Thompson, H. Stewart McKnight, W. A. Ryan, L. H. Pounds and Otto Kempner.

Action was taken at the meeting in reference to the apparently concerted effort being made by savings banks' institutions and other moneyed interests to discourage investment in suburban property. A committee consisting of Messrs. John W. Paris, W. A. Ryan, John Thompson, Wm. Richensteen and H. Stewart McKnight was appointed to prepare a plan by which the exchange will undertake to appraise property offered by land development companies, and determine whether the values fixed by the promoters are reasonable, and whether the representations made by the owners of such properties are correct or misleading. The object of the exchange will be to guide and guard the general public against the so-called wildcat land schemes. It will also be the purpose of this committee to counteract the effort that is being made to prejudice the public mind against investments in Long Island real estate.

The Long Island Real Estate Exchange has not yet selected a permanent headquarters. There is a considerable difference of opinion as to the location. Brooklyn, Long Island City and Jamaica all have their advocates in the Board of Governors, but the opinion prevails that it will be necessary to compromise by locating the exchange in Manhattan Island, preferably in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania Railroad terminal. For the present the temporary headquarters remains at the office of the Kings and Queens County Real Estate Exchange, corner Myrtle and Hamburg avs, Brooklyn, where all communications are to be addressed.

Will Bronx Rapid Transit be Delayed?

Mr. Ephraim B. Levy, of 25 West 42d st, a representative citizen of the Van Nest section of the Bronx, sent a letter to the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners on Oct. 20, 1906, in behalf of the property owners and residents of Van Nest, 24th ward, Borough of the Bronx, which includes Bronx View Park, Hunt estate and Van Nest Park, a very thickly settled locality, saying that he desired to know if the commissioners intended to advertise for bids for the White Plains road extension of the Subway from 177th st and Boston road to the city limits, at the same time that bids are advertised for on the Jerome av and the Westchester av extensions.

A reply was received from them on Oct. 22, stating that no decision had yet been reached by the board concerning the White Plains road extension, but also stating that an application had been presented by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co. for a franchise to construct a line running from Woodlawn, practically paralleling the proposed White Plains road line for most of its distance and crossing over to West Farms to join the proposed new electric system of that company at that place.

Just what effect this road, if authorized, would have upon the possible construction of the White Plains road line, it is impossible to say at this time. Mr. Levy replied stating that as the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co. has made application for a franchise from West Farms to Woodlawn, and as such application, if authorized, might affect the construction of the White Plains road extension of the rapid transit system, he emphatically protested against the authorization of any route to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co., or to any other company which might interfere with the extension of the rapid transit system as approved by the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners, the Supreme Court and the people most interested; and he requested that the commissioners advertise for bids for the White Plains road extension at the same time that they advertise for bids for the construction of the Westchester av and Jerome av extensions, disregarding whether it affected the construction of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company's proposed extension or not, as the last mentioned extension would be of little benefit to the locality, on account of the high rate of fares, and because it would mostly be used as a freight line; also because a 5-cent fare would not be given. Before any authorization shall be given to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co. for any such extension, it is hoped that a public hearing will be had so all interests affected can be heard.

The Commodore Watt Estate to be Settled Up.

The property of the late Commodore Watt, consisting of the block between 141st and 142d sts, also the unimproved portion of the blocks between 142d and 143d sts, both bounded by Lenox and 7th avs, the latter consisting of 18 full city lots, are not for sale, although it is said that if a proper offer should be made, the estate, which is about to be settled up, would sell. There are nine men who were in the employ of the late Commodore who will receive a legacy of $1,000 each, and one relative $2,500, the remainder, both real and personal, being bequeathed to his sister, Miss Grace Watt.

Many Building Loans Extended.

Mr. Silverman, of the firm of C. M. Silverman & Son, who have an office at 1448 Madison av, reports the real estate market quiet. He said that a number of builders, to whom his firm made building loans, had been unable to procure permanent mortgages, in which cases he permitted them to lapse until such time as they would be able to pay off their indebtedness, some of which had been overdue for some time more than a year.

Brooklyn's Realty Class.

A course of twenty-four lectures on real estate topics has been arranged by the Bedford Branch of the Brooklyn Young Men's Christian Association, beginning on Monday, Nov. 12. The first lecture will be delivered by Thomas P. Peters, editor of the Brooklyn Times, on "Principles of City Growth; Evolution vs. Transformation."

The course has been arranged in two parts. The first twelve lectures will have to do with practical real estate methods and the last twelve with the general aspect of the subject. Three special excursions will also be provided for members of the class—one by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company in connection with Vice-President Calderwood's lecture upon local electric transportation, another on the Long Island Railroad in connection with Secretary Huff's talk on transportation development, and the third to the Bush Terminal in South Brooklyn.

General supervision of the course will be in the hands of Frank Bailey, Vice-President of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company; James L. Brumley and Edward Lyons. A preliminary meeting was held last Tuesday evening at 420 Gates av, at which William E. Harmon, of Wood, Harmon & Co., and other real estate men spoke.

Work to Commence on Queens Court House.

Plans for the rebuilding of the County Court House in Long Island City, which was totally destroyed by fire about two years ago, have been at last approved.

It is said that funds for the rebuilding of the structure are immediately available and no time will be lost in pushing through the preliminary work and getting the structure under way. The plans submitted by Architect Peter Coco several months ago, having been modified, have been formally approved by the Art Commission.

At present Supreme Court is being held in Flushing, while the County Court holds forth in one of the dormitories of the police station in 4th st, Long Island City. The Police and Municipal Courts both occupy quarters in St. Mary's Lyceum in 5th st. With the completion of the new court house all these different courts can find room under one roof. It is also proposed to place many other county offices in the new building. This will tend to centralize the affairs of the borough.

—In South Brooklyn there is now a disposition to bargain with the homeseeker, while at the same time preparations are under way for large extensions to present operations.

The Suburban Real Estate Man

By O. L. McFARLAND*

IT is a wonderful thing, this home-yearning which nature has planted in the breast of every man and woman, and it is the more wonderful because so few out of all the millions born into the world really have homes. That is why the work of the real estate man is so largely educational; not because the people don't want their own homes, but because they have become accustomed to regarding real estate investment as altogether out of their reach.

Cities are getting so big and so crowded that sociologists are inclined to regard them as a sort of excrescence on the land. It is right to fear the masses when the masses are downtrodden and crushed in the maelstrom of industrial life so that all natural human instincts are beaten out of them. But should the day of reckoning arrive, the men with homes of their own will be sane and safe and strong enough to guide the ship of state. The streets of Paris in the days of the Terror were not made to run red by men who had homes. Unbeknown to themselves the real estate men are building a wall of safety for the Republic. Peter the Hermit with his visionary preaching of the Crusades kept all Europe in a turmoil for three centuries, but the outcome was light upon the Dark Ages and a renaissance of civilization and learning.

It is a far-reaching enterprise, this investment in suburban lots. It means, first, a home. People don't have homes in the crowded tenements around Catharine Slip, Cherry Hill, Hell's Kitchen, where the cat has to stand on a chair when the baby rolls over. Neither have they homes in the crowded flats and sunbaked streets of Harlem, where some of the apartments have to be watched for fear they will fall down on the family in the middle of the night. The common people are no longer willing to live, year in and year out, with only a bundle of landlord's receipts to show for their days of toil. Some of them came of ancestors who lived in pioneer cabins, some of them crossed the Atlantic to get homes of their own, and THEY ARE GOING TO GET THEM. The great Emerson has said, "Poverty is a condition of soul, not the result of environment or circumstances." He meant that it comes from lack of knowledge, foresight, ambition and aspiration. Some people say that poverty is a disease. The real estate man, by means of the press, literature and by word of mouth, has done more to overcome this disease of poverty than all the charitable institutions of the country. The charity organization takes the man who has given up and takes care of him. The real estate man keeps him on his feet. The editorials and real estate columns in some of the great dailies have done more for the happiness and temporal welfare of the people of New York than all the churches. Temporal welfare isn't a matter of thinking, but of doing; not of creed, but of business.

Not a city in the land but has felt the throb of life in its suburban districts. It is true, electricity has made it possible. But it is the wide-awake real estate man who is securing this new force and making it serve his own interests as well as the interests of society. He is teaching the masses the value of real estate as an investment.

The late Russell Sage said: "Young man, invest in New York suburban real estate; compel yourself to pay for it. In your old age it will take care of you." How foolish to give up good, hard-earned money for small sheets of lithographed paper, when the same amount can be invested in a portion of this planet that will extend clear down to China. The insurance companies, notwithstanding all their shortcomings, have done a great and mighty work in building up the unprecedented prosperity of our country. United States Senator John F. Dryden, when questioned as to the rates charged the poor for their industrial policies, in great earnestness, exclaimed: "Is it nothing that we take infinite pains to teach these people to save, thrift, self-respect and independence?" And he was right. If a United States Senator could congratulate himself and appeal to the country for a sanction of his benevolent work in educating the poor, much more can the suburban real estate man and his agents claim the right that they are missionaries of the highest order in making home sites available and accessible to even the humblest laborers and in devising ways and means by which he can purchase, save and pay for the same.

Suppose he is charged a good price for all this labor and thought. It is worth it. One of the most inestimable boons to humanity was the maligned endowment policy. Of course, it cost money. Recognizing the innate spendthriftiness of man, the insurance companies devised a way to help him overcome this disposition. Its beneficent results have been incalculable. If the insurance companies were good—and their highest priced policy, the endowment, was good—100% better is a pair of suburban lots. I venture to say that the same amount of money invested in two lots anywhere within 20 miles of New York City will, within 20 years, make from one to three hundred per cent. better return than the best endowment policy of the best insurance company in our land.

What if some developments are too far from transportation facilities? Suppose the Rising Sun or Early Dawn Land Development Company is selling lots two miles off-shore from Montauk Point, on the ground that their property will be the American terminus of the Rothschild-Rockefeller Trans-Atlantic tunnel. Wait! One of the greatest land booms the world ever saw was worked up in Egypt by a man named Moses. By his glowing description of the land of Canaan, he started at one time for the Promised Land with over 2,000,000 souls. It was forty years before they got their lots selected—and those who started never saw them—but their children did, and they found it a goodly land, flowing with milk and honey.

For these reasons and others, the modern, up-to-date suburban real estate business should be looked upon as a profession. As you all know, we are living in a period of great changes—changes in politics, society, business and religion. People do not think or act as they once did. The professions are changing. The successful pastor is now the manager of a religious institution with infinite ramifications of machinery. The lawyer to be successful must either go into real estate, or be president of a corporation, or run the risk of going to jail; and the poor doctor is so pushed by Mrs. Eddy that his patients will not believe there is any matter on which to apply his healing salve. While the three great professions have gone down in public estimation, other callings have been elevated to that of a profession. Among the vocations thus elevated is that of real estate. What is a profession? It is a business that requires learning for its proper conduct. I ask you, does not the business of real estate properly conducted in a nineteenth century, up-to-date manner require learning, experience, knowledge?

According to the science of political economy, all values are based on land and its production. The real estate man is dealing with the very foundation of economics. Without the real estate man the three learned professions are handicapped in their work. To make a man goodly, you must first make him sane and right-minded in his daily life; and he cannot be unless he has a proper home. To make men healthy, you must give them fresh air and water to drink; the doctor can cope with the diseases natural to man, but not with the terrible epidemics caused by an unnatural way of living.

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporations created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you cannot call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone 3157 Cortlandt.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

The Harlem Property Owners' Association held a meeting Friday evening, November 9, 1906, at 147 East 125th st.

A quarterly dividend of 3 per cent. has been declared by the board of directors of the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Co., payable Nov. 15.

A. Halprin has severed his connection with the firm of Halprin, Diamondston & Levin. He will continue in the real estate business at 18 West 114th st.

On good authority it is stated that an offer of $310,000 was refused recently for a frontage of 50 ft. on the south side of 34th st, between 7th av and Broadway.

Dennis & Preston, 258 Broadway, Manhattan, who, it will be remembered, were the brokers in the sale of the southeast corner of 5th av and 42d st, expect to close some important sales shortly.

Mr. W. B. Harding, secretary-treasurer of the Cruikshank Company, 141 Broadway, Manhattan, says that his company has been unusually busy since early last spring. The management of estates is their specialty.

The many friends of Robert T. McGusty, of the firm of Charles H. Easton & Co., real estate brokers, 116 West 42d st, will regret to learn that he has been taken ill with typhoid fever. He is in St. Luke's Hospital and is reported as getting on comfortably.

W. W. and E. E. Slocum have resigned as selling agents of the Hudson River Realty Company, owners of "Palisade." They have been connected with the company since this well known property was thrown open and have done much to add tone and quality to the development.

Mr. Edward C. H. Vogler, of 411 Amsterdam av, says he could fill forty or fifty houses having four, five or six-room apartments at from thirty-five to eighty dollars per month, in a week, if he had them. He had already turned away fourteen applicants before ten o'clock on the morning of this conversation with a Record and Guide representative.

The Jere Johnson, Jr., Co., 187 Broadway, Manhattan, has purchased the well-known De Kay estate situated on the westerly side of Bard av, Livingston, Staten Island. The property will be cut up into about two hundred 25x100 lots and will be put in the market for sale. The De Kay estate is immediately opposite the Hoyt property, which latter was sold at auction by the Johnson Co. early this fall.

It may be interesting to know that No. 449 Broadway, running through to 26 Mercer st, 5-sty loft building, 25x200, was sold in partition during the year 1866 for $150,000, being a sum which exceeds the price recently paid for it at auction by $16,000. Brokers familiar with the early sales of Broadway property do not regard this information as by any means evidence of general depreciation in land values since the early date mentioned, but argue that the building had been allowed to remain in a neglected state for so long a period as to render it less attractive as an investment.

More Activity on Seventh Avenue.

That 7th av near the Pennsylvania terminal is beginning to attract the attention of speculators there can be no further doubt, for ever since the unfolding of the plans of this gigantic undertaking it has been known that certain interests were quietly at work in an attempt to secure control of the major part of available plots along this thoroughfare.

At the present time interest is principally focused on the easterly side of the avenue between 33d and 34th sts, which block recently furnished another illustration of the marked influence the great passenger station is exerting on property values in the neighborhood. The deal referred to was the purchase by the Atlantic Realty Company and the Strange & Slawson Company of 433 to 437 7th av, 49.4x100, and 162 West 34th st, 29x24, the properties forming an "L" surrounding the southeast corner of 7th av and 34th st. The three parcels contain an approximate total of 5,629 sq. ft., for which it is believed the buyers paid $338,000, or about $60 per square foot. This figure compares well with the prices asked for other property nearby, which range from $44 to $66 per square foot. The highest figure paid so far for realty at this end of the block is about $111 per square foot for a plot of 3,900 sq. ft., or about $435,000; the property mentioned being the northeast corner of 7th av and 33d st, which changed hands recently.

There are those who believe that the prices now being secured for real estate in this section are too high; and out of proportion; many operators emphatically contending that it is only a question of time when the new owners will realize their error, and will either be forced to dispose of their holdings at a loss, or carry them for an indefinite period. On the other hand, appraisers and speculators who have given special attention to the study of the various phases of the situation, maintain that land values in the terminal district will soon equal, and in many instances exceed, the prices which are now being obtained for property in the 5th av section between 34th and 42d sts.

On one point, though, both sides alike agree, and that is the certainty of the effect the opening of the Pennsylvania station will produce on real estate values along the highway through which the crowd will most likely pass. Therefore, the vital question for the speculator to decide is the location of this chief avenue of ingress. If the great mass of people upon leaving the trains follow a northward direction, then 7th av and 34th st will be greatly benefited by the vast influx. Should the majority seek an outlet to 6th av and Broadway through 32d and 33d sts, then it is reasonable to assume that the effect on the former will be correspondingly less.

There are rumors that another sale of importance will soon be closed, and as the property affected is said to be on the easterly side of 7th av, and in close proximity to the large parcel sold a few days ago, it is evident that some buyers are either acting upon receipt of inside information relative to further contemplated improvements, or have sufficiently satisfied themselves in respect to the direction the crowd is likely to take upon leaving the Pennsylvania depot.

Unsatisfied Demand for Private Houses on West Side.

It was learned at the office of F. Zittel, 266 Columbus av, that there continues to be an unsatisfied demand for private houses west of Central Park, both on the part of investors as well as those who wish to lease, together with numerous flat-house seekers who are looking for apartments at rentals of from $1,500 to $2,500 a year; there being none to be had, as all such are fully rented. East of the park, however, we find conditions almost the reverse. During a talk with Mr. Conger, of the firm of Duff & Conger, who has an office at the southeast corner of Madison av and 86th st, he said that there was little activity in any branch of the real estate market at the present time.

Numerous owners in this neighborhood are holding their properties as an investment, while those who have placed theirs upon the market are asking such exorbitant prices that no one is induced to buy. As a matter of fact, a large number of parcels have been sold many times within a short period, each seller realizing some profit, leaving the present landlord with a high-priced piece of property on his hands, and in the majority of cases with rents as high as possible. Dwelling houses in this vicinity are marketable anywhere from $25,000 to $45,000. There are a number for sale and to let.

Mr. Max Marx, of 128 Broadway, when asked why there was such a distinction in conditions east and west of the park, said that the private dwellings on the westerly side of the park were mostly new and modern in construction, also cheap at the prices asked, while on the easterly side of the park, excepting the proximity of 5th av, the buildings are old and high-priced; besides, the West Side has far better transportation facilities, which are patronized by those in higher walks of life, contrary conditions prevailing on the East Side lines.

It was learned through a prominent downtown real estate operator that a certain wealthy resident of the 5th av section preferred traveling via the Subway to and from his place of business and walking across the park each way, to East Side travel. Besides, he claims to make better time by doing so.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in Section 2, Block 482, Lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

A handsome up-to-date line of appliances may be seen at our officesCONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY OF NEW YORK*MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

YOUR SYSTEM OF RECORDS?

BETTER USE OURS

It costs a dollar a mile to go to Chicago in a Special Train, but only a few cents a mile on the Empire State Express. The same is true of the RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY. Each subscriber receives for Twenty Dollars a year a service that would cost him thousands of dollars.

A system of records is as necessary to a real estate broker as the "ticker" to a stock broker. Conceivably a man might get along without either, but he would suffer immensely both in person and estate.

By means of the RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY, which occupies only a few square inches on a shelf or a desk, the real estate man is put in possession of a system of records in which he could find any particular transaction, be it conveyance, mortgage, auction sale or lease, as easily as he can find the name of one of his clients in the telephone book. It is permanent in form, ever ready and available. It does not go "out" like the office boy, or make mistakes like the stenographer.

The annual number of the RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY contains ALL the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations.

These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments.

ONE PER CENT. GAINED—A three or four-story building may be built which will net you about seven per cent. on your investment. If you put in the Luxfer System of Sidewalk Lights you can make the basement as well lit with daylight as are the upper floors, and can in consequence get one per cent. more, perhaps, out of the investment. Anyway it will pay you to send for our man who will explain it to you. 'Phone 3276 Gramercy.

COMMISSION houses in Wall Street this week were completely taken by surprise by the strength of the market. They had adjusted themselves unanimously to the belief that Wall Street was in for a protracted decline extending to the close of the year. The customers of such houses largely acted upon this belief and liquidated their long stocks, reducing the bull position to the smallest proportion of the year. Big interests are never slow to act when such a commission house state of mind presents itself and quietly took up the stocks that were being thrown overboard. If the advance should continue with the large short interest, we may see even higher prices before Christmas. In this column we have persistently and frequently pointed out the exceptional position of St. Paul stock. It has again sprung into leadership, having between Monday and Wednesday of this week recorded an advance of nine points, and it is always possible because of its light capitalization that it may sell very much higher than even Northern Pacific. To put it tersely, the capitalization of St. Paul is only about one-third of that per mile of Northern Pacific, yet Northern Pacific stock sells higher than St. Paul, though the latter is quoted with the rights and dividends added. Since St. Paul was selling at 150, rights at say 10 per cent. and dividends of 3½ per cent. have come off the price, and the stock sells at a comparatively low figure. Another feature of the market this week which is somewhat puzzling has been its strength in the face of high money rates. As a financial writer and authority says, "The men who are making the market and on whom the burden rests most heavily, have made provision for carrying their stocks that insure them a 6 per cent. money rate at the very highest. They have considerable time money, and in addition have organized pools into which they have admitted high banking officials as members." What follows is, of course, obvious money becomes scarce. The banks then act in the interest of stockholders and not of the officials, and call loans in the general market to lend to the pools at 6 per cent. Thus the more the pools absorb the less money there is for the broker, and trader to use at 20 per cent., which explains the apparent illogical action of the stock market that it should rise with high call money.

THE residents of Washington Heights certainly have had a grievance against the Interborough Company for its failure to establish an express service between Ninety-sixth and One Hundred and Forty-fifth Streets. Here is a stretch of over two miles in which all trains run as locals, yet which is equipped for expresses, and if a passenger bound to the lower part of Manhattan could board an express at One Hundred and Forty-fifth street he would save at least four minutes on his journey. Such a saving is an extremely important matter for all residents of Washington Heights living north of One Hundred and Forty-fifth street. That section of the city is a new one, and is rapidly increasing in the number of its inhabitants. Every improvement in transit accommodation which it can obtain places it in a better position to attract residents in competition with other new districts of New York. The service which it receives should be the best that can be afforded, and should be arranged for the purpose of building up that section of the city. Such a service ought to do more than merely meet existing needs. It should anticipate future needs, and in this way accelerate the process of building and the access of population. Moreover, the Interborough Company has as much interest in accelerating the improvement of Washington Heights as have the property owners. People who live as far away from the heart of the city as is the upper part of Washington Heights necessarily use the rapid transit system more frequently than do people who are more centrally situated, and the closer habitation of that part of the city will mean a profitable traffic over a part of the Subway system, which can scarcely pay at present. That company has consequently as usual pursued a very short-sighted policy in failing to use the third track for the purpose of running express trains, and the Rapid Transit Commission under the leadership of the Mayor was fully justified in "ordering" the early installation of an express service. It is curious that a company to whose interest it is to keep public opinion favorable should persist in provoking public resentment on every possible occasion. In the present instance its officials have waited until an improvement in the service was forced upon them, instead of yielding immediately to a just demand; and the consequence is that they will obtain no credit for an improvement which they opposed until the end.

WE PRINT in another column a number of photographs exhibiting the condition of the city streets within a restricted area. These pictures, however, as will be seen in subsequent issues of The Record and Guide are really typical, and exhibit the utterly disgraceful condition to which our thoroughfares have been brought by municipal mismanagement and the callous disregard of public convenience on the part of corporations permitted by the grace of the city to use the streets for the purpose of money-making. It may be particularly pointed out that these pictures are not taken in remote and unfrequented streets, but on the contrary, were taken in the main, central thoroughfares of Manhattan. Literally hundreds of photographs might be printed without by any means covering the actual conditions. Our readers must therefore regard what we present this week as merely a few examples of an enormous collection. It is perhaps hopeless to speak of what conditions like those we illustrate mean to the City Beautiful. In spite of art societies and the efforts of enthusiasts good and bad, New York City seems at this moment to be following a haphazard career without any determinate guidance to secure a fine appearance. New Yorkers will probably be more sensitive when we suggest how great is the inconvenience occasioned by the up-torn, lumbered and obstructed condition of our streets, and the readers of The Record and Guide are no doubt already experiencing in a great many cases how great is the loss entailed upon property owners. We shall print from week to week a series of these pictures and invite selections for the camera.

THE recommendation of the State Railroad Commission that the car mileage of the surface railways in Manhattan be increased 10 per cent. this winter has been received in the way such recommendations are usually received. Of course the operating department of the railroad will do its best to carry out the recommendation; but its officials have the utmost doubt whether their efforts will prove to be successful. More cars would not mean better service, because the additional cars would clog the operation of the system. It must be frankly admitted, of course, that there may be some truth in this contention, and that nobody but an expert who is perfectly acquainted with the actual conditions can tell how much truth the contention holds. The congestion of the street traffic in Manhattan undoubtedly makes the problem of operating the system of the New York City Railway Co. one of enormous difficulty. Unfortunately, however, the record of the railway company is such that no confidence can be placed in its protestations. The known facts are, that the system does not earn at the present time the dividend guaranteed on its stock, that since the merger strenuous efforts have been made to reduce expenses, that in consequence of these efforts the car mileage has been actually reduced in spite of the increase in traffic, and that, finally, enough cars are not run during other than rush hours to prevent over-crowding. It is also known that the officials of the company protested vigorously against granting transfers at 23d street and Sixth avenue and Broadway, because, as they claimed, it would cause an impassable congestion at these points, and that, when such transfers were forced upon the company, none of their dreadful anti-ceptions were realized. It is facts and memories such as these which makes the public distrust the candor of the officials of the street railway companies. They also go far towards justifying the suspicion that the chief difficulty connected with the operation of the system is the earning of the guaranteed dividend on an enormously inflated capitalization. But what can be done? The State Railway Commission has no power and probably no disposition to compel obedience to its recommendations, and the New York City Railway Company will continue to subordinate the convenience of its passengers to the earning of the necessary dividend.

IT was to be expected that the property owners on Fifth avenue would protest most vigorously against the revocation of the permits which have permitted them to occupy city property beyond the building line; but the corporation counsel should not and will not be diverted by such protests. The action of the city authorities in seeking to do away with these encroachments is dictated and is justified by the general public interest. It is absolutely essential that some means should be found of widening the roadway of Fifth avenue. That avenue is the only important longitudinal thoroughfare without trolley cars, and consequently peculiarly adapted to carriage traffic; and the existing roadway is entirely too narrow for the stream of vehicles which are compelled to use it. The revocation of the "stoop" permits will enable the authorities to increase the roadway without excessively diminishing the sidewalks, and, inasmuch as the retail trade of Fifth avenue depends so largely upon customers who use carriages, the widening of the carriage way will in the end increase the value of Fifth avenue property in the business district. The case is perfectly clear, the rights of the city are unquestionable, and the sooner the property owners submit the better for them and for the city. Of course they must be given plenty of time to make the necessary changes in their entrances to their houses; but as soon as the litigation is over a definite date must be set, beyond which encroachments beyond the building line must cease. The only really difficult cases are those in which the ornamental parts of really beautiful buildings, such as that of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., project slightly beyond the line; but we believe that special arrangements can be made to meet such cases. There is a big difference between the projection of the ornamental members of handsome buildings a few feet beyond the line and the occupation of three or four times as much space by "stoops." Handsome ornament on a building is desirable for public reasons, and the space occupied by it is comparatively small. In order to meet such cases an ordinance should be passed by the Board of Aldermen permitting reasonable encroachments of this class. Such moderate encroachments would not prevent the city from widening the roadway, and they would contribute to the effectiveness of the architecture on Fifth avenue. That avenue is evidently destined to be one of the most beautiful and interesting business streets in the world, and it is good public policy for the city to encourage the property owners to erect buildings like that of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., Tiffany & Co. and Altman & Co.

MR. LAWSON PURDY'S appointment as head of the Tax Department is one of the best which Mayor McClellan has yet made. Taxation is a recondite and difficult subject. The number of people who possess any accurate and scientific knowledge or any definite and luminous ideas respecting it is very small; but it so happens that Mr. Purdy is one of them. He has been the Secretary of the New York Tax Reform Association for years, and has devoted his time and his high abilities to the service of that cause. He is thoroughly acquainted with every branch of the subject, and whatever can be done for the cause of tax reform under the existing laws he will do. Of course his powers under the law are restricted, and his chief effort will doubtless be to improve the methods whereby the assessments of real estate for taxable purposes are now reached. His influence will, on the whole, be used probably to raise the level of assessments, for he believes in executing the provisions of the law with some rigor. But, in addition, he will doubtless be able to use his position for the purpose of disseminating sound ideas and useful information on the subject of taxation. As President of the Tax Department he will be listened to with more attention than he was when he was Secretary of the Tax Reform Association. Mr. Purdy has the advantage of being both an effective public speaker and a vigorous and clear-headed writer. His appointment, together with the election of a man like Mr. Hughes for Governor, may well mean that the tax laws of this city will not only be enforced, but that they will be modified and improved in the public interest.

Difficulties of Street Making.

WITH the opening of the new subways, river tunnels and other lines of traffic, outlying sections are becoming more and more accessible, and thereby available for building purposes. In order to prepare the acreage, or undeveloped sections for building purposes, it is necessary to make streets and finish them. The regular course followed, as provided for in the Charter, is to make application to the city authorities. This is a long and tedious proceeding. First the matter comes up before the Local Board, and if its report is favorable, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, after having received a report from its Engineer that it is proper, takes it under advisement. After having passed this Board, it is again returned to the Engineer to lay out the area of assessment. Application is then made to a judge of the Supreme Court, who appoints three citizens as commissioners to receive testimony and place a value on the land taken and damage done to abutting property. The taking of this testimony is long drawn out and many months are spent in the necessary advertising, until title vests in the City. It then becomes necessary to have the street physically opened, and if a building happens to be in the bed of the street, six months more must elapse—after which time the application is considered by the Local Board and then by the Engineer, and then by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The contract is let by competitive bidding, and this has to be advertised. Not until the work is finished will the laying of a sewer be favorably acted on, and that again has to pass through the same routine of Local Board, Chief Engineer and Board of Estimate and Apportionment. If the necessary funds are available, in turn this sewer contract is advertised for bids and a contract is let.

Usually the contractor is allowed twice or three times as long as is necessary to build the sewer. And when this work is completed, the same forms must be complied with for paving. It can readily be seen that these proceedings may take from two to five years, or longer. Meanwhile, interest charges are running up the cost of the land. If, however, the ownership of a large tract is in one holding, or all the owners are willing to combine and do the work at their own cost, it is possible to do all but the vesting of title in the City in a few months. And this has been the course adopted by all the large development companies, and so we see the Fort Washington Syndicate regulating, grading, sewerage, curbing and flagging the streets from 177th to 181st streets from Broadway to Haven avenue; the Buena Vista Syndicate the streets from 177th to 181st streets from Buena Vista avenue to Riverside Drive; the Geo. F. Johnson's Sons Company preparing the streets on which nearly 300 lots front; the Hunts Point Realty Company opening up 405 lots, etc., etc., the property of the two last-named companies being in the Borough of the Bronx. These improvements are made at the expense of the owner, including all engineering fees and cost of City inspectors, without one cent being assessed on adjoining owners. When completed, these streets become public highways of use and a necessity to the general public, beside greatly increasing the assessable value of the real estate.

One great difficulty confronts those willing to do this work quickly and at their own expense, and that is, if an adjoining owner is not willing to join in, or even permit the work being done by others, then the situation becomes as follows: The City having laid out a street on its official map, the land at some time will be used for this purpose, the grades are established and it is merely a matter of time. The owner, therefore, cannot prevent the street being eventually made. Yet he, as a small owner, can hold up a vast public improvement, which the taxpayers will gain without assessment or drain on the City Treasury.

When a railroad wished to build, it had the right to condemn, but it also found that individuals could hold up their work. The public listened to their arguments and the Legislature passed a bill to the effect that, immediately upon giving notice of its intention to condemn a property, the railroad could begin the physical work and leave it to some future date to pay for the land condemned, after the law had taken its slow but regular course. Why, then, should not those who wish to benefit the community by creating a finished public thoroughfare, on lines laid out, and thereby condemned by the City, be allowed to go in and do the physical work, after having given ample notice? The assessment will be levied on their property in due time for any buildings or improvements and for the value of the land.

The owner will be paid with interest just the same as though he had held up the work for years, and the city and the neighborhood will be benefited without loss to any one but to those doing the work.

This is a matter of grave importance to all development companies and large property owners, and I strongly advocate the preparing and passing of a bill along the same lines as that affecting the railroads, with, of course, the necessary changes applicable to streets and the rights of owners. This bill, of course, should apply only where the street is on the official map and where the grades of the street to be opened, as well as those intersecting it, have been established by the City authorities. This plea is the result of a number of instances where just such improvements were held up or interfered with, entailing loss to many and benefit to none.

R. E. SIMON.

Street Opening by Private Proceedings.

MANY tracts of land are now undergoing development in outlying districts of the city, districts where the streets laid out upon the city map have not yet been opened. Under the law and practice governing such matters, an owner, within the limits of his own property, can readily open and construct the proposed streets and secure their acceptance by the city. He can cede title to the land within the street lines, procure from the city permits to construct the streets and the appointment of supervisors of construction, and do the grading and other work required, and upon the completion of the streets the city may be expected to accept them.

An owner, however, to carry out his plans, often wishes to build streets in accordance with the city map not only through his own land but through the land of his neighbors. He may wish, for instance, to construct a street the north line of which coincides with the south boundary of his premises, or he may desire to extend a side street to an avenue, his own land stopping a few feet short of the avenue. Many operators have found themselves seriously hampered by conditions of this sort. The owner of the wished-for section of street will not cede it to the city or sell it, and the public officials who have authority to open streets, for one reason or another, delay action or cannot be made to act at all.

It has been suggested that by way of relief some private right of condemnation under such circumstances should be given by legislation—that an owner should have some right to compel his neighbor, in a proceeding instituted by himself, to submit to street opening, in accordance with the city map. This idea is one which will hardly bear examination. It would be difficult to enlist public feeling in favor of such legislation. The city map is not final. Street lines may be changed, and the probability of change is by no means remote. Many unopened streets were mapped long ago when the needs and wishes of the future could not be foreseen, and, as a matter of fact, there have been from time to time extensive alterations in the city map—in the Bronx region, for instance, not long after the adoption of a Land Map for the Register's Office showing the old street lines. Except in the opinion of the land owner desiring condemnation there may be no present need for it. The proceeding, it is true, need not involve any expense to the city, but neither does a public proceeding to open a street. Costs and charges are assessed on the land deemed benefited.

Rights of expropriation are not favorably regarded. Land of A or land and buildings of A may stand in the way of B's exploitation of his property by opening public streets, but it seems remarkably certain that public opinion would award to A possession and ownership of his land subject only to right of acquisition by a public proceeding manifesting a public demand.

Moreover, the legislation contemplated would probably be unconstitutional. The constitution permits the taking of private property for public use, but by taking is meant acquisition of ownership or of a right of way or some other easement by the person demanding condemnation. A railroad, for instance, does not institute condemnation proceedings to vest title to land or to a right of way in some one else, but in itself. But the proceeding under consideration, if undertaken to deprive another of ownership, would be a proceeding to vest title in the city, and if instituted to establish a right of way through another's land, a proceeding to give the city or the public a right of way, not to get the petitioner a right of way appurtenant to his land. The constitution permits A under certain conditions to acquire the land of B or a right of way through it; but it seems reasonably certain that a proceeding by A to give C the land of B or a right of way through it, without regard to the will of either B or C, would be held unconstitutional.

Public streets through the lands of unwilling owners must be opened by the city. That is doctrine, which, it is believed, owners of real estate must accept.

ALBERT S. THAYER.

The Equitable and Real Estate.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, 120 Broadway.

New York, November 10, 1906.

To the Editor of The Record and Guide:

The position of this Society in regard to real estate mortgage loans ought to be well understood. It is this: We consider good real estate mortgage loans as equal to any investments made by the Society, and it will be our policy to continue making loans of this character.

From August 1, 1905, to November 1, 1906, we made real estate mortgage loans amounting to $15,729,500, of which $13,301,500 was on New York City property. We have commitments under title examination now, including building loans, amounting to $5,925,500, of which $1,080,000 is outside of New York. Such a large proportion of the real estate mortgages held by this Society is upon New York City property, that the question has already arisen as to whether we should not scatter our loans and place more of them in other parts of the country. Many of our Directors think we should loan less money hereafter in New York, and more in other cities throughout the country.

Very truly yours,

PAUL MORTON, President.

An Experience With the Equitable.

Editor Record and Guide:

Referring to your article on the Insurance Companies and Mortgages, I wish to give you an experience I had with the Equitable Life Assurance Society last year.

I applied for a building loan of $750,000 on a high-class building and plot, the estimated cost of the building (as per bids), plus the actual cost of ground, being $1,125,000. The projectors of the enterprise were strong men, rank outsiders, not speculators or regulation builders, and we were going to put in the difference in cash, namely, $375,000. I was informed that a loan of $600,000 might be made. After much difficulty I got my people to agree to put up another $100,000 and accept $650,000, and I secured their written authorization to apply for that sum. When I sent in the application for $650,000, I was told that if I WOULD APPLY FOR $550,000 the loan MIGHT be entertained. Of course, my parties went elsewhere for their money.

Now, this was a most unreasonable way of doing business, as every real estate man can see with half an eye. Here was a bonafide project to cost $1,125,000, the value of the property, plus a regulation conservative profit, being $1,250,000, and the Equitable said they MIGHT loan $550,000, or 44 per cent. of the value at which it would have been appraised. I offered to show the bids of the competing firms and proof of the actual cost of the ground, so that there could be no question of the bonafide cost. But the officer of the Equitable did not want to see them. He had his orders, evidently, from high sources, that he was to make mortgage loans temporarily impossible, and so said he MIGHT loan $100,000 less than my people were willing to take. Note that he did not say WOULD loan, for he feared my parties would accept. I was entitled to a building loan of 60 per cent. of the cost, namely, $675,000, and two-thirds of the estimated appraised value (as of completion), namely, $750,000, on a first mortgage loan.

Real estate men know full well that the big insurance companies have turned down hundreds of good loans because they were putting their money into Wall st, and they resent it accordingly.

AN OLD READER.

What the Broker Said to the Money Man.

Editor Record and Guide:

Here is an experience I had with one of the three big insurance companies named in your article last Saturday:

I applied in September, 1906, for a first mortgage loan of $33,000 on a new 6-sty tenement, which had sold for $55,000, and for which $56,000 had been offered and refused. I was offered by the company $27,500. I was told the property was only worth $45,000, but I offered to show the contract of sale, drawn up by one of the most reputable members of the Bar Association, showing that the property had actually sold for $55,000 and giving all data as to cash to be paid, second mortgage to remain behind the first, etc. THEY DID NOT WANT TO SEE THE CONTRACT. On their own valuation of $45,000, I was entitled, according to their rule of 66 2-3 per cent. loaning value (two-thirds), to a loan of $30,000, but on the actual bonafide value (the property rents for over $6,300 per annum, and there was only one vacancy at the time, though but just completed) of $55,000 I was entitled to a loan of $36,500.

After every effort to get an acceptance at $32,500, I said this to the officer with whom I was dealing:

"What's the use of buying loans here? You are using your money in Wall st just the same as you did before the Insurance Investigation."

AN INDIGNANT BROKER.

Insurance Companies and Real Estate Mortgages

Brokers Still Contend that the Money Lenders Should be More Liberal in their Dealings with New York Property Interests.

In further consideration of the attitude of life insurance companies toward real estate interests, the views and experiences of a number of brokers are quoted this week, in contrast it may be to statements made in these columns last week by the heads of those companies. On the whole, real estate interests, as represented by these gentlemen, are disposed to be reasonable in their judgment of the situation.

EXPENSE OF OBTAINING A LOAN A SERIOUS MATTER. —FRANK L. FISHER CO.

Mr. C. W. Mix of the Frank L. Fisher Co., of 440 Columbus av., when interrogated concerning his views on the mortgage market, said:

"In our twenty years' experience of active work in New York City real estate, it has always been very clear to us, that no better security could be obtained for investment in funds, than good first mortgages in New York City real estate.

"Certainly, the part life insurance companies have taken in the matter of loans has been very important, not only to themselves, but to real estate in general. I hardly think it becomes us to tell the insurance companies how to run their business, but we think they could safely follow the examples of savings banks, as to the great profit and safety in good first mortgages in New York City real estate. If some law, similar to the savings bank law, was enacted regarding the investment of their moneys, it would in our opinion be not only a good thing for real estate, but would strengthen the security and standing of all life insurance companies.

"We note recently one of the prominent insurance companies state that during the past six months investments in bonds have been very attractive; we hardly think this a true situation, as this class of investment is taken, because the controlling interest in the different companies is the same controlling interest in the securities invested in, and quite naturally they choose to use their funds in this channel, rather than invest them in first mortgages; but one must not be governed by such a short period as six months, even though investments in bonds have been attractive, as during the six months following they may deteriorate in value, while good mortgages keep the same safe security at all times, and certainly income mortgages outclass all other securities. Of course, one cannot condemn insurance companies, because they do not take every loan that comes before them, as there are unsafe loans, and perhaps the character of the loan is not good; but if they would take in all applications and act on them, and give encouragement to good borrowers, it would stimulate a good healthy condition in the better class of real estate in New York City. When the insurance companies say they will loan on first mortgages on New York City property, 4 to 5% interest, at least 60% of their entire resources are receiving applications for such loans direct, and act on them, independent of any proposition or propositions, disregarding any outside influence whatever, and act on each application directly on its merits and according to value, and make no excessive charges, such as they have been in the habit of making, then real estate interests in New York will show a very great improvement.

"The expense attached to obtaining a loan under the present method is a very serious matter, and will continue to be so, until some plan is devised to relieve it. When an insurance company buys $100,000 worth of bonds they pay for the privilege of investing their money, $125; why should they not be willing to pay some proportion of the expenses for the same privilege to invest in first mortgages?

"A good deal can be said along these lines, as regards savings banks—all the trouble is not with the life insurance companies, making the cost of securing a loan attractive and reasonable—and you WILL get good loans; the important factor in making loans depends on whether builders are not going ahead too fast, and the supply greatly exceeding the demand, and the company who is asked to make a loan should have a right to express their opinion on this particular point. Perhaps the owner or builder is asking too much, according to the value. There is always apt to be considerable difference between the borrower and lender on this question, but they should both try to be fair with each other.

"As to the stock and bond investments by life insurance companies, little need be said, except that they see each day exactly what their investments are worth, and their changes from day to day; sometimes, however, the changes are very serious. Mortgage investments do not attempt to compete with such class of investments, but assures one of a permanent and safe income. The losses from real estate mortgages show the smallest percentage of any form of investment in the country today.

"Take some of the important insurance companies' own statements; they admit their mortgage investments have brought them up to their great importance in the financial world, and built up their great gigantic assets; four of our principal companies have only invested $260,000,000 out of $1,325,000,000 in what everybody concedes to be the "king of all security, first mortgages." So far as real estate is concerned, this is not right. As regards the occasional statements from these powerful institutions of a tight money market, it always has and always will occur, but it is only at its most, temporary, and cannot be regarded as a legitimate excuse for the refusal to loan on good first mortgages on New York City property."

VIEWS OF DAVID L. CLARKSON.

David L. Clarkson, of Ogden & Clarkson, 69 Liberty st, said:

"That there has been an insufficiency of money to loan on bond and mortgage this autumn, and that it has consequently diminished the activity of the real estate market is undeniable. The great demand for money in the stock market and in general mercantile business, and the fact that higher rates have been paid than owners of real property can give, is largely the cause of the scarcity. Money will always go to whoever will pay the most for it, providing the security is good. Those who are in charge of large financial institutions, insurance companies, etc., should, however, consider that real estate loans are made for longer terms and that the average interest will therefore be higher for a number of years, than if the loans were made in collateral in Wall st. The present is a very favorable moment to put out money for several years at good rates of interest on bond and mortgage. After the beginning of the year it is probable that much larger amounts will be offered to loan on real estate and rates fall from their present high level."

PERMANENT MORTGAGE MONEY EASIER, SAYS MR. DAVIES.

Mr. J. Clarence Davies, of 149th st and 3d av, Bronx, said, regarding the money market, that while there continues to be a stringency, permanent mortgage money is getting easier. He said he was able to place nearly all "absolutely good" improved property loans on a 60% valuation basis, as appraised by the lenders' appraisers at the rate of 5% and 5½% interest, especially on small amounts.

As to the insurance companies, Mr. Davies called attention to a poll taken at a meeting of real estate brokers where it was ascertained that twenty-one out of twenty-three held policies in either the Equitable, Mutual or New York Life Insurance companies. Besides, the average policy-holder owns his house or some sort of property, and was not benefited by loans on stocks and bonds in Wall st.

Mr. Davies added that the Bronx had held up well. He had negotiated three large sales within a few weeks. Renting was fair, although the demand for business properties far exceeds the supply.

MAJOR GULICK HAS SEEN NO TROUBLE.

Major Ernestus Gulick, of the Garden City Estates and other interests, remarked:

"My experience with the present money market has been that all the title companies and other loaners of money on bond and mortgage were for a time over-conservative on account of various uncertainties, such as the likelihood of the election of Hearst, and the so-called over-investment in certain classes of real estate. Conservatism, however, extended mostly to buildings such as tenement and apartment houses which were notably over-produced. I have seen no trouble whatsoever in financing any solid investment.

"This conservatism has also been due to the fact that large numbers of would-be speculators with small backing have undertaken the purchase of large tracts of land on Long Island without counting on the payment of mortgages when they became due. This has loaded the market with applications for loans which are not, and never have been, negotiable. I believe this will all be cured so far as Long Island is concerned within the next two years, as even at the highest prices the figures are very much lower than similar property adjacent to any large city in the world is being sold for, with equal advantages."

THE MARKET WILL ADJUST ITSELF NATURALLY.

Mr. Emanuel Tanenbaum, of the firm of E. Tanenbaum & Co., said:

"The present stringency in the mortgage money market has apparently been created mainly by the high rate of call money, due largely to the unprecedented demand from California in the immense operations consequent on the recovery from earthquake conditions, and the $50,000,000 in cash which has been withdrawn from the New York banks by the trust companies to meet the recent legislation in respect to their reserve.

"It is somewhat hard to obtain money from the savings banks; but we have little difficulty with life insurance companies or with estates. We have effected numerous good loans during the past year, and find that intelligent investors look on mortgages as furnishing the best possible class of securities. The outlook, as we see it, is excellent for a speedy return to normal conditions.

"Our experience indicates that the insurance companies are coming more and more to realize the value of mortgages on real estate, and that the future will see a much larger proportion of their funds so invested than in the past. The market will adjust itself in the natural course of events; but there seems to be no special remedy for a temporary tightness, other than a careful and conservative management of the real estate business, which will inspire a fuller confidence in this class of investments."

NEW LAWS NEEDED.

Mr. Sheldon B. Shaw, Secretary-Treasurer of Richard V. Harnett & Co., remarked:

"It seems to be difficult to place medium-size loans with the insurance companies unless the borrower is willing to pay a larger rate of interest than formerly, and it is my belief that this is due to the shortage of ready cash, which the large insurance companies usually have on hand. Much of the money which could be loaned by them on bond and mortgage is evidently seeking a more profitable channel of investment, and as call money is worth today about 20%, it is natural to reason that a large portion of their funds is being loaned upon other securities."

Continuing, Mr. Shaw said: "I believe that radical changes will be made in the laws governing the investment of insurance funds, and the sooner their powers are limited in this direction the better it will be for the real estate broker and operator."

A CASE IN POINT.

Mr. Thos. S. Walker, of Hall J. How & Co., 171 Broadway, Manhattan, in commenting on the mortgage loan situation, said:

"I find that builders and others are still experiencing great difficulty in securing loans, and while there is no doubt that the tight money market is largely responsible for this state of affairs, I believe that the situation has been made still worse by the attitude of the insurance and other lending companies, in adhering to an ultra conservative policy with respect to valuations. I can cite an instance in which a splendid corner on Washington Heights was actually sold for $105,000, and the buyer, being unable to secure a larger first mortgage than $58,000, was compelled to give back a second to complete the transaction. This is hurting the market extremely, and I attribute the falling off in lot sales and projected buildings directly to this practice."

Mr. W. S. Baker, of H. L. Baker & Bro., operators, when asked for his opinion in regard to the stringency in the mortgage market, said: "The situation just at present is far from satisfactory, and we do not look for any change for the better until the rate of interest on call money drops. We believe that many insurance and financial institutions are now lending money in large amounts on Wall st securities, and since the rate of interest offered by borrowers exceeds in most instances the legal rate, it is not difficult to understand why the lending companies prefer this class of security to real estate mortgages. The insurance companies have the power to assist operators and builders and they should do so without delay."

Mr. William Prager, of Lowenfield & Prager, said: "The mortgage market is beginning to show signs of improvement, but we believe that conditions would be greatly benefited all around if the large life insurance companies were to adopt a more general and liberal policy of loaning money on real estate mortgage."

Bryan L. Kennelly said he believed that life insurance companies have been discriminating, and he coincided with a prevailing opinion that too much of their money is finding its way to other and more profitable investments, which he said had a depressing influence on the real estate market.

Mr. Louis Kempner, President of the Beekman Realty Co.: "I do not believe that the insurance companies were in the least to blame for their conservatism in making loans in sections like Washington Heights during the recent boom. The reasons for this are obvious. In the first place, there was every probability of an over-production of buildings during the period mentioned, and secondly, the cost of material was so high as to make a building operation very expensive; then, too, there remained the uncertainty of a quick sale of the finished product, all of which justified the stand taken by many of the companies.

"But now that these conditions are dissipated and a more stable security is offered, there can be no further objections on these grounds. What is required now is a more liberal support from moneyed institutions to insure a continuance of such trading as has characterized the market during the past four weeks."

Critically of the affirmations of gentlemen recorded in last week's issue, a prominent real estate dealer said:

"The interests of real estate do suffer from the withdrawal of mortgage loans already made, and the difficulty of obtaining renewals and new loans. The building enterprises, so profitable to the city, are certainly checked. If it were not for the solidity of the real estate trade we should be realizing a terrible panic to-day. The insurance companies and savings banks accept applications for large loans, yes, but less and less for small loans, although the savings banks are depleted by withdrawals of depositors who have hopes in real estate, and so do the work of a mild revenge. Insurance companies, trust companies and savings banks may find channels of investment where the bother and care are temporarily less, the profits equal, or a trifle better; yet, in the long run, they must revert to real estate as a class of investments on the whole the most reliable, hence the most profitable in the end."

Rates of Interest High.

LENDERS' CONTENTING THAT LOANS ARE ASKED ON INFLATED VALUATIONS, PEASE & ELLIMAN HOLD THAT BORROWERS ARE REASONABLE.

To the Editor of The Record and Guide:

The mortgage market, as we find it, is in a very peculiar condition, and it is hard to attribute the cause to any one specific thing. It was generally believed that the passing of the recent Mortgage Tax Bill would improve the money market, and it has slightly reduced the rates of interest, but the increase of available funds for which we were looking has not come as yet.

The rate of interest asked is very high, considering the percentage of value that is offered. The prevailing loan made to-day being about 65 per cent. of a conservative valuation at 5 per cent. On a 60 per cent. basis of the same valuation, a 4½ per cent. loan can sometimes be secured, but only on property located in the best parts of the city, where values are well established and increasing rapidly, and even under these conditions, the majority of lenders on this high-class property are holding out for 5 per cent.

While in the past the Title companies were in a position to consider propositions in nearly every section of the city, to-day they seem to find as much difficulty as the brokers in disposing of their loans, and for that reason will not consider a loan of any large amount without knowing where they can readily dispose of it. This fact causes delay and greatly hinders the transaction of ordinary business.

The large insurance companies, it is generally understood, have unlimited funds for mortgage investment, yet when approached with propositions of merit, their attitude is extremely conservative, and the rate of interest, generally speaking, is 5 per cent., and in some cases even higher.

Many of the savings banks and trust companies are not in the market at all, while others are offering their funds at such conservative figures that it is almost impossible for a borrower to accept their proposition, and notwithstanding the small percentage offered, their rate is almost universally 5 per cent.

The estates which are recognized as being liberal lenders on this class of security seem to have taken their cue from the institutions, and are not inclined to make liberal loans as in the past.

The borrower in the market to-day very quickly finds these facts to be the case, and in addition to their inability to secure a reasonable loan upon their property, they find the charges for such loans are very high, and, in the majority of cases, such charges are not the fault of the broker. The mortgage tax which is invariably paid by the borrower is necessarily added to the cost of raising the loan, making such expense appear out of all proportion to the benefit received.

The stand taken to-day by the majority of lenders is, that the borrower is endeavoring to procure a loan on an inflated valuation of his property, and in some instances we admit that this is a fact. Some of the builders have paid more than the land is actually worth, and in addition to this have improved the property when building material and labor were at extremely high prices; but the average borrower to-day, regardless of his ideas some months ago, is ready and willing to take a reasonable loan on a fair valuation, and the majority of brokers in the city have numerous applications before them, and yet are unable to secure a reasonable proposition.

Borrowers in the newly developed parts of the city find it even more difficult than those whose property is located in the more central sections. In the extreme upper East Side, upper Harlem and Washington Heights, builders are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing their loans, and it is almost impossible to get more than a 50 per cent. loan in these sections.

What the outcome of these conditions will be, if they do not materially improve in the near future is hard to say, but if such conditions exist through the winter, it is generally conceded that real estate operations of all classes will suffer very materially and unjustly.

Real estate values in the city are increasing, due to a healthy and steady growth, and it is very discouraging to those interested in building up and improving the city to be hampered by an over conservative and tight money market.

We wish to join with others in hoping that there will be a considerable increase of available funds for mortgage loans, and believe that if lenders will come forward at this time they will be able to benefit by the high rates at present obtainable which we feel sure must be reduced before long, as there is no such security in the world as a good New York City mortgage.

Knickerbocker Fables

No. 1.

Father Knickerbocker and Socrates View the Obstructions in City Streets.

(Seated in Washington Square.)

F. K.—Well, Socrates, have you seen much of my great city?

Soc.—No, Father Knickerbocker, not as yet. But the government of your city—it must be wonderful!

F. K.—Yes, you are right,—it is indeed wonderful.

Soc.—What is its government?

F. K.—I really don't know what you mean.

Soc.—Is the government of your city two-sided, or no?

F. K.—Perhaps, but how can it be two-sided?

Soc.—There is the theory, in a constitution stating its laws, and the officers, servants of the laws. Or is this not so?

F. K.—Certainly, Socrates, you are right.

Soc.—Then there is the actual service, the execution of laws by the servants.

F. K.—Yes, that, too, is so.

Soc.—Well, then, tell me, Father Knickerbocker, what is the character of the constitution of your city? Is it despotic, or oligarchic or democratic?

F. K.—Oh, it is democratic. It is essentially of the people, by the people, for the people.

Soc.—Humph! A republic within a republic, as it were?

F. K.—Yes, Socrates, quite so.

Soc.—Then all the citizens are interested and active? They possess civic virtue and exercise it?

F. K.—Indeed, yes, all the people possess virtue, I believe, but its exercise they call by a popular name.

Soc.—What is the name?

F. K.—Business—you know what that means?

Soc.—Perhaps so; while a citizen of Athens, I knew it as politics.

F. K.—Oh! You speak of politics. Yes, certainly, all the people have that civic virtue, but its exercise is pretty generally delegated to the officers who execute the laws of our constitution.

Soc.—I should like to know much about the constitution—its laws and officers.

F. K.—You shall, so please you. Come with me to my house near by. You will find all you wish to know in a book, "The Greater New York Charter." I shall be proud to entertain you. I knew you at once by your face, Socrates, but you are not clad in tunic and cloak, and barefooted, as I expected to see you.

Soc.—No, I desired to honor the fashions of this reputed center of modern civilization and activity, so, in Paris and London, I acted under advice and provided myself with an outfit, as you see.

F. K.—And you are well groomed, Socrates, none better of all my grandchildren.

Soc.—And you, Father Knickerbocker, are exactly like your photos. But, if it is not displeasing to you, tell me why your dress is so different from others?

F. K.—I house and dress myself in the fashion of my boyhood. Habit, as well as personal taste and sentiment, control me. Yet, in spirit I am young, modern, in sympathy with my grandchildren, and this greatest of modern cities.

Soc.—A great city it surely must be! Its fame is abroad through all the world. I am told there is no sea, nor land, whereon your grandchildren fail to carry tidings of its wonders. You, too, perhaps, have compared it with all the great modern cities of the world.

F. K.—Just so, Socrates. Until six years ago I had never been off this island of Manhattan, and now never farther than the limits of Greater New York. It is so great! So beautiful! So satisfying! I never care to go further. But here we are at my door.

(They enter the house and, after an interval of two hours, emerge and stand under the arch.)

Soc.—By Themis, Father Knickerbocker, I am amazed at the number of your laws and officers! Yours must be a thoroughly governed city.

F. K.—None better in all the world, Socrates, I do believe.

Soc.—A well-governed city requires also good character in her laws. Do you not think so?

F. K.—Yes, certainly. I believe it is so.

Soc.—Then, if the character of the laws be good, those laws must be efficiently and faithfully executed, to the end that the city be well governed?

F. K.—Truly, Socrates, a city cannot be well governed unless its laws are executed as you say.

Soc.—Very well, then, shall we begin an investigation with a choice from your city's laws, and with seeing how well those chosen are executed?

F. K.—A very good way, indeed; and what laws do you choose?

Soc.—Some of those relating to the control and care of streets, e. g., Sections 391, 545, 1456, etc., in the Greater New York Charter.

F. K.—Good, Socrates, at once let us follow from here our finest street—Fifth avenue. Is this not a beautiful park? and this arch, and that avenue stretching away as far as the eye can reach—did you ever see anything so fine?

Soc.—Perhaps not. I once saw the Place de la Concord, the Champs Elysee, and the Arc de Triomphe, in Paris.

F. K.—I have heard that they are fine. But see how smooth the pavement is! Asphalted, you perceive. How broad the sidewalk—Gott in Himmel!!

Soc.—Why, bless me, Father Knickerbocker, did you hurt yourself? You took that hurdle rather awkwardly, but luckily landed in the sand heap. Can I brush you?

F. K.—No, no!—ugh, ugh!—hem, hem!—I'll be all right in a minute. Careless, very careless, to have such obstructions in the street! I was looking up at that building. Let us walk on.

Soc.—Just a moment, I beg.

F. K.—Why, Socrates, what are you doing with that kodak?

Soc.—Making a picture-note of this corner; numbered Eighth street, I see.

1—OBSTRUCTIONS AT FIFTH AV AND EIGHTH ST.

F. K.—Tut, tut! I can remember it without notes. By the by, Socrates, let me change the plan, and lead you out to Broadway, our great business street.

Soc.—As you will, Father Knickerbocker, lead and I follow. What avenue is this?

F. K.—Not an avenue at all; a place, University place.

Soc.—A place for holes and rubbish?

F. K.—Really, I don't understand. This is bad, very bad. It shouldn't be so.

Soc.—I'll make a note, and we'll find out later. Let us walk up this place. These holes seem really to be trenches, wide and deep, with the dirt heaped high. There is little of the street left. Bear with me, Father Knickerbocker, while I make a note here at Tenth street, and further on, at Eleventh.

2—SCENERY IN UNIVERSITY PLACE.

F. K.—There, there! This is all very strange, and unusual, surely. But, now, let us go out to Broadway—the finest business street you ever saw!

Soc.—Just one moment, please you, while I ask a question of this workman.

Good fellow, this opening and blocking of the street—there is a good reason for it?

Workman.—Shure, sir. I be knowing very little about it, indade. But I belave the city manes to shoot litters thru it.

F. K.—Ah, yes! I have long heard, that pneumatic tubes were being laid, for rapid transit of mail matter. Now, do let us see Broadway.

3 ANOTHER CORNER IN UNIVERSITY PLACE.

Soc.—But, by Hermes! this is a case of more “shoot,” or what is it?

F. K.—Really, I don't know, Socrates, but, surely, now you will see how fine a street it is. The “backbone of Manhattan,” it is sometimes called.

Soc.—Ah! a little uneven, I see. Another note at this corner of Twelfth street, and a question or two, Father Knickerbocker, with your kind permission.

4—NORTHEAST CORNER ELEVENTH ST. AND UNIVERSITY PL.

Here, sir! You seem to be a boss. Tell me, if you please, why these openings are made?

Boss.—Electricity.

Soc.—Electricity?

Boss.—Telegraph and telephone wires.

Soc.—By Zeus, but there is a net work of pipes in that hole. Surely these are not all for electricity?

Boss.—Water, gas, steam—a little of everything.

Soc.—And all need repairing occasionally?

Boss.—Yes.

Soc.—Then the hole is kept open all the time?

5—BROADWAY AND ELEVENTH ST.

Boss.—No, closed every time.

Soc.—And opened again every time?

Boss.—Every time, here or further along. Open somewhere, pretty much of the time.

F. K.—Socrates, Socrates, let us go back to Fifth avenue.

Soc.—Be it as you will. A snap shot as we go. I see again why Broadway is the backbone; the middle of this Twelfth street is much like a rib.

F. K.—We really ought to have driven, Socrates; then we would have avoided these disagreeable sights. But now we are coming back to Fifth avenue, all will be well.

Soc.—One moment, please. Another note here, on the corner of Twelfth street and Fifth avenue.

Laborer.—What are you doing, dude?

F. K.—Shame, man! This is Socrates.

Lab.—No shame, father, begging your pardon. But, Soc., what are you doing?

6—“A LITTLE UNEVEN.”

Soc.—Making a note, fellow.

Lab.—A note!—note of what?

Soc.—Why, of this opening, to be sure, as I have of other openings.

Lab.—Well, I guess you must have your sheet pretty full, if you have made notes of them all.

Soc.—I smile, good fellow. But those stone-block ridges along the street, east and west from Fifth avenue?

Lab.—Salt water pipes for fires, sure.

Soc.—Why, when were they laid?

7 A TWELFTH ST. SNAPSHOT.

Lab.—Two months ago, perhaps.

Soc.—Will the streets be left in this way?

Lab.—Suppose not.

Soc.—When will they be repaired?

Lab.—Who knows?

Soc.—Well, thank you, nevertheless, and I must ask a question of this man, who looks like a boss.

Kindly tell me, sir, why this opening?

Boss.—Conduits are being put in for telegraph and telephone wires.

Soc.—Were there none in before?

Boss.—Oh, yes! but we are putting in another company's, two feet below the other company's.

Soc.—Ah, by Zeus, indeed!

F. K.—I beseech you, Socrates, let us walk on. You are so in earnest investigating the streets, you do not see the greatness and beauty of this fine avenue.

Soc.—Really, Father Knickerbocker, I have those street laws so in mind, I cannot fail to keep my eyes on the ground. Another time I will look up. One more note here on the corner of Twentieth street.

F. K.—There now! that will be the last, for we are almost at Madison Square.

Soc.—A fine fellow that in uniform!

Heigh! my fine fellow, tell me what you do here. You seem to be an officer.

Porter.—I am a carriage porter, sir, and in the service of this great firm, sir.

Soc.—Have you been on duty here a long time?

Porter.—Several years, sir.

8—"LUMPY."

Soc.—Then, tell me, about that wide strip of mud that runs through the asphalt pavement, all the way down Fifth avenue to Fourteenth street.

Porter.—Salt water pipes, sir.

Soc.—And how long has this condition existed?

Porter.—Condition?—Oh! they opened the ditch before Labor Day, sir, but it has been filled up in this way six weeks or more.

Soc.—And they will asphalt it again before winter?

Porter.—I don't know, sir, perhaps so, if my boss comes out and puts something in the hand of the contractor.

Soc.—Why! what do you mean?

Porter.—Graft, sir, don't you know? You see, when they dug the ditch, they piled up the dirt on this side, and carriages with lady shoppers couldn't get near our curb. Then boss, or somebody, came out and put something in their hands, and the dirt was taken right away, so the carriages could come up to the curb. Why, in winter, I've known the foreman of the snow-shoveling gang to have the snow piled right up here in front. Then boss, or somebody, came out and put something in the foreman's hand, and the pile of snow was changed to the other side. Then something happened on the other side, and the snow was carted, and dumped in the river.

Soc.—Humph! thank you.

F. K.—Ahem! ahem!

Soc.—I wonder if I could interview your boss?

Porter.—I think so, sir, walk in.

Soc.—Shall we go in, Father Knickerbocker?

F. K.—I will follow, Socrates.

(They enter the store.)

Soc.—Boy, can we see the proprietor?

Boy.—Your cards, gentlemen, and I will see.

(Boy takes cards and disappears; and after a few moment's absence returns.)

Boy.—Mr. S.— is full of business this afternoon, but says he will see you for five minutes.

Soc.—Full of "business!" ah! Father Knickerbocker, here we will find civic virtue, active.

Boy.—Right in there, gentlemen, you will find Mr. S.—.

Mr. S.—Good day, Mr. Socrates, and you Father Knickerbocker. Please be seated, gentlemen. And now your business, Mr. Socrates.

Soc.—My business? Yours, if you will, Mr. S.—. I came in to ask you, why you, as a citizen of Manhattan, allowed this finest possible avenue, which passes in front of your store, to be, and continue, in the condition it is.

Mr. S.—Why I allowed it, Mr. Socrates? Bless me! (turning very red in the face) I can't help it. None of us on the avenue can help it. All together can't help it. D—n it, sir,—I beg your pardon—you will excuse this show of feeling. The state of things on the avenue, and on all the side streets, from Madison Square to Washington Square, is shameful, sir! Why, the ditches and the holes, the piled up dirt and rubbish, the pavement broken, and worn in ruts and dangerous holes, in every block almost the temporary (?) repairs, so bad that they excite ridicule, and curses, the—well, you can see for yourself. But this condition of things is more than exasperating to the feelings. It hurts real estate values, lowers rentals, turns away trade, and hurts business generally, and—

Soc.—Business? Ah! is not that what Father Knickerbocker said was the popular name for the exercise of civic virtue?

Mr. S.—I don't know, Mr. Socrates, I'm sure. I do know that business is business.

Soc.—But you, who delegate such exercise of civic virtue, make it a part of your business to control, and compel, its proper execution on the part of those to whom you delegate it. Is that not so?

10—"TURNS AWAY TRADE."

Mr. S.—Father Knickerbocker, Mr. Socrates is a stranger in the city, is he not?

F. K.—Yes, Mr. S.—, he is a stranger to Greater New York, and has come a long way, drawn by the repute of our great city.

Mr. S.—He is likely to be wiser in some things, after he has learned a little more about it, Father Knickerbocker.

F. K.—I hope so. That is, also, Socrates is a very wise man, but certainly he will learn a great deal in this wonderful city of ours.

Soc.—Surely, Mr. S.—, you do make the care of your avenues and streets a part of your business; is it not so?

Mr. S.—Indeed, I do.

Soc.—And you are willing to rebuke your delegates, who are the servants of your laws, and compel them to efficiently and faithfully execute those laws?

Mr. S.—Indeed, I'm not.

Soc.—Perhaps not alone, I understand. But your fellow business men would join with you?

Mr. S.—Indeed, they would not.

Soc.—There must be good reason, if it pleases—

(The telephone rings.)

Mr. S.—Hello! who is it?—Yes, just a minute. Gentlemen, I must bid you good day. I am asked for a business talk over the telephone.

(Father Knickerbocker and Socrates go out.)

Soc.—A fortunate thing, Father Knickerbocker, that the telephone was not invented, and used in Athens in my time. Don't you think it would have interfered in my business?

F. K.—Ah! but here we are at Madison Square.

Soc.—Yes, and it is growing late. The sun is going down and all the ways are dark. Shall we part to meet another day?

F. K.—Where are you staying, Socrates?

Soc.—At the Knickerbocker Hotel, in compliment to you.

F. K.—Thank you, good night.

Soc.—Good night.

SECTION 391 OF THE GREATER NEW YORK CHARTER.

No removal of the pavement or disturbance of the surface of any street for the purpose of constructing vaults or lateral ways, digging cellars, laying foundations of buildings or other structures, making sewer connections, or repairing sewers or pipes, of laying down gas and water pipes, steam pipes and electric wires, or introducing the same into buildings, or for any purpose whatever, shall be made until a permit is first had from the president of the borough where the work is to be done; and whenever any portion of the pavement in any street or avenue in said city shall have been removed for any of these purposes, and such pavements shall not be relaid in a manner satisfactory to the president of said borough, the said president may cause a notice, in writing, to be served on the person or corporation by whom the same was removed; or if such removal was for the purpose of making connections between any house or lot, or any sewer or pipes in the street, or for constructing vaults, or otherwise improving any house or lot, upon the owner or occupants of such house or lot, requiring such person or corporation, or the owner or occupant of such house or lot, to have such pavements properly relaid within five days after service of such notice, etc., etc.

How to Serve Interests of Policyholders.

Mr. Charles E. Schuyler, of Charles E. Schuyler & Co., 100 Broadway, referring to the attitude of insurance companies toward real estate mortgages, remarked that he had had occasion to call upon several life insurance companies recently in regard to loaning money on bond and mortgage, even at the highest rates, and he believed the position they take in regard to real estate loans in New York was very detrimental to such interests. Mr. Schuyler added:

"While every company has a right to invest its money to the best advantage, in accordance with its own judgment and get more than the legitimate 6 per cent. interest, it seems to me that the interests of the Policyholders would be much better served if a greater proportion of the assets of insurance companies were loaned on bond and mortgage, because the real estate interests are the largest of any single interest in the city of New York, and money loaned to advance conservative building operations and investments helps all around to the prosperity of all the allied building trades, and the largest portion goes into the pockets of the workmen, and does greater good all around than the investments in Wall st, which support all kinds of unhealthy speculations, and where money rates are put up and down at will and caprice of the great banking houses and does not benefit in any way, the general business of the city at large.

"An interview, which was quoted in the newspapers recently, in which Mr. Peabody, President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company makes the statement that the sum of $10,000,000 had been put out on bond and mortgage during the year 1906, and quotes it as something remarkable, was to my mind, about the position the insurance companies have taken in regard to real estate loans and is a great detriment to the business, and instead of $10,000,000, the Mutual Life Insurance Company could have loaned $50,000,000 of its enormous assets on real estate, and in doing so, would benefit the general business of the whole city infinitely more than its investments in Wall st. Even if the insurance companies should charge 6 per cent., and make loans on two-thirds of the value of the property, it seems to me that it would be of benefit to real estate interests to pay this rate, provided there was a certainty that the insurance companies would take all of the good loans offered on two-thirds valuation at this rate, and that money could be had when needed for good conservative loans, and this they could do safely."

Validity of City Tenement House Act.

A decision was handed down on the 12th inst. by the United States Supreme Court in a case under the New York Tenement House Act of 1901, which bore the title of "Katie Moeschén vs. the Tenement House Department." The decision is favorable to the city and upholds the Tenement House act. The case was the result of an effort on the part of the city authorities to force Katie Moeschén to dispense with a sink connected with 332 E. 39th st, which property she owned. In her resistance she argued that the building was perfectly sanitary, and attacked the validity of the law because of its specific application to the City of New York and not to a class of cities; further contending that its enforcement would result in the acquirement of property without proper recourse to law. The constitutionality of the law was sustained.

DINNER TO THE PUBLISHER OF THE "RECORD AND GUIDE."

A dinner at which Clinton W. Sweet, Esq., was the guest of honor, was given at the Cafe Martin on the evening of November 7th, 1906, and was attended by about fifty of the leading men in the following allied interests: "The Record and Guide," "The Architectural Record," "Sweet's Index," the Record and Guide Information Bureau, the F. W. Dodge Company, and the firm of Sweet, Orr & Co. Mr. Montgomery Schuyler and Professor Wm. H. Hallock, of Columbia University, were special guests. Speeches abounding in reminiscence and congratulations testified alike to the scope and importance of Mr. Sweet's interests and to the esteem in which he is held by all who are associated with him in his several enterprises.

More High-Class Apartments for Washington Heights.

BROADWAY.—The Hudson Realty Co., 135 Broadway, will erect on Broadway the whole block front between 158th and 159th sts, on a plot 200x100 ft., two high-class elevator apartment houses, to cost in the neighborhood of $350,000. There will be six apartments on a floor of five, six and seven rooms. The exterior will be in terra cotta and limestone, with a granite base, slag roof, etc. The interior will contain steam heat, electric lights, marble, tile, mosaic, hardwood finish, and every up-to-date equipment. Bids on all contracts will be received by the architects, and awards will be made through them. Excavating is to be started at once.

Advancing Market in Electrical Apparatus and Supplies.

Prices in the electrical trade continue to show a distinct upward tendency in sympathy with the well maintained advance which has taken place in the prices of all raw materials. Orders for future delivery can only be placed in many instances at a considerable advance over present market quotations. The General Electric Company, in common with many other large manufacturing concerns, is announcing a general advance in prices of electrical apparatus and supplies. This will not unlikely be followed by further advances if present market conditions continue.

Plans for Another Downtown Skyscraper.

MAIDEN LANE.—The German-American Insurance Co., No. 35 Nassau st, has purchased the plot containing about 900 square feet at the junction of Maiden Lane and Liberty st, and will erect on the entire block bounded by Liberty st, Maiden Lane and William st, excepting the Wolfe building, facing William st, a 16-sty office building, for the occupancy of the company. At the office of the insurance company, on Friday, the Record and Guide was informed that no plans have yet been drawn or architect selected. Details will be given in later issues.

Max M. Pullman has moved his office from 128 Broadway to 14 East 116th st.

Patrick Kiernan has moved his real estate office from 265 West 43d st to 140 West 42d st, which adjoins the Knickerbocker Hotel.

Reiss-Loewy Realty Co. desire to announce that they will remove their offices on or about November 15th to 316 3d av, near 161st st.

At a meeting of the Board of Governors held Nov. 13, 1906, Mr. Robert A. White and Mr. Philip H. Judd were elected members of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of New York City.

Mandelbaum & Lewine express the belief that the condition of the real estate market is improving, and are of the opinion that this is due in no small measure to the promised relief in the financial situation.

The Grant Station Association have called a meeting for next Monday evening at the southeast corner of 122d st and Broadway. To have a subway station at or near that corner is the object of the association.

Charles F. Noyes Co. will have sole charge of the renting of the 12-sty Jewelers' Building, to be erected May 1, 1907, at 45-7-9 John and 1-5 Dutch sts, northwest corner. This building will cover 8,200 sq. ft. Plot about 75x113.

The Record and Guide has heard reports to the effect that Stern Bros., of West 23d st, contemplated the sale of their property and business, and has known that there was no truth whatsoever in them. Furthermore, no negotiations have been carried on, either directly or indirectly, with any firm or individual for that purpose.

H. Bierhoff & Co., real estate and mortgage loan brokers, have removed their offices from 48 West 125th st to their new building at 343 Lenox av. The new extension to the building which they occupy affords excellent light and ventilation and is thoroughly equipped with every requisite for an up-to-date real estate office.

It is said that $80,000 will shortly be spent in the much needed improvement of the lighting and power plants on Staten Island. This is good news for the residents of the Borough of Richmond, as the present system is entirely inadequate to the increasing necessities of the island. $50,000 will probably be expended at once for new trolley cars.

Mr. J. Clarence Davies said regarding the lands which have been bought up in the vicinity of Portchester on the line of the new proposed electric railway by a syndicate in the employ of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, that the buying was not for the purpose of opposing the granting of a franchise, but in order to procure the necessary consent of the property owners throughout the districts affected.

C. F. Bedell, for several years Vice-President and Treasurer of the Frank L. Fisher Company, has severed his connection with that company and opened a real estate office at 2051 Broadway, corner 71st st. This is a particularly advantageous location for a real estate office, being at the junction of Broadway and Amsterdam av, and near the 72d st subway station. The title of the concern is the "C. F. Bedell Company." The company will transact a general real estate business, acting as brokers exclusively. Especial attention will be given to West Side property and the management of apartment houses.

Large Improved Tracts Near Williamsbridge.

Some brokers in the vicinity of Gun Hill road and Williamsbridge report the money market as being very tight, although it was stated by one that he had little difficulty in obtaining private loans. The general report was that almost everything was fully rented, the builders in most cases acting as their own agents, so far as renting was concerned. Some of the neighboring districts are well populated, the houses being mostly built for one or two families. But the improved settlements are very small in comparison with the many large tracts of vacant land, most of which, being on grade with the street, are very desirable for building purposes.

Effect of Party Politics on Real Estate

By JOHN M. THOMPSON

THE patriot should be a good citizen and by the same token a good citizen should be a patriot. A man may be either or both in any form of government existent under God's Heaven today, for he may love his native or adopted country and may live a life wholly righteous in the eyes of the laws of that land where he claims citizenship.

But the greater the privileges of citizenship the more binding become the duties of the individual toward his state. Under a monarchical or imperial form of government the individual is relieved of responsibility in just proportion to the voice denied him in its workings. If he is not consulted he is not required by any moral law to give his opinion. If he has no right of initiative he is blameless for being a dotard.

Under a constitutional form of government, especially one which gives concurrent privileges of suffrage to every citizen, the individual is called upon to act, as it were, in self-defense under the law. His inaction becomes a crime against the society which gives to him protection.

The privilege of voting should carry with it an inviolable obligation to vote; and the man who fails without good cause to exercise this right should lose it forever. More than half the evils of politics, cried against today, would be wiped out from before our eyes if competent men, whose affairs are at stake, would but take part in politics, even to the extent of casting that vote with which a liberal government has endowed them. They should exercise this right all the way from party primaries to the general election.

In viewing the subject chosen for this paper, "The Effect of Party Politics on Real Estate,"* I forget that I am a partisan. It is not the effect of the political views of one party or the other with which we are concerned, but rather the effect in its working upon that form of property whose integrity, stability and firmness we represent. It is my honest conviction that not only do brokers and operators but also proprietors (who constitute the investor class) as a body commonly neglect their own interests, in their indifference to political principles which may affect real property in its various forms.

Whether this is induced by a false feeling of security, or by the fact that any legislation affecting realty is slow in its operation for or against values, or from lack of a federation of interests, I am not prepared to discuss. It is more probably a combination of these reasons that "conspire to blind man's erring judgment and misguide the mind." Whatever the cause the fact is as indisputable as it is indefensible.

The conception of this movement was a brilliant one and the measure of good of this convention so auspiciously begun is incalculable.

We represent the branch of industry in which the greatest amount of capital is invested. In New York State alone in 1905, the assessed value of real property was $7,312,621,452, while the assessed value of personal property was but $816,399,935; the ratio is rapidly increasing year by year. In 1901 the real estate assessment was seven times greater than that of the personal assessment, while that of 1905 is more than nine times as great.

Representing as we do a large part of these millions—a major portion of the money drawn from the savings banks and trust companies in the past few years having been invested in the Boroughs of Kings and Queens—it is but fitting both for our clients and ourselves that we band together for our common good.

One of our first duties is to watch carefully the political situations and to instill in our clients and patrons the necessity of doing likewise. Too often in the heat and ardor of a campaign are we prone to forget the duties to ourselves and advocate the advancement of some political idol who, if not inimical, is at least not friendly to our interests.

Not alone State and municipal politics affect our interests, but national politics as well, for much national legislation affects real estate both directly and indirectly.

It is not my intention to provoke any political discussion; far be it from my purpose. I wish merely to set forth some of the evils that may arise from supineness on our part.

Immigration vitally affects real estate; should it be restricted or unrestricted? Does not the quality as well as the number of immigrants who land on these shores materially affect values of real property?

Recently the whole country has been in the throes of a heated discussion on the question of governmental ownership of railroads. It is not for us to consider whether the Republicans or Democrats do or do not wish it, or that the Socialists do wish it, but it is for us to seriously consider what effect it will have on the real estate values of the country.

*From an address before the Long Island Real Estate Exchange.

Another question which bids fair to be one of the hour, is that of an income tax. Will such a tax relieve even in part the already unjust, disproportionate tax on real property, and should it effect such a relief, what will be the ultimate result on real estate values? Will it appreciate or depreciate values?

These are but a few of the national issues that affect our interests directly; the issues at home, State, municipal and borough, are too innumerable to even attempt to mention them.

It is questions such as these that you gentlemen must consider in political campaigns and as far as possible within your party lines find candidates who will carry out your wishes. I do not advocate the breaking away of party lines, but God forbid that you should elect a man whom you believe unfriendly to the interests of the millions that you represent.

The almost killing effect of adverse legislation toward real estate and the quick remedy obtained by a community of interests is illustrated by the passage two years ago under the party lash of the iniquitous mortgage tax, and its subsequent repeal.

Had there been organization such as this promises to be, the iniquity would have been undoubtedly throttled in its inception. Realizing after it had become a law that only concentration of effort could gain relief, the real estate interests of the Boroughs of Manhattan, Kings and Queens arose in their might and demanded of each candidate for the Legislature before the last election a statement of his views on the tax. This organized force succeeded in electing a large number of Assemblymen favorable to the repeal of the tax, but not content with this, the war was carried into the enemy's camp at Albany; so powerful was the attack that the stubborn resistance was forced to give way and the obnoxious law was repealed.

Thus it is, gentlemen, that I have taken such an active interest in this convention, for I believe that a congress of men such as you can do much in your own political parties to see, at least, that measures unfriendly to real estate do not become laws. Whatever legislation affects real estate should as far as possible be controlled by those who own or deal in real estate. We do not mean that it would be a good principle of government that in each line of industry the laws affecting that branch of trade should be made solely by those engaged in it. This would uncover a veritable Pandora's box of inexorable exigencies. But we do mean that no set of freebooting politicians should be allowed to make laws affecting property in real estate without having first heard the testimony and weighed the evidence of those who are most competent and concerned. All effort begins with the individual, but the major problem of civilization is to secure concerted action among men on a great scale without the sacrifice of individual interests.

That chronic anarchy which existed in Greece because of the sovereign independence of each single city was the underlying if not the final cause of her weakness before the onslaughts of Macedonia and of Rome. The want of federation was the folly and the feebleness of her government; so must it be with any body of men whose interests are common. They should not attempt to build on individual effort—simply and apart from one another—segregated as to those main elements of their undertaking which make for general weal or woe, but rather should federate their efforts and incorporate their ideals and unify their energies. To this end we believe that the working of this body, the inception of which is founded on this congress of brokers and operators and the conception of which has doubtless been in an unconscious recognition of some of those principles of self-protection which I have already suggested, can be made a glorious forward step in the progress of that profession which we represent.

If we work as individuals for the organization and as an organization for the rights of real property, we will be serving justly those higher principles of patriotism and good citizenship which are the surest guarantee to our home, our city and the State, of "peace on earth and good will toward men."

A NEWCOMER IN THIRTY-EIGHTH STREET.

[A 10-sty steel frame building for lofts and offices, on a single lot, 25x100, and is generally spoken of as a more successful treatment of the narrow front than is usual. The view in the photograph is necessarily oblique, but from the front a very handsome design is more apparent.]

Opening of the New Hall of Records.

Gradually the books and records of the Register's office are being transferred to the new Hall of Records on the northwest corner of Chambers and Centre sts. The second and third floors and about one-half of the fourth floor of the new building will be for this department. Ever since election day a force of men has been employed in cleaning and packing the libers, and about thirty cases are shipped to the new quarters daily. Register Frank Gass expects to complete the operation by the 5th of December, or as near that date as possible. "Every volume is subjected to a vacuum cleaning process, for I do not purpose transporting dusty books to the new building," said the Register.

The racks to hold the libers in the Hall of Records are made of sheet iron, and so arranged that each book rests horizontally on five independent rollers, which greatly facilitates the removal of a volume without disturbing the others. Owing to this and other improvements in the receptacles, the heavy iron book guards will no longer be found necessary for the preservation of the binding.

The business office, as well as the private office of the Register, is located on the second floor at the easterly side of the new building. On this floor will also be found an Index Room, and a large section which will be used by the Chattel Mortgage Division. All of the rooms are light and airy, and each department is provided with a sufficient number of long desks to prevent crowding. The arrangement of the rooms is all that could be expected, and the furnishings are in harmony with the surroundings.

The Department of Taxes and Assessments is already installed in its new offices on the main floor, north. Chief Deputy Bell, in commenting on the conveniences of the new quarters, said that in addition to the customary book racks used by his division, there were commodious vaults in the basement in which records could be stored.

Changing Conditions Rapidly Affecting 39th Street.

There can be no doubt that 39th st is beginning to feel the influence of changing conditions, and the time is not far distant when the once fashionable blocks between 5th and 6th avs will entirely give way to the new impulse of life which is so rapidly obliterating private dwellings from this part of Manhattan.

New evidences of the attraction which this class of property presents to the speculator is shown by the large number of sales which have recently taken place in the locality, especially on the north side of 39th st just west of 5th av, no less than five parcels having been sold within the past four or five weeks. This noticeable demand is chiefly attributed to the heavy purchasing movement now taking place on 5th av, the consequent result of which is a shortage of available sites along this new business thoroughfare. This is causing operators and speculators to turn their attention to property in the side streets, for it is firmly believed by them that the congestion which is bound to exist on 5th av, especially between 34th and 42d sts, will find an outlet through the streets adjacent thereto, which naturally must be looked to as a means of relieving the situation. This diversion of traffic, it is believed, will result in stimulated buying and the final transformation of all the blocks within the limits of the streets mentioned.

The character of the business already established in the 5th av district, and the success with which two of the leading department stores have met since their invasion of this territory, not to mention other lines of trade, have done more toward the creation of a demand for side-street property than the prospect of greater transit facilities. A well known speculator when asked for his opinion as to the sudden cause of the activity in 39th st, said:

"This is just the beginning of the effect of the overflow, and you may bank upon what I have to say, every block between Broadway and 5th av and from 34th to 45th sts, will yield sooner or later to the growing demands of business, which will result in the making of many fortunes for owners of realty within this zone."

The Widening of Fifth Avenue.

One of the chief topics of debate this week among brokers who make the handling of Fifth av property their specialty, is the proposed widening from 23d to 59th sts. Many are of the opinion that while the carrying out of the proposition which the Corporation Counsel has formulated will undoubtedly be a hardship to a few owners of property along 5th av, the ultimate effect of such an improvement, it is believed, will tend to generally increase values along this important highway. At the present time the roadway is congested, and the free passage of pedestrians is also greatly interfered with by existing sidewalk obstructions; and since these encroachments extend in many instances beyond a reasonable line they should be modified, or removed entirely. Many years ago permission was given property owners along Fifth av to inclose a portion of their sidewalks, but it was understood by them that this privilege was not to extend beyond the pleasure of the authorities.

"A great deal may be said on both sides in the matter," observed a broker, "but some relief is sure to follow the agitation of the question, and I believe that should the city win out in this dispute, which will result in the widening, values would enhance from $10,000 to $20,000 per lot."

In a recent communication to Corporation Counsel Ellison, Mr. John D. Crimmins said: "In the movement you are making, I would suggest that you first determine the width of the sidewalks. Having established the width of the sidewalks and roadway, an example should be made by the city by setting back the curb in front of the Consolidated Library, the city's property, from 40th to 42d sts. The relief at this congested point would be so great that I believe the opposition would fall away."

Everything Reported Rented on the West Side.

Mr. William R. Ware, who has an office at 451 Columbus av, said that a number of tenants had changed their places of abode during the renting season, the new comers in most cases paying higher rents, with no free time allowance. One case was mentioned where an applicant offered $100 more a year than the scheduled rent, which had already been advanced, and failing in this he raised his bid to $150. The application had to be declined as the apartment had already been rented. Riverside Drive, which was formerly regarded by many people as being very cold in winter also too far west, has survived that theory, being well patronized and the present occupants fully satisfied to remain.

The Architectural Record for December.

The Architectural Record for December will contain two articles of special interest to magazine readers: a critical study of Rembrandt, the painter and etcher, the master of light and shade, with allusions to some of his best works, and a short sketch of his life, all profusely illustrated, Mr. Kenyon Cox; and the Story of the Synagogue, by Prof. Abram S. Isaacs, of New York University, who opens by saying that "the story of the synagogue is practically the story of the Jewish people from the Babylonian Captivity through successive eras in their history in the East and West, with the alternate light and shade, to the nineteenth century of civil and religious liberty in nearly every land." Many of the most important synagogues of Europe, including the splendid one at Rome, only recently completed, are illustrated.

Other illustrated articles in this issue are a description of Converse Manor, the estate of Mr. E. C. Converse, the New York banker, at Greenwich, Conn.; a consideration of Mr. Livingston Jenks's house on Russian Hill, San Francisco. This house was saved from the conflagration following the earthquake largely through the owner's foresight, as explained in the article; and lastly a brief study of a picturesque and successful country house alteration, the house of Mr. Grafton St. L. Abbott, at Concord. Under "Notes and Comments" will be found the usual quota of current civic improvement topics.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the in-strument as filed.

November 9, 10, 12, 13, 14 and 15.

FOR SOME weeks it has been pointed out in this column that the stock market has acted as if it wanted to go up. Its action in the last ten days has more than justified that view. It must be very clear to everyone that were it not for the fear of stringent money rates a bull market, transcending all its predecessors, would now be witnessed on the New York Stock Exchange. Intrinsic values of all the standard stocks are greatly in excess of the market prices for the same. It may fairly be said that neither values nor the future are being discounted when it is recalled that St. Paul stock, when the railroad only earned $30,000,000 a year, sold at approximately 150, whereas this year the earnings will not be far from $70,000,000 and the stock is but 186. This comparison could be repeated indefinitely, and a like showing made with reference to nearly all the old line railroads. New York Central, for instance, five years ago sold at 175. Why, then, should it be 135, as it was a few days contemporary with the increase of value of real estate all about it. Almost the principal asset of a railway nowadays is its real estate, as witness the amount the Pennsylvania will have and has had to pay merely to enlarge its terminals. Yet here is the stock of a company, the New York Central, which has been steadily declining in price for five years, while its property has been steadily advancing in value and its business increasing up to its capacity to handle. That this price action of its shares will right itself is as certain as the day follows the night. The one fear in the situation is money. As was predicted in the Record and Guide a month ago, the shoe is beginning to pinch real estate badly, and we shall be fortunate indeed if we get through the year without a repetition of the fifty-seven varieties of rates witnessed in Wall Street last December. Barring that the way is clear for an advance all along the line in good stocks and bonds, one cannot go far wrong in purchasing now by anyone able to pay for or carry same without undue charges. The annual statement of the Bank of Montreal shows that this bank is lending in New York $10,000,000 less than a year ago. This is due, of course, to the great business activity in Canada, which enables the money to be more profitably loaned at home. It is conceivable that the combined Canada banks may be soon loaning $50,000,000 less in New York than a year ago, and if so it would account in some part for the present stringency, as it is in effect a contraction of our available credit. This view of the money market has never before appeared in print, and has not been taken by any financial writers.

IT IS very much to be hoped that the authorization of new rapid transit routes in Manhattan will not be delayed very much longer. There can be no doubt that the uncertainty as to how much and what kind of rapid transit Manhattan is going to get is the greatest single drag on the current development of the city. Two new bridges and three new tunnels to Long Island are actually under construction, and the same is true in respect to the various new tunnels to New Jersey. But in the meantime, while various new transit routes extending through Manhattan to the Bronx have been laid out, it is still uncertain how many and which of them will be authorized. Nobody can tell as yet whether the city will be able to reach an agreement with the Interborough-Metropolitan Company in respect to the early construction of one or more new routes, or whether no fair agreement will be possible, and the delay of planning and building a municipal subway system will have to be incurred. There is no way of getting rid of this uncertainty, for the city cannot afford to do merely what the rapid transit combination may want to do; but the condition is extremely regrettable, because there can be no doubt that the existing situation in respect to rapid transit has again become critical. The subway is as crowded during rush hours as the elevated roads used to be. It supplies a more efficient service to the part of the city which it taps, but there is much of the city to which it is of no advantage, and it is approaching the limit of its serviceability. Its value to the residents of the Bronx is very much diminished by the fact that its route is so circuitous, and by the fact that the express service for that borough does not run north of Ninety-sixth street station, while the building up of Washington Heights and the Dyckman tract will be very much hampered by the fact that it is not a four-track road in that vicinity. Neither the Bronx nor Washington Heights can develop freely under existing transit conditions, and during the next five years they will lose thousands of inhabitants for this reason. The truth is that the subway merely filled a vacancy which was already created and really did not provide for future development. Manhattan and the Bronx will have to pass through another period of at least five years in which its traveling accommodations will be wholly inadequate, and the worst of it is that there does not seem to be any practicable remedy for this condition.

Our Distressing Streets.

WE print this week another installment of "exhibits" showing the disgraceful condition into which our streets have fallen. No doubt there are "reasons," good, bad and indifferent, why the main thoroughfares of the metropolis of the Western Continent should present an appearance that we associate strictly with Constantinople or the decayed and decaying cities of the East. It seems to us quite incredible that the authorities can be at all cognizant of the extent of the dilapidation permitted in our streets. No part of the city has been spared. The poorer sections have always been abominably kept; now the ruin from pickaxe and spade is spread like blotches all over the face of the town. The evil has extended so insidiously that the citizen who curses the inconvenience and filth of his own daily route does not stop to think that the conditions that annoy and incommode him are equally prevalent elsewhere and have equally inflicted most other citizens.

The truth is, New York City to-day might well be dubbed "The City of Uncomfortable Locomotion." One need not even allude to the Subway. The nightly scenes thereon are not only disgraceful, but filthy. They are a positive challenge to our claim upon civilization. One could not ship hogs from Chicago in anything like the same way that one can ship human beings to Harlem. The elevated roads are only better than the Subway inasmuch as they are above ground and are able thereby to make a larger draft upon fresh air. The street car service, from the point of view of sanitation and decency, is a trifle better at times and in spots than the elevated road, but where and when the street cars are bad, by Jove! they are very bad.

The citizen, male or female, who did not wish to breathe the hundred times concentrated breath of other human beings, or be submitted to the indecent packing of body against body (men and women intermingled and interlaced), which must be tolerated by all who ride, could some time ago at least turn to the natural mode of locomotion for escape. But of all such comfort the aforesaid citizen is now deprived. Let any pedestrian take a walk from any of our ferries, say, to the City Hall. Let him note the conditions of the streets he has to traverse. Particularly, let him remark these thoroughfares in rainy weather, when the greasy mud is thick and the inequalities of surface are pools of slimy mud. Let him in dry weather note the little simoons of dust and manure that whirl into nose and eye. Let him count how many times in a distance much less than a mile he will be halted by obstructions, and how often he will be compelled to pass out into the driveway—that is, if he can get there—by climbing over obstructions, trenches, piping, conduits, cables, heaps of dirt, piles of paving blocks, to say nothing of the crates and other business impedimenta which merchants are permitted to dump and leave upon the sidewalk. The pedestrian should also remark on his way building operations and note that these are carried on with utter contempt and disregard of public convenience.

No doubt everybody grumbles about this situation. The private wail of complaint increases, but of what value is it unless people will really reach a determination to do away with it all? What is the use of organizing sanitary boards, with their rules and regulations, when the filthy scenes of the Subway go on from night to night? Why go into hysterics and crusades about a few indecent pictures when it has become practically impossible for a woman to travel in the security of real decency within the city limits? What sort of manners, what sort of feelings can possibly be the result of scenes such as are enacted nightly at Brooklyn Bridge and on thousands of Subway and Elevated cars? Does not the talk of municipal art societies become, by contrast, a sort of prattle when put in satirical juxtaposition with our filthy upheaved streets? How absurd it is to talk of municipal economy, of business efficiency, of even ordinary common sense, when our streets are literally newly paved on Monday, torn up within a week to permit some underground work, roughly hammered into passable shape by the following Monday, and then reopened three or four days later! This comedy of repairs, this financial extravaganza of "improvement" goes on in street after street, week after week. Yet we claim to be a people who see clear and think straight and have a sense of humor!

The Real Estate Market in Manhattan.

AFTER the experience of the past two months, the kind of real estate market which the brokers and property owners in Manhattan will enjoy during the current season becomes a tolerable certainty. For one thing, there will be considerable decrease in the actual number of transactions. The number of conveyances recorded during the fall has been noticeably smaller than it was during the corresponding weeks in 1905. In some weeks the decrease has run as high as 33 per cent. When the current year ends the total number of transfers placed on record during the twelve months will be less by some thousands than it was during the year 1905; and this will be a result which has not happened before since 1900. For a period of five years the volume of activity in Manhattan real estate has been constantly increasing, and no retrograde movement was observable until the summer of the present year. Inasmuch as business is still unusually prosperous, this is a remarkable fact which deserves special and careful consideration. Apparently, the tide of real estate activity in Manhattan has begun to recede before the tide of business activity. Why is this the case?

The true significance of the fact becomes apparent as soon as the source of this decreased activity is distinguished. There can be no doubt that it is due very largely to the decreased speculation in flats and tenement houses. The speculation in this class of property which had begun in 1903, and which has only recently culminated, was one of the most remarkable movements of real estate prices which has ever been witnessed. It was not confined to any one part of the borough, and it was not engineered by a group of wealthy capitalists. Its effects were felt in every part of Manhattan in which tenements had been or were being built, and the profits were distributed among many thousand small speculators and investors. It was the result of an actual and an inevitable change of conditions. From 1896 to 1902 the supply of tenement house accommodation all over the borough, with the exception of the lower East Side, had been running ahead of the demand, and the situation of the owners of tenement and apartment houses, particularly on the West Side and in Harlem, was not to be envied. The income from their properties was both small and precarious, and they were obliged to face a constant increase of tax bills and other expenses. The tide began to turn early in 1903. The new tenement house law availed to stop the erection of new tenements for the time being, and the action of this artificial condition coincided with that of certain natural conditions. The population of Manhattan had been increasing with more than its usual rapidity, transit facilities were temporarily improved, and business all over the borough was encroaching on the space formerly occupied for residential purposes. The consequence was not merely that a large demand sprang up for new tenement houses, but the old five-story tenements came suddenly to have an increased value. They were not only occupied to the limit, but the income they produced could be considerably increased by certain changes in their arrangement. During the three years of 1903, 1904 and 1905 almost every tenement house in the borough was sold (many of them several times), almost always at an increased price. In the meantime, however, immense numbers of new tenement houses were being erected, until finally, during the past summer, the supply began to run ahead of the demand. As soon as this occurred the speculation was bound to cease, and the decrease in the volume of transactions simply means that in this respect the real estate market of Manhattan has returned to a more normal condition.

That speculation was, however, based at bottom on the greatly increased pressure of population and business in Manhattan upon the available stock of real estate. It has not, we believe, been carried too far, and it will not be succeeded by any general reaction. Tenement house property in the older parts of the borough will never return to the condition which so generally prevailed in 1900. The gain is permanent and substantial. No doubt it cannot be pushed any further for many years to come, because the increased accessibility of the outlying boroughs will draw off an ever-increasing proportion of the population of the city, but neither will it be lost. The losses which will result from the recent overbuilding will fall almost entirely upon the builders and property owners interested in the newer sections, such as Washington Heights. They may and probably will have a year in which their tenement and apartment houses will be hard to rent and harder to sell, but this period will not last very long. The planning of new tenements in Manhattan has for the time being almost entirely ceased, and comparative inactivity during even one season will be sufficient to restore the balance. Every new district, such as Washington Heights, must pass through periods of somewhat acute depression until it no longer wears a raw and unsettled appearance, and until people become accustomed to living within its precincts.

So much for the reasons of the very considerable diminution in the volume of real estate transactions. The reaction, if reaction there is, has not as yet touched business property. Speculative and investment buying at the present time continues to show great vitality on the margin of the most active business districts. On all the streets and avenues south of Fifty-ninth street which will, during the next few years, be taken in by the tide of business increase, speculators and investors are gradually raising the level of values. Sixth avenue, from Twenty-third to Fifty-ninth street, which is certainly destined to be a still more important business thoroughfare, is receiving a great deal of attention. The same is true of Seventh avenue, from Twenty-third to Forty-second street. The side streets to the east and west of Fifth avenue continue to profit from the overflow of Fifth avenue business. In the financial district the streets to the west of Broadway demand and receive most attention. Four enormous improvements—that of the City Investing Company, in Cortlandt street; that of the Tunnel Company, in Church street; the new office buildings in West and in Rector streets—are now under way, and when they are completed and occupied the map of this whole section will be changed. These business developments along the lines plainly marked out by the existing business expansion of Manhattan will keep large speculators busy for an indefinite period and will give strength and activity to the market. Whatever changes may take place during the next ten or fifteen years in the value of residential property in Manhattan, there can be no doubt that little by little the central ridge of the island, the whole district between Eighth avenue and Fourth avenue, will be gradually submerged by an irresistible tide of industrial and commercial growth. A purchase in any of the less expensive parts of this area is a sure source of profit, because this district will be the business center for a city which is increasing in population at the rate of not far from 150,000 a year. Every five years New York will add more than a St. Louis to her wealth and inhabitants, and every ten years a city bigger than Philadelphia. With such a volume of business and such an increase in population to take care of, every centrally situated piece of property in Manhattan is bound to be needed for important and lucrative business purposes.

IN NO year since 1883 have the property losses by fire in the United States fallen below $100,000,000. Most years during that period have they exceeded $150,000,000. In 1904 they were over $200,000,000, and in this year it is estimated will be between $300,000,000 and $350,000,000. The largest share of these fire losses fall, of course, upon the large cities, and of these New York appears to be the only one which reverses the plan of locking the stable-door after the horse has escaped. New York is preparing, through the installation of its new salt-water service and by other means, to provide against a serious conflagration. Of the six big cities of the United States—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston and Baltimore—three have had devastating fires; the other three have not in recent years. The Chicago fire started on October 7, 1871, and involved the loss of 250 lives and the destruction of property valued at $198,000,000. It devastated an area of 2,000 acres. The Boston fire was on November 9, 1872, and in twenty-four hours did damage to the wholesale district in that city to the amount of $75,000,000, spreading over sixty acres, but entailing no loss of life. The Baltimore fire broke out on February 7, 1904, and involved the destruction of 1,300 buildings and property to the value of $125,000,000. It burned over 140 acres of land. Chicago, Boston and Baltimore, the three cities which have suffered most in recent years from serious fires, have provided, respectively, $2,500,000, $2,400,000 and $750,000 in fire station houses, engines and material and appliances for fighting fire. New York, which has had no great fire for many years, has $7,000,000 invested in like appliances, and is constantly and intelligently increasing the means of fire fighting.

Lower Interest Rates Coming.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Regarding the mortgage situation, you may persuade a man or a corporation of error, but you seldom can club him or it into acquiescence. When all forms of security demand high interest it shows an excessive demand for money. We do not need more money; we do need it in easier, more elastic form; even then the demand from all of good credit is abnormally large. Real estate must suffer, or rather not expand too fast, with the rest. That the companies and loaning agencies as a whole are making an error is a prophecy, not a fact. They know their money is very profitably in demand for securities that give them an opportunity to get it back quickly. Should other and better chances arise, they are in command of a situation. Sometimes situations change and events may dominate men, and for fear of that a good cash or bond reserve as an anchor to windward is eminently to be desired, even by the real estate broker, on general principles.

The money that has begun to flow into real estate now is not going to stop, as corporations of all kinds are coming on stormy days, and while not the seventh son of a seventh son, one can well see that mortgage interest one year from this date, probably, will be appreciably lower; and if the corporations have not loaned out good sums for long terms at high rates on real estate, then they will suffer and the real estate owner reap his own reward in a lowered interest rate. Personally, I do not think corporations discriminate against real estate any more than real estate should be discriminated against under inflated conditions. Those loaners who are daring and of good judgment can reap exceeding great reward by placing money freely on real estate under present conditions. Luckily for us all, that combination inures to a few only, and the general situation is conserved and made safe.

Delays on Bronx Transportation Lines.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

This week a man who intended to ride from 169th to 177th st (and 3d av) via Southern boulevard, waited at the corner twenty minutes for a surface car. None coming, a subway train was patronized. No further delay was experienced until within a few feet of the 177th st station, when another holdup of ten minutes was experienced before the cars drew into the depot; descending to the street, a third wait of ten minutes more had to be endured before a cross-town car arrived. When the terminus was reached, 55 minutes had been consumed by delays and traveling, which should have been done in about a quarter of an hour. The management of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company is faulty in more ways than one. Firstly, by countenancing a system which permits its trains to skip stations without previous notice to the passengers, while in other instances the vocabulary of some of the guards is so conglomerated that no one knows what he is talking about, and perhaps not he.

—Nearly all of the pressed brick manufacturers of the country have been running their factories night and day to keep up with their orders. The output of architectural terra cotta has nearly doubled. Burnt clay fireproofing plants are doing more business than ever before in the history of this industry. Single factories are now producing as many enameled bricks as put forth by all of the factories combined a few years ago.

Quarterly Report of the Tenement House Department.

Commissioner Butler's report for the Tenement House Department shows by a number of tabulations the following status of affairs:

A slight decrease in the number of violations filed, from the preceding quarter. The number of violations filed about equals the number of dismissals and cancellations, showing that the Department is now able to secure prompt compliance with orders issued.

Compared with the preceding quarter the last quarter shows a relative increase of structural orders, such as placing new skylights, scuttles, providing glass panels in hall doors, cutting windows in dark interior rooms, providing water closets, removing school sinks, etc. Of the latter class of orders, 660 were issued during the last quarter, as compared with 160 during the preceding quarter.

The work actually accomplished in dismissed violations, presents a similar increase over the preceding quarter in structural orders. Nearly 11,000 fire escapes were provided or repaired, as against 8,861 in the preceding quarter; 1,889 windows were cut into dark interior rooms as against 959 the preceding quarter; 648 school sinks were removed as compared with 272, and 4,240 new water closets were provided, as compared with 2,163.

A tabulation shows an increase of complaints with reference to uncleanly conditions, dampness, drainage, improper disposition of garbage and ashes, defective plumbing, defective or foul water closets, and an especially great increase in complaints as to water supply, over the preceding quarter. These increases are presumably due to the season of the year, as the period covers the summer months. On the other hand, a decrease in complaints about chimneys, danger from fire, and lighting and ventilation of halls, is shown. During the quarter 185 buildings were reported for vacation as against 241 in the preceding quarter.

Plans for new buildings were filed between July 1 and Sept. 30 and in force the latter date as follows:

	Houses.	Est. Cost.
Manhattan	160	$9,949,000.00
The Bronx	103	3,415,500.00
Brooklyn	762	8,843,550.00
Queens	109	819,000.00
Richmond	2	13,500.00

New York City 1,136 $23,040,550.00

The average cost per building of the above was as follows:

Manhattan	$62,138.00
The Bronx	33,160.00
Brooklyn	11,606.00
Queens	7,514.00
Richmond	6,750.00

Alteration plans for the quarter were filed as follows:

	Houses.	Estimated cost.
Manhattan	753	$1,218,255.00
The Bronx.....	40	18,211.00
Brooklyn	488	182,614.50
Queens	16	7,428.00
Richmond	—	—

New York City..... 1,297 $1,426,508.50

This shows a decrease from the preceding quarter of 472 buildings to be altered, with a decreased total cost of $723,646.50.

Where the Equitable's Money Is Going.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Investments in mortgages to the extent of $10,000,000 may be placed in Pittsburgh on downtown property during the next few months, thus increasing the holdings of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in the Pittsburgh district to $20,000,000. Judge William A. Day, financial vice-president and controller of the company, will be in this city on next Friday for the purpose of looking over a number of properties and making a close study of property values in the downtown district, which have been boomed to such a great extent during the past few years. The New York offices of the Equitable have in the neighborhood of $10,000,000, all to be loaned on first mortgages and according to the local offices, Pittsburgh property, next to New York, is considered the best for investment in the country. The Equitable recently placed a loan of $400,000 on a downtown office building, making its loan on mortgages here between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000. If Judge Day is satisfied with the properties which he has in view here, much of the remaining $10,000,000 will be loaned on Pittsburgh property.

Judge Day will arrive in Pittsburgh on Friday morning and will be a guest of the Duquesne Club. During the day he will be shown over the city by a number of real estate men of Pittsburgh and Edward A. Woods, the local manager of the Equitable. He will remain here for several days for the purpose of getting a general idea of the downtown property values, the placing of the $10,000,000, or a big portion of it, depending upon his recommendations.

Widening of Fifth Avenue Probable

And the Relation Which the Suit of the Knickerbocker Trust Company Bears to the General Scheme

AFTER many years of informal discussion, the proposal to widen the carriageway on 5th av seems about to be carried into effect. Reassured by the most recent decision from the courts, the Corporation Counsel has recently issued what is considered as "a warning" to the owners of the abutting property that the door yard spaces which they and their predecessors have been using for many years will presently be required of them, and in consequence more interest is being taken in the case at this present time than at any previous stage. Commonly the action of the City of New York against the Knickerbocker Trust Company is spoken of as the test case upon which the whole question as to whether the roadway will be widened or not depends. But in reality the matter of the trust company has a basis different from any other proposition on the avenue, and for certain reasons which may by the courts be determined to be legal, and by public opinion as wise and just, there may be entered an exception to the general order favorable to this piece of property in the particular suit in hand.

It appears from the papers in the case, which for the plaintiff have been prepared by Assistant Corporation Counsel O'Reilly, and for the defendant by Julian T. Davies, Jr., of Davies, Stone & Auerbach, that on March 12, 1832, the city gave the proprietors of lots on 5th av, between 6th st and 21st st, permission to enclose a court fifteen feet wide with an open iron railing in front of their lots on each side of the avenue, the gates of which should swing inside, and to place the curbstone thirty feet from the line of the avenue on each side, leaving a carriageway forty feet wide,—and fifteen feet for a court space and fifteen feet for a sidewalk on each side. "PROVIDED, however, that if the said courts shall hereafter in the opinion of the Common Council be required for streets, the same shall be thrown open for streets." In 1844 a similar rule was laid down for the section between 23d and 42d sts. Apparently, then, the only condition precedent to any right on the part of the city to take possession of the court spaces and cause the removal of all obstructions within is simply to have the Common Council (now the Board of Alderman) express its opinion, that such space is required for streets.

In the case of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, the denials of the defendant raise no issue as to the material facts. They admit constructing at the northwest corner of 5th av and 34th st stone steps which appropriate, approximately, one-half of the sidewalk of each street, but deny that the obstructions they have erected are in violation of the city ordinances, are unauthorized and in violation of the laws of the State, for the reason that the Common Council passed a resolution in 1901 which gave (or "attempted to give," as the plaintiff says) the trust company the right to "erect and maintain porticos in front of their building." The city now contends, and the courts have thus far held, that the Common Council or Municipal Assembly never possessed the power to pass this ordinance; and, moreover, that the illegality of the ordinances of 1832 and 1844 has been fully established. (Lawrence vs. the Mayor, 2 Barb. 577, decided in 1848, etc.)

It is not claimed that the ordinance of 1901 gives the trust company any permanent rights, but that it is not in good faith on the part of the city to attempt to remove these very structures by such a suit as this, and in the absence of any action by the Municipal Assembly. When the defendant took title to the premises, there stood the Stewart mansion. Not only had Mr. Stewart availed himself of the protection of the ordinances of 1832 and 1844, but numbers of his neighbors had done the like; and the trust company in its continued occupation of the same space as embraced by the court yard, claims the protection of the same ordinances.

When the Knickerbocker Trust case is analyzed, it resolves itself into nothing more than a suit to restrain the violation of an ordinance. Certain ordinances allow areas and steps of certain dimensions, and the company has built steps of other dimensions, and so far as the defendant in the construction of its steps and portico has exceeded the dimensions permitted, the city now prays that defendant be compelled to reduce its steps and areas to such authorized dimensions. In other words, that the defendant be restrained from violating the said ordinances in its maintenance of so much of an area and steps as exceed the authorized dimensions.

It is apparent, then, from the nature of the action against the Knickerbocker Trust Company that the other owners of abutting property will not accept a decision in the case in favor of the city as also determining the right of the city to take possession of all court spaces and remove all obstructions therefrom. No official notice that these spaces will be required for street purposes has yet been served, but the Corporation Counsel is having surveys made of the buildings between 23d and 59th sts which encroach upon the street, and when these surveys are completed action by the Board of Alderman and formal notices to individual property owners may be expected, presuming that it is really the intention of the authorities to widen the carriageway. For the Knickerbocker Trust it is stated by counsel that the company is not opposing any general scheme of widening which the city may have, but objects to being singled out as a defendant when practically all the property on the thoroughfare is affected.

[On the first section of the surveys in the office of the Corporation Counsel practically every building from 32d to 36th st is depicted as encroaching on the public highway. The surveyor plots the new store of B. Altman & Co. as having four of its columns and its front entrance four feet beyond the building line. The new building on the southeast corner of 5th av and 34th st has on the ground floor the jewelry store of Chester Billings & Son, the show windows of which are alleged to be three feet on the sidewalk.]

Long Island Real Estate Exchange.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS—TO RECONVENE REAL ESTATE CONVENTION DEC.
11—A HOME BUILDERS' EXHIBITION IN SEPTEMBER.

When the Board of Governors of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange sat down to their first luncheon at Shanley's on last Tuesday they found every member present but two. It was not so much the luncheon, however, that attracted their attendance. Undoubtedly, the two important questions which were to be considered, according to the notice that was sent out, brought the governors there in full force. Those two questions were the reconvening of the realty convention on Dec. 11, 1906, and the arrangements for the home builders' exhibition which it is contemplated to hold at Madison Square Garden in September, 1907. Both questions received extended discussion during the course of the dinner.

The recalling of the convention was decided on in response to a general demand, based on the ground that the September convention did not afford adequate opportunity for discussion. It has even been charged by certain real estate operators that the debate at the convention was intentionally cut off to prevent criticism of the Long Island Railroad Company for maintaining its system of high rates. To disarm the public suspicion that the new exchange is working in league with the railroad interests and against those of the real estate men, the Board of Governors have decided to call the convention together and allow full freedom of speech to every person present, regardless of whether he is a member or not. At this meeting there will be no lengthy papers read, as at the first convention. After the few preliminary reports from the standing committees of the Board are received—and they will all be very brief—the rest of the time of the convention will be entirely devoted to debate. The session is to begin at 1 o'clock, and will continue until the last speaker who may demand the privileges of the floor has had his full say. It was reported to the governors that the report of the September convention, in pamphlet form, will soon be ready for distribution.

The question of holding a home builders' exhibition was referred to a special committee of the Board. It was practically agreed that the exhibition should be held, and would have been ordered for the spring of the year had it not been for the fact that the Madison Square Garden cannot be had until the month of September. As it is, the exhibition will undoubtedly be ordered for that month.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Paris, McKnight, Richenstein, Ryan and Kempner reported a plan whereby the exchange will undertake to guard the public against unscrupulous real estate dealers. The particulars of the plan will be made public at the December convention.

The permanent location of the exchange headquarters was expected to arouse a considerable divergence of views, but, to the general surprise of the assemblage, when Mr. H. P. Engelhardt moved that the exchange locate in Manhattan, there was not a vote in opposition. President Kempner appointed a committee, with power, to select suitable headquarters in the vicinity of the new Pennsylvania depot in Manhattan.

Twenty-one new members were elected, making the total membership 116. The constitution of the exchange provides that when the membership reaches 200 an initiation fee must be charged.

The next meeting of the governors is to be held at Shanley's restaurant on Dec. 4. For the present the exchange is still located at the corner of Myrtle and Hamburg avs, Brooklyn.

Statistics of Mortgage Loans.

For a considerable period of years, beginning noticeably in 1893, money was in limited demand for commercial purposes, and rates were low, while at the present time the opposite is the prevailing condition. Disastrous as it was, the panic of 1893 brought to light the fact that the wealth of the country had grown enormously, and that the reserves of capital were greater than any one had previously estimated. These reserves coming to the depositories in large cities, as a consequence of lost confidence and a limited commercial demand in the country as a whole, and needing to be employed in some way,*and in part permanently, the security and income from city realty investments were eagerly sought for these large accumulations, which brought about a lower interest rate than formerly prevailed for real estate loans.

Following the panic year of 1893 came one of sharp contraction, though the percentage of decrease, 8.5, will not appear large to those who have vivid recollections of the state of business generally in 1894, and more particularly the utter lack of confidence in all business enterprises. It was while this feeling was most apparent that money ran in large streams to New York, and this irruption of detached funds explained the large increase in mortgage loans in the succeeding year of $42,445,592, or 27 per cent. Compared with 1893 this increase was about $28,000,000, or 17 per cent. A considerable portion of this increase, it is true, can be accounted for by an unusually large number of renewals of mortgages made in 1895, a process which also contributed to the increase of totals in succeeding years. But these renewals themselves were made because the times were propitious and money could be obtained at easier rates than when the original mortgages were executed.

From the year 1894, then, until 1900, there was an annual increase in the amount of money loaned on real estate in New York City (Manhattan and the Bronx) up to the year 1900. Particularly was there a remarkable rise in the year 1899, following the war with Spain, and signaling the entrance of the era of good times, which has continued until now. The year 1898, in our view, marked the return of normal circumstances in business, and 1899 the beginning of good times for the whole country. Local matters, in the form of the agitation for and enactment of the new Tenement House Laws, interfered with speculative building seriously in the years of 1900 and 1901, and normal business in real estate and building had scarcely returned when the great Labor War broke out and continued all through the year 1903, and for several months quite paralyzed every kind of building operations. This unpleasantness was succeeded by the wonderful "boom" in real estate which began in the summer of 1904 and culminated this present year. This is the story told by the table annexed:

Meeting of the Acmy Club.

The Acmy Real Estate Club held its second dinner at Reisenweber's on Monday, the 19th, with Mr. Joseph M. Harson presiding at the festal board. Hon. Otto Kempner, the president of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange, was the guest and speaker of the evening. The Acmy Club is avowedly a group of young real estate men whose mission in life is to agitate. This policy of attacking existing shortcomings in the real estate situation, carried on by a group of energetic young men, promises excellent results, and is a most wholesome symptom of the future of New York real estate. The subject under discussion for the evening was the Long Island Real Estate Exchange.

Mr. Kempner spoke in part as follows:
"I am pleased to appear before you to tell briefly the story of the recent convention of Long Island realty men. The widespread interest aroused by the formation of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange clearly indicates that the movement for its organization was sprung at an opportune moment. Long Island stands at the threshold of an era of wonderful activity and development. Its growing importance as a field for realty speculation is attracting the attention of capitalists in every section of the United States. In view of this awakening, it seemed but logical that the men engaged in the realty industry on Long Island should seek by united action to advance their professional interests. With that object in mind they called a convention, which was held last September. It was largely attended and was highly successful from every standpoint.

"The programme of the convention provided a series of papers by educated experts in the real estate profession. These papers taken collectively covered every phase of the Long Island land-investing problem, and I venture to assert they covered that subject ably and exhaustively. It may be of interest to state that the papers will soon be published in pamphlet form. The underlying purposes of the organizers of the Exchange were pointedly expressed in the report of the committee on organization:

"We find that within recent years, and owing to the projected improvements in transit facilities on Long Island, the values of Long Island property have been enhanced, and that the realty industry has in consequence grown to be of great importance. In order to provide the proper safeguards that will tend to maintain public confidence in the future development of Long Island real estate, we deem it necessary to establish an association which will jealously guard the interests of Long Island property dealers, by discountenancing dishonest practices, and which will endeavor to oppose and destroy unscrupulous land speculators and improvement companies habitually guilty of sharp practice. If a successful campaign could be waged against the dishonest men in the realty business it would be in itself a sufficient object for the formation of an organization, but there are other and equally important purposes to be pursued which justify the bringing together of the realty men of Long Island.

"An association of realty men, properly directed, could be systematically engaged in pointing out to intending settlers, home seekers and business men the exceptional advantages offered by locating on Long Island; it could maintain a central headquarters for the dissemination of information regarding the different sections of the island; it could be instrumental by maintaining a labor bureau and acting in a co-operation with the owners of large farms, in securing an abundant supply of farm workers on a reasonable basis of compensation; it could be of great service in agitating and promoting the introduction of a comprehensive plan of public improvements; it could exercise its power and influence to induce the transportation companies to comply with the essential requirements of a convenient and necessary public traffic; it could exert its strength in forcing public officials to pay heed to the requirements of the different towns and localities as to the expenditure of public funds for appropriate and needed public improvements; it could be instrumental in a variety of ways in helping the realty men of Long Island to transact business more economically, expeditiously, safely and advantageously."

In closing Mr. Kempner said: "The indications are that the Exchange has a wide and useful field of operation ahead of it, and that its mission will be to lead the real estate industry of Long Island along safe and sane lines. The convention will reconvene on December 11, 1906, where reports will be submitted of the work thus far achieved. It is hoped that every wide-awake Long Island operator will grace the occasion with his presence and active interest."

At the close of Mr. Kempner's talk the meeting was declared open to discussion and questions, and Messrs. E. O. Mcfarland, of the McCormick Realty Co., and Roland C. Lee, of the Record and Guide, were called on for a few expressions of opinion regarding the subject of the evening. In Mr. Mcfarland's opinion the rise in Long Island values was by no means over. Mr. Lee pointed out that the real estate man's greatest protection lay in organization; that the broker of to-day was not an Ishmaelite, but should be a gregarious animal. The New York Stock Exchange was a power in business because of organization, and the brokers' protection against the underhanded methods was to do his work as much as possible in the open. Two extremely healthy signs of business were instanced in the greater demand for office records, and the use of the auction business.

At the close of the speaking the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Arthur Truslow, president; Chas. J. Harvey, vice-president; Geo. A. Haynes, secretary; William Moran, treasurer; Messrs. E. A. Treadwell, Goldberg and Clear, executive committee.

At the next dinner Auctioneering will be discussed.

Country Estate for Charles Klein.

D. Bennett Soman, in conjunction with William B. Davis Co., sold to Charles Klein, the author of the Lion and the Mouse, the Music Master, and Daughters of Men, the country estate of Theophile Euphrate, known as "Prospect Hill," in Rowayton, Conn. The grounds contain approximately about seven acres, and Mr. Klein is having the house, stable and grounds extensively overhauled and renovated. It will then be called "Shirley Manor."

Obstructions in the Streets.

(With Illustrations.)

This week the Record and Guide extends the area of observation and pictures a few of the many cumulative evidences of the unbearable condition of our avenues and streets. The area as yet under special observation is comparatively small, but very important in its relation to real estate, business houses and traffic. The offenses are appalling in number. Their character is dangerous, deleterious, provocative of curses loud and deep, and warrants, not criticism any longer, but a challenge to the offenders to show cause or pay penalties.

Note the ditch opened in 5th av, the length of many blocks, months ago; now filled with miry clay, nor capped with any apology for repairs. Note the ditches opened on nearly all the streets branching east and west, now filled, but covered with a ridge of Belgian blocks rudely laid. This has been the condition for months—a ruinous, apologetic condition of repair that has no promise of betterment, for winter is nigh at hand.

Note, in bewilderment, the countless breaks in the asphalt pavement within this same area. And these breaks, worn to deep, dangerous holes, can have no possible excuse for their long continuance and daily increase—and winter is coming on!

Note the beds of black mud, considerable morasses that must bring burning blushes to passing citizens possessed of pride,—prohibitive to private carriages, demoralizing to delivery wagons and trucks, incalculably harmful to business houses in their neighborhood, e. g., 19th st, between 5th av and Broadway.

Note the amazing number of trenches and bottomless pits simultaneously opened all over the area under present observation, to say nothing of consequent heaps and lines of debris, harmful in a dozen ways. And winter is surely closing in on the city.

No city in the country is disgraced by comparative conditions.

No city in Europe would tolerate the hundredth part of the conditions so long prevailing here. Vienna, Berlin, Paris, London, many of us know much about, and in no one of them have we ever seen conditions that could suggest the plague of uprooting, temporary repairs, and absolutely inexcusable breaks and blotches in streets such as has visited our city the whole past season.

No business house with a millionth part of the values under consideration would have periled its existence by such like faultiness in administration and supervision.

The public patience is exhausted. Befouled foot gear, splashed vehicles, snapped springs and utterly broken down trucks, prohibited passages and approaches, forcibly boycotted business houses and hosts of shops made odious of approach. These and many other just counts in the public's arraignment call for a trial and redress by judgment.

This business of the streets is no business. 'Tis something else—we reserve our statement. But the offences are multifarious, multitudinous; they are "rank and smell to heaven."

Subway Bids To Be Advertised for in January.

The specifications are ready for the fifty miles of subway, to be dug at an expense of $125,000,000. These have been in the hands of the Board of Estimate for more than half a year, and the president of the Rapid Transit Commission wanted to know this week if the plans were to be indefinitely postponed and the work of the engineers in surveying and boring go for nothing.

Chief Engineer Rice said that the advertising for bids on the $125,000,000 work would not be later than Jan. 15.

President Orr made it evident that he and other members disapproved of the delay of the Board of Estimate in passing on the plans of the Rapid Transit Commission for 3d, Lexington, 7th and 8th av subways, together with what is called the "Coler Route," from Pelham Bay Park down 3d av and under the river to Coney Island.

Controller Metz said that the Rapid Transit Commission should take up the question of a third track on the 2d and 3d av railroads. He said that it was time for some action on this matter. Mr. Orr replied that the matter had been killed before by the Rapid Transit Commission. At past meetings of the committee there has been shown a hostile disposition toward the proposition, members expressing themselves as of the opinion that the third track on these roads would quiet agitation for subways by temporarily bettering the service.

BUILDING NOTES

The Magneta Company has moved both office and factory and is now located at 120-122 West 31st st. Telephone 2663 Madison. "Rugs Made to Order" is the name of an illustrated booklet sent free on request by the Persian Rug Manufactory, 896 Broadway.

The annual banquet of the New York Lumber Trade Association is to be held in celebration of its twentieth anniversary on January 22.

H. Van Atta, of The J. L. Mott Iron Works, Mott Haven, N. Y., has associated himself with George K. Hooper, mechanical engineer, 11 Broadway.

The use of roofing tiles has grown far beyond the experimental stage, and is a thriving, growing business, while one need only follow the illustrations in the architectural magazines to appreciate how rapidly faience for both interior and exterior work has grown in favor among the best architects in the country.

The firm of Peet, McAnerney & Powers, electrical engineers and contractors, 113 East 22d st, has been dissolved by mutual consent. The business of the late firm will be conducted by William Creighton Peet and Walter Hayward Powers under the firm name of Peet & Powers, who have assumed all contracts and obligations of the late firm of Peet, McAnerney & Powers.

Baldwin Bros., makers of fine hand-tooled leather, for ten years at 5th av and 39th st, have moved to their new studio and show rooms, at 15 West 45th st. The excellence of the work done by this firm is shown by the fact that gold medals were awarded them at Paris in 1900 and at St. Louis in 1904. They make a specialty of fine reproductions of Spanish pieces of the highest artistic excellence.

The Mitchell Vance Company, makers and importers of artistic electric and gas lighting fixtures, announce the completion and re-occupancy of their salesrooms 836-838 Broadway and 13th st, which was damaged by fire last February. An entirely new stock of lighting fixtures and andirons in artistic modern designs, suitable for every requirement, displayed under attractive conditions, is offered for inspection.

An authority on building materials has made an investigation to determine if, as generally claimed by many advocates of reinforced concrete construction, concrete has superseded burnt clay in modern building operations. The investigation covered current building operations in many States, and the facts gathered show that as yet concrete has made no inroads on the demand for bricks, tiles and other burnt clay materials.

State's Share of Recording Tax $2,000,000.

The State of New York received in October a total of $335,758 under the new mortgage recording-tax law. This sum exceeded the receipts for the first month, which was September, by $39,668. Taking the above figures as a basis of computation the total taxes for the year would equal $3,686,000, and may even reach the $4,000,000 mark. On the latter basis the State will receive at least $2,000,000 for its share.

The New Haven's Plans.

There appears to be little ground for the belief which exists among a few operators that the recent purchases on the south side of 32nd street between 6th and 7th avs, were made in the interests of the New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R. It is not generally credited that this railroad is likely to select a location in that vicinity for a Manhattan terminal, even though it should conclude an arrangement with the Pennsylvania system by which it could operate over the lines of the latter company. On the contrary, it is thought by a majority that a more suitable location for their depot, if one is to be built, would be further toward the eastern part of the borough, and nearer 5th avenue; and some substantiation for this conjecture is supplied by the many rumors that have been current, to the effect that the New Haven people were negotiating for the purchase of the old Fourth avenue car barns.

Then, too, a statement was made this week by a well-known broker, that while making investigations as to the effect the tunnel borings might have on a certain property in the 42d street section, he had the opportunity of looking at an engineering map in the office of a certain contracting and engineering firm, and was surprised to note that the word "Suburban" was printed across the plot on which the Fourth avenue car barns stand. "But before I could make out the rather blurred words which followed," he said, "the map was rolled up and I saw nothing further."

This incident is regarded as significant, and corroborates the belief held by many that the barns will be used by the New Haven road for its suburban passenger service.

Mayor Wants a Bridge Loop.

A conference of experts in regard to Brooklyn Bridge terminal plans, for the New York side, will be held next Monday. The Mayor made it plain this week that he is very desirous of some definite result from all the plans for relief, and that he favors the construction of a loop in and around Tryon row and City Hall Park for the expediting of surface car transit, and probably of bridge elevated trains as well. In two months' time the city can take title to all the property in the three triangles which will be needed by the loop.

LATER.—Work on the new terminal loop will begin in ninety days, as the Board of Estimate has ordered that title be taken to the Staats-Zeitung and additional blocks before Dec. 24.

Madison Avenue Waking Up.

While talking with Mr. Wolff, of the firm of Lawrence & Wolff, of 579 Madison av, he said regarding values on this avenue, that real estate in the vicinity of 46th st had quadrupled in price during the past eighteen months. The reason for this increase was because the avenue is waking up to a sense of its importance. If the present restrictions were removed, leaving the properties open for divers improvements, he believed it would soon fully equal if not surpass 5th av as a business thoroughfare. The valuations being far less, it would be possible for the smaller merchants to carry on trade without giving all their profits for rent. Prices were said to have doubled in the fifties and sixties, in side streets, since fifteen years ago. The neighborhood still holds on to its old families, there being many owners who were not inclined to sell, consequently it was difficult to quote just what these holdings could bring. Values in proximity of Park and Lexington avs had approximately doubled within two years.

The Watson estate, which abuts the roadbed of the Harlem division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad on the south, also being in proximity with the West Farms station, has not been sold, excepting a strip which was purchased by the railroad company named for the purpose of six-tracking the system; although it was stated by Mr. Warren, at the office of Warren & Skillin, 96 Broadway, who are agents for the property, that a contract was drawn up for the sale of 91 acres a few months ago; but owing to one who was abroad at the time whose signature was needed, the deal fell through.

This beautiful estate, with its massive brownstone mansion, has been tenanted by servants who for many years were in the employ of the family of the late Wm. Watson, "a dry goods importer." Mr. Watson died in 1877, and the family continued to occupy the house up to a few years ago. The eldest surviving son, Robt. C. Watson, died Nov. 20, 1906. The premises were rented up to recently by the Westchester Golf Club, but the property is now vacant, except for the caretakers.

This is one of the largest tracts of land remaining intact in the Borough of the Bronx, covering an area of about 325 acres, which is held at $3,250,000 for the entire holdings, or it can be sub-divided into smaller plots at about $15,000 an acre, and the owners would consider taking back a mortgage upon the sale of the property. Wm. Waldorf Astor owns 141 acres adjoining, and also 22 acres nearby.

Board of Brokers Elect New Governors.

At the annual election of the Real Estate Board of Brokers, held Tuesday, F. R. Wood, Edward L. King and Edwin H. Hess were elected governors, to serve for three years.

The Nominating Committee for 1907 will be made up of Wright Barclay, Irving Ruland, Joseph P. Day, F. D. Kalley and Walter Stabler.

The members of the Auditing Committee will be Louis Schrag, H. P. Young and E. De Forest Simmons.

The following addition to Article VIII., Section 1, of the constitution of the board was unanimously adopted:

A Brokerage Claims Committee shall be appointed, consisting of one member of the Board of Governors and four members at large, whose duties shall be to endeavor to settle disputes between members and others in cases where members of the board are unable to collect commissions claimed to be due. This committee shall have power to hear both sides of the question in dispute and endeavor to settle it without suit, but in case of failure to settle the committee shall, if considered advisable by it, bring suit in the name of the board through its attorney. The committee shall have power to make rules to govern its proceedings, which rules shall be approved by the Board of Governors. The members of the committee shall serve without compensation.

Affairs on Washington Heights.

Mr. A. B. Mosher, of the firm of A. B. Mosher & Co., who has an office at 524 West 145th st, in speaking of the mortgage market, said that he had made application for permanent loans on property in this block, but discovered that instead of paying 2 per cent. and disbursements as formerly, the fee had been raised to an equivalent of 3 per cent. This is one of the best blocks on Washington Heights, being in proximity with the subway station and various lines of communication. The dividing line on the part of the companies loaning money is at 125th st. As a consequence of these conditions ten houses under the management of this firm are carried free and clear. A mortgage of $70,000 at the rate of 5 per cent. interest was obtained last June on a building in this street, although $60,000 cannot be raised now on its duplicate adjoining. Relief, it is believed, will come shortly, after the first of the approaching new year if not, it simply means that these houses will continue on without aid from that source.

Renting is good on this block, there being mostly, if not all, new-law houses, having all improvements excepting elevators, which average about $6 a room per month, while old-law houses are getting from $4.50 to $5. Single stores run from $50 to $75 a month, the more expensive are nearer Amsterdam av. Five out of eight stores have been rented since August.

Municipal Art.

SUGGESTIONS FROM BRONX COMMITTEE TO THE MUNICIPAL ART SOCIETY.

Mr. Albert E. Davis, chairman of the Bronx Committee of the Municipal Art Society, has submitted to the City Plan Committee of that society a report, in which are contained a number of important suggestions for improving the districts of Morrisania and Chester.

Mr. Davis favors the acquirement of sites for small parks in advance of the arrival of population. Mulberry Bend Park, of 2.75 acres, costing the city $1,522,055.60; Hamilton Fish Park, 3.67 acres, costing $1,719,455, and William H. Seward Park, 2.65 acres, costing $1,811,127, are examples, he says, of the extravagance of waiting until a city is built up before acquiring breathing spaces. The land for Central Park, which contains 839.921 acres, cost but $5,028,844.10. The report continues:

"Parks at the main railway stations in the borough would attract newcomers, and be a constant source of pleasure to daily travelers. In one or two instances there are such parks.

"The idea of connecting city parks by a series of parkways is being extensively carried out in progressive communities. A plan which has been proposed for the westerly section of the borough is the widening to 100 feet and the conversion of Sedgwick avenue, from Central Bridge to Van Cortlandt Park, into a parkway with oval grass plots and flower beds in the centre and trees along the curb. The avenue is already a public thoroughfare and comparatively little developed, and runs through a very picturesque section, on the high ground parallel to the Harlem River.

"An unsatisfactory condition of affairs is presented in the case of Crotona Parkway, connecting Crotona and Bronx parks, which parkway has been made by the widening of the Southern Boulevard. The easterly or added side of it is under the Park Department, with lawns, trees, macadamized road and a wide asphalt walk, whereas the westerly side, which is under the jurisdiction of the borough officials, is neglected. The entire parkway should be under the Park Department.

"The principal landmark of the District of Morrisania is the Morris High School. The entrance to this imposing structure is situated on a narrow side street (One Hundred and Sixty-sixth street), so that it is impossible to obtain a good view of the building. The widening of this street would be a desirable improvement; or, better still, the acquirement of the two blocks south of the school as park area.

"Another very desirable improvement would be the continuation of the Bronx and Pelham Parkway through Bronx Park to Fordham Bridge at the Harlem River."

DISTRICTS OF CHESTER.

Probably in nowhere else in the city is there a better opportunity for laying out a model city plan as in the Chester district, in the opinion of Chairman Davis. The adopted street plan consists of a patchwork of layouts.

The New York City Improvement Commission gave a hearing in the Borough of The Bronx on July 27, 1904, at which the importance of correct planning of the District of Chester was urged. Two years have elapsed, and, although a number of excellent suggestions for The Bronx have been made by the Commission, it has not yet taken any action on the map question, and two years' delay, as The Bronx develops, may mean all the difference between success and failure in any effort to render a public service adequate to the opportunity. A model street plan should precede and thus govern and influence private development, Mr. Davis says: when the latter proceeds in advance of the adoption of an adequate street or park plan, the danger line is close at hand.

The Money Situation on the Heights.

Mr. Chas. Griffith Moses remarked this week that he believed money would be plentiful after the first of the coming year, as many people would be glad enough to place their loans on first-class real estate where the rate of interest remains the same, in preference to a fluctuating Wall street market. As to Washington Heights, he said the talk of overproduction was a thing of the past. Apartments were rapidly filling up, especially the better ones.

"The stringency of the money market," added Mr. Moses, "has prevented a great deal of indiscriminate building in this locality, allowing the present owners an opportunity to fill their apartments. All remain firm, the building loan people in almost every case granting extensions of time till permanent loans can be secured."

Fifth Avenue Property Worth Whatever It Will Bring.

Colonel Francis, at the 5th av office of John N. Golding, said that there were plenty of buyers for private houses in the side streets, and while many owners were willing to sell, the prices exacted were so high as to make it difficult to bring the seller and buyer together; although an occasional bargain could be had where an estate was being settled up, or some owner, tiring of his place, would sometimes dispose of his holding at a sacrifice; while on 5th av itself it was difficult to find purchasable property at all.

Changes in Northern New Jersey Realty.

By way of illustrating the effect which the Hudson River tunnels and improved ferry service is producing on northern New Jersey real estate, reference is made to the recent auction sale of the Clinton Realty Company's holdings in North Bergen, comprising a tract of 250 lots, lying between the Hudson boulevard and Hackensack turnpike. The property sold is almost immediately opposite the land lately acquired by the Freeholders, which is to be used for a County Park, and was a part of what was known as the MacFarlane tract, which has lain idle for many years. The sale was attended by a large number of speculators, among them being many operators well known in the Palisades section, who, it is reported, bought whole blocks. Lots on the boulevard brought from $840 to $2,485 each, and while a few inside lots were sold for $300 or more, the greater number were knocked down at figures ranging from $400 to $570.

It is said that this tract could have been purchased a year or two ago at the rate of $3,000 per acre, and while the exact price the realty company is supposed to have paid for same was not made known, it is believed to have approached this sum. The result of this sale practically establishes a new value of from $6,000 to $7,000 an acre for land in this vicinity, and justifies the high prices which other land companies are now securing for lots in the neighborhood.

That the standard of values has changed in the territory mentioned there is no longer room for doubt, and while the prices realized at this auction may appear large when compared with sales of a year or two ago, realty men say that they will soon be exceeded and will cease to be the subject of comment.

Brokers' Commissions.

Mr. W. H. Folsom, 24 East 23d st, is emphatic in his denunciation of a certain underhand method employed by many buyers. He says: "It is a common occurrence among this class to obtain particulars of properties which brokers have for sale and then enlist the assistance of a dummy, who purchases a parcel in his or her name, thus pocketing the commission and robbing the broker. This mode of procedure is resorted to even by some of our well-known operators, and unless the practice is done away with at once, it will exert a harmful influence on the brokerage business. Trickery like this should be shown up," Mr. Folsom continued, "and I hope that the Record and Guide will use its influence in assisting the real estate brokers to stamp out this pernicious practice."

REAL ESTATE NOTES

Sydney S. Cohen announces that he has moved his offices to the Tribune Building, 154 Nassau st.

Edward McVickar, 200 Broadway, says that the demand for lofts in the lower section of Manhattan is on the increase.

O'Hara Bros., real estate brokers and agents, of Webster av and 200th st, have opened a branch office at Webster av and 236th st.

The old Harbor Hill Golf Club grounds at Brighton Heights has been sold through the efforts of Cornelius G. Kolff to Frank B. Harder.

J. B. English was the broker who sold for S. T. Bayles to W. L. Sutphin and F. C. Gilsey the two 3-sty dwellings 240 and 242 West 48th st, on plot 42x93.9.

The Acmy Real Estate Club has elected for the coming year the following officers. President, Arthur Truslow; vice-president, Charles Harvey; secretary, George A. Haynes; treasurer, William Moran.

There is great demand for cold-water apartments west of 9th av, where it is said that almost any sum can be charged for accommodations in these tenements, many of which have no improvements whatever.

Real estate sales in the vicinity of 5th av and the forties have been active of late, although it has been learned from some well-known brokers' offices that a number of negotiations to consummate deals failed to mature, owing to the fact that they were unable to procure permanent loans on the properties concerned.

George R. Read & Co. announce that on December 1 they will remove from their present branch office in the Metropolitan Life Building, 1 Madison av, to the second floor of 3 East 35th st, which building is now being altered for business purposes. The necessity for this removal is attributed to the increasing activity in the 34th st section.

Cornelius G. Kolff will sell at auction on Nov. 28 the historic residence of the late artist, "Middy" Morgan, situated on De Kay st, near Bard av, Livingston, S. I. The house is well known, being considered one of the landmarks of Staten Island. Miss Morgan built the structure some years ago at considerable expense. In its construction much brick and iron was employed, practically rendering the dwelling fireproof.

Many People Want to Study Real Estate

They want to know what it means to buy and sell property, all about contracts, deeds mortgage, etc.

There is a book which tells all about this, "Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate," by Geo. W. Van Sicken

It Costs One Dollar

THE RECORD AND GUIDE

14-16 Vesey Street, New York City

Mr. Ryttenberg, of Powell & Ryttenberg, operators, 203 Broadway, Manhattan, says that his firm is in the market to buy old buildings, but complains of the excessive prices which prevail at the present time.

Mr. Thos. S. Walker, of Hall J. How & Co., says that since the operation of the express service to the Dyckman section on Washington Heights, a noticeable increase in inquiries by builders for vacant lots in that section has resulted.

In commenting on the condition of the realty market Mr. Schmeidler, of Schmeidler & Bachrach, 203 Broadway, Manhattan, said: "We find the real estate market very steady, and while prices are well held up there are plenty of buyers in the field."

The Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association held a meeting Friday evening in the Corrigan Building, Broadway and 157th st, and had for subjects the express subway service and opposition to nuisance of proposed permanent fan vent-houses on Broadway.

Mr. John L. Parish, of Parish, Fisher & Co., complains of the present need of better transportation facilities, and advocates the immediate construction of subways on Lexington and 8th avs to more expeditiously handle the increasing population. "The slowness of the Rapid Transit Commission in acting on this question is a matter of serious importance to real estate interests," said Mr. Parish, "and it is about time that something was done by them to relieve this almost intolerable state of affairs."

Mr. Tannenbaum, of E Tannenbaum & Co., 656 Broadway, Manhattan, is busy placing mortgage loans at the present time, but says he finds that institutions are generally charging five per cent. for the average loan. "The demand for loans is much greater than the supply," said Mr. Tannenbaum.

Mr. J. J. Schwartz, president of the Sterling Realty Co., 203 Broadway, Manhattan, says: "We have many inquiries for property in the section between 34th and 42d sts, 5th and 6th avs, and it is my opinion that this location has a great future. Retail dealers are buying in the side streets, as they are beginning to find out that little can be bought along the avenues, except at very high prices. Plots in cross streets are difficult to obtain and prices are advancing in proportion."

The association of Bronx Real Estate Brokers have elected William I. Brown, Julius H. Hass and Walter Whewell governors for three years. The annual election of officers will be held next Tuesday at the Exchange. Preparations are being made for the annual banquet which occurs on Dec. 20.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.
Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.
The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.
Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

THERE has been little or no change in the character or action of the stock market this week as compared with last week. The fundamentals continue overwhelmingly bullish, but there is no speculation and insignificant activity. Prices continue to sway to and fro within a small radius, unsatisfactory alike to bull and bear. Money still dominates the situation by the uncertainty and the fear of what it may do or what may be done with it next. A somewhat favorable feature is the Bank of England statement, issued on Thursday, which shows a large increase of reserve and bullion. The proportion of the Bank's reserve to liability is now upwards of forty-four per cent., as compared with forty per cent. last week, though the rate of discount remains unchanged at 6 per cent. It is estimated that the dividend and interest payments to be disbursed by the principal railroad industrial and mining companies in the country during December will be over seventy-eight million dollars, as compared with fifty-five millions in the corresponding month of last year, or an increase of twenty-three millions. Mining companies especially show a large increase, the total of dividends and payments being $7,700,000 against $2,300,000 in the corresponding month of last year. Among heavy industrial payments are dividends of nearly ten millions to stockholders by the Standard Oil Co. and four millions by the American Tobacco Co. Railroad dividends are two millions, and interest payments four millions larger. The State of New York, judging by the computation of the Census Bureau, is in no danger of going into liquidation. Its wealth, comprising farms and other real estate, factories, railroads, etc., is $15,000,000,000, which, per capita, would give to every man, woman and child $2,000, as compared with the national average of $1,320. The Empire State is thus certainly living up to its designation.

THANKSGIVING in the real estate market was on the whole both interesting and normal, interesting in that almost every section of the borough was represented in the trading, and normal in the number of transactions. An unusual number of old buildings in the twenties were bought with the intention of altering them for business purposes, the Fifth avenue section contributed its quota to the business of the week, and Thirty-fourth street continued active, though the centre of trading has moved to the west side of Broadway, where there is some evidence of a skilful campaign of concentration. It would be strange indeed if the activity which has distinguished this street, but which has been mostly confined to the east side of Broadway, should not extend to the west side, as circumstances are combining to make West Thirty-fourth street one of the most popular shopping centers of the city. Not only will the Pennsylvania shopping crowds come that way, but the shopping traffic from the West Shore Railroad, the Ontario & Western, and the growing north Bergen towns, all pour via the Forty-second street ferries and the connecting surface lines, into West Thirty-fourth street. In a word, the first point at which most of the trade from the Jersey shore and the Hudson River Valley will strike Broadway will be at West Thirty-fourth street. Staten Island property was noticeably prominent in the business of the week, and it is now only a question of cheaper transportation ere the world will hear of a Staten Island boom. In building operations the intense cold of the midweek signalized the natural end of the out-door building season, and from henceforth masonry and work dependent upon it will be carried on only by special dispensation of the weather. Thanksgiving week finds the building material market in a condition very favorable to contractors, so far as most supplies are concerned. A matter of high importance in building trades is the consolidation of six of the largest companies manufacturing Portland cement, inasmuch as the new corporation will be well-nigh able to control the business. The eighty-eight plants in existence are owned by seventy-eight companies, fifteen of which produce over two-thirds of the whole American Portland cement output, and seven of these produced over half. While there can be no monopoly of raw material, it can be pointed out with this illustration before the country that the concentration of interests in the industry will probably become more marked from year to year.

FIVE gigantic office buildings are now in course of construction in the district to the west of Broadway and south of Vesey street—the Coal and Iron Building in West street; the building of the United States Express Co.; the Broadway-Cortlandt Building, in Cortlandt street, and the two new office buildings over the trolley terminal in Church street. This list, moreover, does not include the new structures which are being erected on the west side of Broadway, in the same district, or a minor improvement, such as the new offices of the Evening Post on Vesey street. This is a tremendous amount of new construction for a district which, only a few years ago, was being almost completely neglected. It is noticeable also that the new buildings are both more than usually high and more than usually big. None of them is less than twenty stories high, and several run considerably over that very respectable number of stories. Then, too, they have been planned with more than usual care for the purpose of offering convenient accommodations and good light to their tenants. The floor space of every one of them is larger than that of any but the largest buildings which have been erected to the east of Broadway, and this fact adapts them particularly to the needs of big corporations. The building of the express company faces on Trinity Church, and obtains on that side unusually good light. The building in West street has, of course, as much light as there is, and it is not surrounded by any other tall structures. The Broadway-Cortlandt Building is erected on comparatively narrow streets; but its light is protected by these streets on two sides, and by the ownership of the Broadway corner on part of a third side; while the light of its upper stories will be perfectly guarded, because these stories will be placed in a tower. These towers are the best device as yet invented to obtain good light, and an economical plan for the upper floors of a lofty office building. The success of these various structures will be watched with the utmost interest, for they all of them represent the application of the best contemporary real estate and building knowledge to the problem of the economy of the sky-scraper.

PROTESTS against the increase of municipal salaries are frequent, but the present standard of compensation for expert services of any kind is very much higher in private than in public employment. A judge, an engineer, a certified accountant, a skilful bookkeeper, an auditor or a superintendent, can get more from a private employer than in any public office. The highest standard of efficiency is not to be attained either in corporations or municipalities, any more than in private lines of business, by the payment of small salaries, and usually it is found that those cities which make the most liberal provision for their employees are the best served, whereas those which make small or inadequate provision do not attract capable employees. Buffalo, for instance, with a population of 350,000, expends in salaries $3,500,000 a year, while New Orleans, with almost the same population, expends in salaries only $1,800,000, and Buffalo gets the best return. Denver, Detroit, and Cleveland make liberal allowances for those in their municipal employ. Memphis, Tenn., expends in a year for salaries less than $600,000; Paterson, N. J., less than $700,000; while Lowell, Mass., a smaller city than either, expends $900,000. The volume of business of a large city is not regulated by the number of its inhabitants, but by their resources, industries and vocations. The city of New York represents this year a total assessed value of $6,300,000,000. The four cities of Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis represent a total assessed value of $4,100,000,000. New York, with almost the same population as these four cities, has fifty per cent. more wealth than the four combined, and necessarily the expenses incident to local government are enhanced, there being more to safeguard, protect, collect, disperse and administer here. Judges in New York get higher salaries, as lawyers in New York get larger fees. Executive officers in charge of public departments get higher salaries in New York than are paid in other cities in like positions, as presidents of banks in New York get bigger salaries than presidents of banks in other cities. The apparent excess of New York City's annual salary account compared with Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis, apart from any question of alleged wastefulness or of unnecessarily large civil lists, is attributed to economic conditions which make New York the most desirable city for a man to work in.

New Bridges and Old.

THE past week has witnessed a great deal of activity in respect to the building of new bridges and the improvement of old ones. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has ordered that immediate steps be taken to acquire title to the property near the City Hall necessary for the construction of a new Manhattan terminal for the old hard-worked Brooklyn Bridge. At the same time it appropriated the money necessary to pay for the approaches on both sides of the water for the so-called Manhattan Bridge. Finally, the chairman of the Inter-State Commission appointed for the purpose of considering the construction of bridges between New York and New Jersey has indicated in a newspaper interview the nature of the report which his commission proposes to make. Each one of these items of news is interesting, and deserves special consideration.

In taking immediate steps to construct a more capacious terminal for the old Brooklyn Bridge, the Board of Estimate, under the leadership of Mayor McClellan, has acted with wisdom and celerity. Prompt action towards improving the service on the Bridge as it now stands is the logical and necessary result of the abandonment of the plan to construct an elevated connection between the Brooklyn and the Williamsburgh Bridges. A more capacious terminal will greatly increase the serviceability of the Brooklyn Bridge, and this increase of service, together with the help which will be afforded by the tunnels now under construction, should be sufficient to relieve the strain during the long interval which must necessarily elapse before more adequate and convenient arrangements can be made for handling the traffic. Two objections have, however, been made in respect to the building of this new terminal, which cannot be overlooked. It is asserted that any perpetuation of the old policy of terminals is a mistake, and that the city authorities ought to provide for the efficient distribution and collection of the traffic instead of merely landing the passengers on the bridge at a point remote from their proper destination. This objection is undoubtedly founded on a proper and adequate conception of the policy in respect to bridge terminals which should be pursued hereafter; but it does not apply in the present instance. It has been finally decided, for good and sufficient reasons, that no connections are to be made with the Manhattan terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge, and the enlargement of the Manhattan terminal of the bridge is the consequence of this decision. An elevated connection would be the only feasible one, because of the character of the rolling stock of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.; and the Transit Commission will not have any more elevated roads. In enlarging the existing terminal, the Board of Estimate is, consequently, taking the one practicable remedial measure. Another objection has been urged on the score of the expense. This objection has its weight. The land for the new terminal will cost many million dollars, and the city has not many millions to spare. But what is to be done? You cannot make an omelette without breaking eggs. Something has to be done to relieve the congestion, and granted the necessity of action, it is merely the duty of the Board of Estimate to make its action as economical as it can. No other property is available except that which is to be condemned; and the only question is, how can the ownership of this property by the city be turned to the best possible account? The answer to this question is contained in a study of the policy adopted by the New Jersey Tunnel Co. under similar conditions. It has purchased the land necessary for a terminal at a huge cost; but it proposes to use this land also as the site for an office building. The city should adopt the same idea. It should erect on the land which is to be condemned an office building as well as a terminal, and in this way save some hundreds of thousands of dollars which it is now paying in rent to the owners of office buildings near the City Hall.

The appropriation for the approaches to the new Manhattan Bridge raises, however, an entirely different set of questions. In the case of this new bridge, as well as in the case of the Williamsburgh Bridge, the policy of building terminals should be entirely abandoned, and steps should be immediately taken to provide sufficient means for distributing and collecting the traffic. Of course, the only means which can be used for such a purpose, at least in Manhattan, is the construction of connecting subways, and as the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. cannot run its cars in subways, it should be left completely out of account. The new bridges should, by means of their connections, be made a part of the subway system of the two boroughs. Tunnels should be built which will enable passengers on the existing Subway to cross the bridges, if possible, without change of cars, and similar arrangements should be made in respect to all future longitudinal subways which are constructed in Manhattan. Moreover, a special subway should be constructed, connecting these terminals with the financial and business districts of lower Manhattan. The details of these plans will require, of course, special consideration; but the Rapid Transit Commission should lose no time in planning these additions to the subway system of Manhattan. When it turned down the proposal to connect the Brooklyn and Williamsburgh Bridges by an elevated road, it made itself responsible for the substitution of some more satisfactory plan. If such a plan is taken up at an early date, and if it is authorized without unnecessary delay, it may be carried to completion not long after the probable cessation of work on the Manhattan Bridge. It is hardly necessary to add that similar arrangements should be made in respect to the Blackwell's Island Bridge, which should at least be connected by a subway with Columbus Circle.

The matter of the proposed new bridges across the Hudson is much more remote, but it deserves some consideration from the property-owners of Manhattan. The chairman of the commission, Mr. Hawkes, announces that a report will probably be made in favor not merely of one, but of two bridges. The details of this magnificent scheme are still to be considered; but the chairman states that the Manhattan termini of both of them will be on the West Side, somewhere between Fifty-ninth street and Washington square. We wonder whether Mr. Hawkes really believes that both or one of these bridges will be built or even commenced during his lifetime. If we remember aright, it has been calculated that a bridge across the Hudson, with its necessary approaches, would cost not far from $50,000,000. When we recollect the cost of the smaller East River bridges, such an estimate cannot be far astray. But who will stand this expenditure of $50,000,000 or $100,000,000. It is absurd to anticipate that private capitalists will, directly or indirectly, stand any share of the expense, because the proposed bridges could not produce any revenue proportionate to the cost of construction. It is possible that the building of a bridge which was used by the railroads as a means of entrance to Manhattan might have paid; but now that the railroads can land their passengers in Manhattan by means of the six tunnels which are under construction, the bridges could not count on this one really abundant source of possible revenue. The only traffic upon which a bridge could depend would be that of the vehicles, and that of a few people living near to its termini; and such a traffic would not pay the expenses of its maintenance. If a bridge over the Hudson is to be constructed, it must be paid for by public funds; but again the question must be asked, as to how the money will be raised? Now that the tunnels are building, the city of New York has not enough to gain from an inter-state bridge to warrant any considerable contribution to the cost of construction. The counties of Essex and Hudson in New Jersey would have more to gain, but not enough to justify a very heavy expenditure. It is inconceivable that the Legislatures of either state would appropriate much money in favor of what is essentially a local project. No; the cost of a Hudson River bridge makes it an impracticable plan, particularly in view of the six tunnels which are now nearing completion, and the only argument which would make it practicable would be the production of contracts with the Jersey Central, the Lackawanna and the Erie Railroad Companies agreeing to run their trains over the structure. Why, then, is it advisable to prepare detailed plans calling for the termination of one or two bridges in Manhattan? Such plans merely place a cloud over the title of the real estate immediately affected by them, and make such property more difficult of sale. They injure property-owners without offering any practicable benefit to the city, at least during the lifetime of the existing generation.

Transportation Facilities in the Bronx on the Decline.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Attention is again called to the poor transportation facilities afforded the people of the Bronx by the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. in the regulation of its service. Delays are becoming more numerous, while passengers are compelled to wait in silence till such time as the management sees fit to run its cars.

While waiting at the Freeman st station this week for a southbound train, fifteen minutes elapsed before it came along, and it failed to stop, causing another delay of ten minutes. This happened long after the morning rush hours, when there was no congestion of traffic whatever.

Real estate men say that something should immediately be done to better these conditions. When a broker starts out to show his client a piece of property he is oftentimes considerably harrassed by waiting for some means of transportation, thus arousing the suspicion of his prospective purchaser, who asks the question: "Are you frequently detained in this manner?" Some think the employees are so poorly paid that good service is impossible. All agree, however, that there should be a resident citizen of the Bronx represented in the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners whose duty it should be to endeavor to alleviate these conditions.

Owners Will Appeal to the Legislature

To Save Them from an Arbitrary Enforcement of Section 100 of the Tenement House Law—Attorney Bloch Speaks for the United Real Estate Owners' Association

UNDER the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Moeschén case, testing the constitutionality of Section 100 of the Tenement House law (requiring the removal of school sinks), it seems that the Legislature has almost absolute authority in the exercise of its so-called police power, to enact such laws, require performance of them and the necessary and incidental expenditure of money in connection therewith, and subsequently repeal such laws and enact others requiring the destruction of that which had been previously required and the substitution of something else. The city having been uniformly victorious in fighting the case through the courts, the legal proceedings have not served to put off the enforcement of the law, and the alterations required thereunder have been going on for about two years. At the outset the Tenement House Commissioner (then Mr. Crain) announced that the work would be prosecuted gradually. According to the records of the Tenement House Department there were in Manhattan Borough alone 4,314 school sinks, some 2,450 having since been removed, and of this number about 1,600 have been removed since January first of this year.

In behalf of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, Adolph Bloch, attorney, of 99 Nassau st, has steadily represented the defendant in this case, which by agreement was made a test case. In speaking with the writer this week, Mr. Bloch said that the United Real Estate Owners' Association have fought the battle for the benefit of real estate owners generally, from the lowest court to the highest court in the land, and it was now up to the real estate interests throughout the city to watch and jealously guard the rights of real estate owners in the enactment of laws. He said further:

"In reference to the school-sink case, I can only say that there are hundreds of owners of houses, principally on leased ground, who have not the necessary money to make the alterations. Nothing remains than for them to give up their property, and my only advice to them will be to see the Tenement House Commissioner and the Mayor of the city. There is no question about the hardship of the law and the great injustice that results therefrom. The Tenement House Department will have a very serious problem to solve. You may penalize half a dozen owners, but you cannot penalize hundreds. I think that as soon as the true situation will be clearly understood, the Tenement House Commissioner and the Mayor will exercise their own efforts and influence to secure an amendment to the law, so as to authorize the Tenement House Commissioner to exercise some discretionary power and permit school sinks to remain that are kept in a clean, sanitary condition. The law-makers of this State, and particularly the representatives of this city in the Legislature, the Mayor and the Tenement House Department, must be made to realize that upon them, and them alone, rests the responsibility of continuing to enforce a law which means the confiscation of property for no adequate reason."

Regarding the effect of the law upon owners who have not yet made the required changes, Mr. Bloch said:

"Many houses in New York City are built upon leased ground, and in a great many instances the leases will soon expire. To comply with the new law it would require the expenditure in the ordinary tenement house of from $1,000 to $3,000. Where houses are on leased ground and the leases are soon to expire, the expense of complying with the law would more than equal the value of the equity to the owners. These equities frequently represent the savings of a life time and thus are swept away. A large number of the persons thus affected will undoubtedly call upon Mayor McClellan and deliver to him deeds to their equities. It is their intention to do this in order to show what grievous hardships this law has inflicted upon them and to get him, if possible, to use his influence at Albany to have the law changed so as to give the Tenement House Department discretion to order the removal of unsanitary sinks, and to leave undisturbed those which in the opinion of the department experts are sanitary.

"The Tenement House Commission, which framed the present law, recommended that a similar commission be appointed at intervals of five years to consider the effect of laws previously enacted and to recommend new laws and the repeal and modification of existing laws. It may well be that the next commission will recommend, and the Legislature enact, a law requiring the removal of water closets placed in houses in accordance with the present Tenement House law, upon the ground, as maintained by eminent experts, who have been connected with the Board of Health for many years, that they are dangerous and detrimental to health and that another form of construction will be required. This, of course, will necessitate another expenditure of a large sum of money, and the ownership of real estate in the City of New York would no longer continue to be profitable, and the owners' tenure would be precarious and depend upon the conflicting views of experts whenever there may be a change of administration.

MAY COST $20,000,000.

"The very property that is now ordered to be destroyed was created by the Legislature. This is not a case of where the Health Department orders a change because a nuisance or unsanitary condition is being maintained, but regardless of the fact that the premises are maintained in the best condition the owner is compelled to expend this large sum of money to carry out a theory. The enforcement of this law would affect about nine thousand houses whose owners have complied with the order of the Board of Health. The aggregate expenditure involved would be from $7,000,000 to $20,000,000.

"Many an owner whose accumulated savings of a life time have been invested in a single house will be rendered almost penniless and widows and orphans will be deprived of all source of income, notwithstanding the fact that they maintained their premises in the best condition, that they have complied with all laws and that they have invested their money relying upon the guarantee of the law that their property would not be taken from them without just compensation, simply because a number of theorists and faddists have persuaded the Legislature to require the undoing of that which was formerly required and the substitution of that which will render their houses untenable at an expense absolutely prohibitive.

"The new law practically requires the placing of closets in the houses. To place these closets in old houses that have been constructed originally without any idea of toilet accommodations requires a complete overhauling of the houses, and then in most cases the closets are placed in the most important room of the apartments, usually in the kitchen, which renders a condition from a standpoint of hygiene, health and morals far worse than the proper system of outdoor accommodations for these houses. All that the owners ask and have asked is that the Tenement House Department or the Board of Health or any other properly constituted authority shall have some discretion or some power to decide whether or not the conditions existing in houses may be continued or not."

COMMISSIONER BUTLER'S PLANS.

Edmund J. Butler, the Tenement House Commissioner, intends to continue the enforcement of the statute practically in the same manner as heretofore. The Commissioner said that orders would be issued from time to time in such numbers as to permit the inspectors to supervise the work.

"We do not intend to be arbitrary in this matter," he added. "I would not say that we will make any effort to postpone the issuing of orders against buildings whose owners have ground leases which will soon expire, but we will be reasonable. Even if the law were changed in the way suggested by Mr. Bloch, the construction of our new tenements would continue to compel owners of old tenements to take out the school sinks because of the competition. In order to get an adequate return for their investments these tenement owners have to cater to the wishes of tenants."

Building Loans

How It Is Possible for a Man Having Only $5,000 to Successfully Complete an Operation
Involving $100,000.

By G. RICHARD DAVIS.*

Building loans on land in New York City are generally made for one year at 6% interest, secured by a mortgage on the property known as a building loan mortgage which has varied clauses, differing materially from other mortgages, and accompanied by the necessary bond, and also a building loan agreement, which recites as provided by statute in what manner and form the building loan will be made. It is necessary to record this building loan contract as well as the mortgage. The loan is generally made in several or many different advances as the work upon the building progresses, and the building loan contract recites these various stages at which money is due. The purpose of this recording of the building loan contract is to give notice to those who sell material, or do contract work for the builder, how much and when he is to receive his various advances, and if you fail to so record it, any claim for material furnished is a prior lien. This latter law is a comparatively new and just one and enacted at the instance of the Material Men of the City, about nine years ago. I draw attention to the recording of building loan contracts because from the practical standpoint of a broker, if you will read the Record and Guide each week, you will see who is making the building loans, and if you care to go to the register's office and examine the contracts, you will see how each one is made. The form of these contracts is gradually growing more to the standard as adopted by the large title companies, but the manner in which payments are made differ materially with each individual loan.

Discussing building loans as they are negotiated and made, let us take for example, a specific case; tenement houses are a most common form of speculative building to-day. Two lots aggregating 50 ft. x 100 ft. of land will be our unit for comparison and observation. There are three ways in which building operations are financed in this city. The first way is where land is owned by an operator and sold by him to a builder at a more or less material profit. To induce the builder to pay this profit a loan is made to him, liberal enough to admit very often of a builder with little or no capital of carrying through a substantial operation. The methods of making this loan are similar to the next character of which I will describe, differing only in its liberality and in the fact that when on completion, and a permanent loan obtained, that the operator is usually willing to take a second mortgage if the new loan is insufficient to pay him all that is due him on his mortgages.

The amount of loan and its terms, made by an operator is, therefore, governed materially by the profit he makes on the sale of his land, and cannot be compared to the loans made by building loan companies to builders who buy and own the land before they make any arrangements for a loan, as in the latter case, the fee for such loan is small compared with an operator's profit and the amount of loan is figured on a different basis entirely.

The second method of making a building loan is as follows: Taking again the same 50-ft. plot as typical, let us assume that instead of belonging to an operator it belongs to a builder and he desires to improve it with a 6-story tenement house. He has previously purchased the land for $30,000. He paid $5,000 cash and gave back to the estate he sold it to a purchase money mortgage for $25,000. He needs money to assist him in building; he goes then to a building loan company, states the facts as I have just outlined and asks for a loan of $30,000, with which to assist him in constructing the house. The building loan man (and you will please note that I make distinction between building loan men or companies, and building loan operators), figures that the land is worth $30,000, and the building will cost $45,000, making a total cost of $75,000, and that if he loans the builder $30,000, subject to an existing ground mortgage of $25,000, he will have a claim against the property of $55,000, which will be over 70% of the cost. He further figures that when the building is completed the builder will not be able to borrow as a permanent loan, over $55,000. He does not figure on what the builder will sell the property for but what it will cost, and what permanent loan the builder can get. If he is reasonably disposed, he offers the builder a loan of $25,000, subject to a ground mortgage of $25,000, or making a total loan of $50,000.

Now, you will note that when the builder makes the application to the building loan man or company for a loan, that in figuring upon same, the mortgage on the land is most essential in determining the amount of building loan to be made. If the builder had, instead of paying $5,000 cash, paid $10,000, his ground mortgage would be but $20,000, and a building loan of $30,000 would be equally as safe as a $25,000 building loan subject to a ground mortgage of $25,000. If the builder had paid $1,000 on account of the land and had a mortgage of $29,000, the building loan man would be justified in offering not over $21,000, although this would be less than 50% of the cost of the building.

Therefore, with these figures, we draw the first important deduction which a broker in presenting a building loan application must consider. With all applications for building loans where the land is owned by the builder (and, this is, to-day, the most common form of application) they must be calculated as if they were first mortgage loans and that the building loan shall include an amount sufficient to retire the existing ground mortgage. It makes no difference how much mortgage is on the land as far as the amount of loan goes; if there is no mortgage on it, the builder may obtain all of the loan to use towards his building, but if he has a mortgage on the land, he will have to use for his building purposes only the difference between the amount of the loan and the cost of the land. Therefore, whether the loan is to be made as a first mortgage loan or second mortgage loan, it must always be calculated on the basis of a first mortgage loan.

Another important requirement in figuring building loan applications is to be able to judge as to the amount of permanent loan that may be obtained on the property when the building is completed. There is no rule to judge this by, other than that of experience and investigation as to mortgages on adjoining property similarly located and of like dimensions.

I said before that in figuring the amount of building loan that should be made, it made no difference what the mortgage was on the land. But it makes a material difference in the manner in which the building loan payments are made. If the land is originally mortgaged for all it is worth, it is obvious that the builder has no equity in his property until he has reached such a course in the construction of it as to create one. For instance, if this 50-ft. plot of land had a mortgage of $30,000, or for all it was worth, it would not be until the building was enclosed that it could be said that he had created a reasonable equity of say, $20,000. The property would then be worth $50,000, and a man might reasonably loan two-thirds of the cost at that time.

This is the theory (two-thirds of the then cost), on which some building loan payments are arranged and based. Another and a more conservative theory is to hold back enough money at all times to complete the building.

One of the missing facts in our discussion, and you will note it is a very vital one, is to arrive at the cost of putting up the building. Without these figures you cannot form any judgment as to whether a loan is good or not and how the payments should be made. There is no exact rule for figuring the cost of building. The only absolutely accurate method is to take the plans and specifications of each building, get in bids on each contract, add them together, add allowances for extras, interest, carrying charges, etc., and the total is what the building will cost. But this may be necessary for a builder to know but it is hardly necessary for the loan man or broker because he can arrive at it by less accurate and easier methods, which vary according to the character of the building proposed. If it is the building we have been talking about—a 6-story tenement covering two lots, he may roughly figure at so much per front ft or per cu. ft.

In figuring the cost of fireproof buildings, the usual way to figure such buildings is by the cubic contents only. This is one of the most difficult parts of the building loan business, but does not need to worry the building loan broker because he can get near enough to the cost of the building by the methods I have suggested to be justified in presenting applications for building loans with a reasonable knowledge of the cost.

HOW LARGE OPERATIONS ARE FINANCED.

The third class of building loan and one to which I have previously referred, is what is known as a building permanent loan or a loan made as a permanent loan for three or five years but advanced in building payments from the time the building is started. These loans differ from the previous loans principally because they are permanent investments and are made only by people who seek an investment. They are the most advantageous loan a builder can obtain, as it insures a certain fixed amount of money to use in his speculative operation and releases him of the necessity on the completion of his building, of obtaining a new mortgage. These loans are made almost entirely by a few of the life insurance companies, and now and then by the title companies. You will recall that in speaking of the other two kinds of building loans, that I have always based my figuring upon the value of the land at the time that the building is started, and upon the cost of the building. In figuring this third class of mortgage, which is a permanent investment, it must be figured on what the land can fairly be estimated to be worth when the building is completed and what the building is worth, not what it costs; in other words, on the total reasonable market value of the property. This makes it possible, of course, to obtain a larger loan than the ordinary building loan is, and constitutes the difference in amount between building and permanent loans. The rate of interest on such loans is generally at 6% during course of construction and reduced to from 4½% to 5% after completion, as the case may be.

Most of the very large apartment houses, apartment hotels and business buildings involving large sums of money and built by speculative builders have been financed in this manner.

It is obvious that in the handling of all these classes of building loans, practical knowledge of building and of architecture to a more or less degree is a requisite. The technical knowledge of the engineer and architect is often required. In ordinary types of tenement flats this is not necessary except in special work such as deep foundation work, as the building loan man is supposed to have a general practical knowledge of how to build. In the making of payments, and the conduct of the entire building transaction it requires continuous need of careful attention and expert knowledge of the situation by the building loan man. Building payments are arranged in schedules and agreed on in writing, but rarely are they lived up to, as builders want money in different ways and in more payments than agreed, and a reasonable building loan man will let responsible and well-meaning builders have these accommodations, as no contract can be drawn which will cover the necessities of the situation, which arise in operations covering a period, differing from six months to two years. It is not to be supposed that loans of this kind can be obtained without more than the usual charge, both interest, fees and brokerage, than that made for permanent loans. The cost is governed by money conditions and varies materially at times. The principal risk that building loan men are obliged to take is that the builder may be unable to complete his operation and fails during the course of construction; the building loan man must foreclose his mortgage and if he buys the property in, as he nearly always does, he must complete the operation himself or else resell it to another builder.

Among the life insurance and other financial institutions who make these kinds of loans it is customary to charge a fee in addition to interest charges, sufficient to defray the cost of title examination, employment of counsel, architects and engineers. They also are most particular as to the responsibility of the builders they loan to, and in a number of cases insist on some substantial bond as guarantee that the building will be completed.

Owing to the agreements which exists among the workmen's unions and among the material associations, just as it does among the other corporations, it is impossible to finish any job on which a builder owes money without making settlement with the unions and material associations, which control the employment of labor and the output of material. The stone cutters' unions are so strong that if there is one piece of stone missing for the unfinished building, you cannot get that one piece of stone in New York, or if you can buy the stone elsewhere you cannot get a union stone cutter in New York to set it for you without settling the debt due the original stone contractor by the builder. And so it runs through the entire handling of building loan operations that the risk is always more or less great according to the responsibility of the builder. Every building loan man tries to loan only to responsible men, but the number of failures among builders is proof of the fact that mistakes are continually being made. Men who are responsible at the time they start an operation meet with reverses when they are half through, which, while ruining them, falls heavily on the men who have their money in the operation.

A few months ago, when money became scarce, and building operations diminished materially, the newspapers published articles of about the same tenor, stating that the title companies had shut down on building loans, that nearly all of the building loans of to-day were made by the three great title companies of this city and that these companies had combined, or if not combined, had refused to make any further building loans and that they stopped building and that the title companies control the entire market.

THE TITLE COMPANIES' SHARES.

Although the facts as stated, that building had stopped and that building loan money was almost impossible to procure was true, it, nevertheless, remains a more important fact and one which I wish to emphasize most strongly—the title companies do not control the building loan market but make a very small percentage of the building loans in this city.

I have carefully studied figures and compiled memorandum connected with this statement, and I find that from July 1, 1905, to July 1, 1906, that the three title companies in this city made, by building loan contracts, directly recorded to themselves, building loans aggregating about $11,000,000. As against this, three life insurance companies recorded building loan contracts aggregating $14,000,000. Three of the largest individual building loan concerns recorded building loan contracts aggregating $10,000,000, and there were miscellaneous building loan contracts recorded to about three hundred other individuals and companies aggregating over $40,000,000. In other words, out of about $75,000,000 worth of contracts recorded, three title companies recorded $11,000,000; in addition to this they took by assignments building loan mortgages as collateral, aggregating about $4,000,000 more of loans, so that the total amount of loans actually made by the three title companies of this city was $15,000,000 out of $75,000,000, or 20% of the total. This does not look as if the title companies controlled the building loan market.

Let me say, gentlemen, in conclusion, speaking for the builders and their backers, all of whom have been often unjustly criticised, that were it not for the enterprise of these men during the last forty years, New York City would not be the great city it is to-day. In no place else in the world has such a city of magnificent private homes, apartment houses, hotels and business buildings been erected, and the great majority of them have been put up by the speculative builders backed by the building loan men and operators. I believe that building loans and mortgage investments in New York City will become more permanently sought after and considered as gilt edge security in the future than they have been in the past, and the more that we improve in our methods of doing business, the easier it will be to finance the future growth of the city.

Six Cement Companies Unite.

The reasons for the recent big rise in American Cement shares are now made public. Six leading companies, including the American Cement Co., have organized and bought the stock of the North American Portland Cement Co., which has a capital of $10,000,000. In other words, this new North American Co. takes over the American, Atlas, Alpha, Lehigh Portland, Vulcanite and the Lawrence Cement Companies. These have commonly been called the "Big Six" in the trade.

In New York last Friday the final signatures were affixed to the articles of incorporation of the North American Portland Cement Co. The subscribers to the first issue of stock were: J. Rogers Maxwell, Alfonso F. de Navarro and Henry Graves, Jr., of the Atlas Portland Cement Co.; A. F. Gerstell and John B. Wight, of the Alpha Portland Cement Co.; Henry C. Trexler and Edward M. Young, of the Lehigh Portland Cement Co.; John B. Lober, of the Vulcanite Portland Cement Co.; Robert W. Lesley, of the American Cement Co., and Ernest R. Ackerman, of the Lawrence Cement Co.

THE CONSOLIDATION EXPLAINED.

The papers were forwarded to Trenton and the new company will meet in a few days to organize and determine on plans for the construction of new works in various districts of the United States. An official statement by the new company says:

"The incorporation of the North American Portland Cement Co. is the result of an arrangement between some of the leading cement companies, which is likely to have a marked and most beneficial effect upon the trade, and be of great value to the public as consumers of cement. It is a well-known fact that the consumption of cement is increasing so rapidly—having jumped from 23,000,000 barrels in 1904 to 40,000,000 barrels in 1905—that there are times when the supply is unequal to the demand, and a rapid and unexpected rise in the price results. At other times a temporary falling off in consumption, owing to adverse weather conditions, or some similar cause, results in an equally severe decline in the price, and these fluctuations are embarrassing to contractors and other large users of cement."

PRODUCTION TO BE INCREASED.

The more important part of the arrangement, so far as the public is concerned, is the provision which is made, not for restricting, but for increasing the production of cement. The six leading companies which are parties to the agreement join in subscribing to the stock of the North American Portland Cement Co., which is to expend $5,000,000 out of $10,000,000 authorized capital as quickly as practicable in the construction of new works in districts whose works are not at present fully supplied.

—The building unions under the arbitration agreement are calling conferences to prepare for a convention of delegates from the trade associations of employers in the Building Trades Association and the unions which will begin on Dec. 15 to consider the revision of the arbitration agreement. The conference is to be attended by three delegates from each trade association of employers and each union under the arbitration agreement. The conference will have no effect on the trade agreements as to wages and conditions between trade associations of employers and unions, some of which will not expire for two years.

A Partnership Matter Settled.

A case of considerable importance to co-partnerships in general was decided in an appeal taken by Urry Goodman, a well-known builder, in a suit brought against him by Charles I. Fleck and Pincus B. Brown, co-partners, through their attorney, Abraham Oberstein. Formerly, with Joseph Tea, the plaintiffs constituted the firm of Fleck, Brown & Tea, real estate brokers in this borough. Fleck and Brown are alone at the present time, and have been such for quite some time. Mr. Urry Goodman, the defendant, contracted with Joseph Tea, who at the time when the agreement was entered into was a member of Fleck, Brown & Tea, to sell for him certain property which he owned, and thereupon gave Tea authority to sell this property, and agreed to pay him $500 commission therefor. Tea effected the sale of the property in question and claimed the commission therefor. Likewise did Fleck & Brown claim the commission, on the ground that as Tea was a member of the firm when he effected the sale for Goodman, whatever moneys he earned inured to the benefit of the firm, and thereupon asked Tea to join in a suit, which he refused to do, and thereupon brought suit against Goodman joining Tea as a co-defendant, which is provided for by law, that where a party should be joined in a suit and he refuses to join in, he is joined in as a co-defendant, although no damages are sought to be recovered against him.

At the trial Goodman alleged that Tea having represented himself to be alone in business, and although knowing that he formerly was a member of the firm of Fleck, Brown & Tea, he paid Tea the amount representing the commission earned, without inquiring from Fleck & Brown whether or not the firm of Fleck, Brown & Tea was still in existence or whether it had been dissolved. It was shown at the trial that Goodman knew that Tea was formerly a member of Fleck, Brown & Tea, but that he took no pains to ascertain whether the firm was in existence at the time when Tea sold the property for Goodman, but paid the money over to Tea. On the trial it was argued in his behalf that since he had discharged the debt by the payment to Tea, he no longer owed the firm of Fleck & Brown, and he did not recognize them as having anything to do with the sale in question.

In the lower court judgment was rendered in favor of Fleck & Brown; that is to say that the firm of Fleck & Brown recovered the sum of $500 and interest by reason of commissions earned by reason of the sale effected by Tea as aforesaid, this despite the fact that Goodman claimed and proved that he paid Tea.

Goodman, through his attorneys, Arnstein & Levy, took an appeal to the Appellate Term of the Supreme Court, and this court upheld the lower court and ordered that the plaintiffs, Fleck & Brown, recover from Goodman the amount of the judgment and costs of the appeal, despite the fact that he has paid this money before to Joseph I. Tea, as where one makes an agreement with a member of a firm individually, knowing of the existence of a co-partnership, the debt is not discharged thereby, unless the check is made payable to the order of the three as a firm and not to an individual; that this did not constitute a discharge of the debt, and Goodman finds himself in a position of having to pay twice for the same work.

This is a case of considerable importance to people who have dealings with co-partnerships, because it taxes them with knowledge that they cannot pay debts to individual members of a firm, but must pay their debts to the firm as such, and that where a firm is in existence they must recognize the firm as such and treat with them as such, and not think that they can act with an individual member and so ignore the firm.

How to Build for Earthquakes.

AN UNDOUBTED NOVELTY IN BUILDING CONSTRUCTION.

The following letter and communication from a foreign city, which we print by courtesy of the Geo. A. Fuller Construction Co., will, we are sure, interest and instruct our readers: Messrs. Geo. A. Fuller & Co., New York.

Gentlemen: I pray you to take vision of the united communication.

The question is a serious and practical business, susceptible to give the most wide and good results, without to offer no one serious technical difficulties of execution, neither need great capitals to the uncovered, nor cost experiments and setting, and present it of great public utility.

Desiring your house to matter of the thing, favor to put you in communication with the author of this project, writing to the united address.

In the attention, I am, gentlemen, yours obediently,

THE MODERN EDILE CONSTRUCTIONS AND THE EARTHQUAKES.

The lately disasters of S. Francisco, Cal., and Chile, render of bristful actuality the present title.

The modern Edile constructions with metal carcass and coverture of cemented bricks, much used to-day in the large towns, have demonstrated a least resistance to the showers of the land, this fact take naturally to the reflection that one Edile construction that it be in case to offer a very great resistance to the Earthquakes, whirlwinds, inundations, fires, etc., besides therefore to extend the technical building difficulties, and the relative economic balance, would be inevitably one application of public utility, and as such of facile large actuation.

One project is been studied of Edile Constructions adapted to offer the very great resistance to the cited before natural calamities which taken in the practical camp by one important Building Enterprise would offer inevitably the very great profits.

One changing in the construction of stairs and balconies of excessive charge to the fabrics to-day, in the construction of walls, pavements and ceilings, in the all metal carcass, in the keys of close of principal walls, will take the Edile Construction to the very great solidity, also employing generally the materials usually used to-day, and do not altering the economic balance and before facilitating the technical construction.

To-day the public look with complaisance the superb buildings that go erecting in every great town, the grave stone's balconies, the ceilings at bold curves, the grave and massive stairs, that offer one mass of apparent solidity that appear would be obliged to impunely defy every element, instead the history chronicle of disasters demonstrate as such solidity, it be more apparent that real, the dead weight of balconies and stairs, the ceilings at bold curves they be at last nothing that errors of construction, and therefore are always generally the first to shake in case of Earthquakes, as do not concur other that to move the equilibrium of the walls to which they demand support.

To this take a radical remedy occur a complete renewing in the Edile Constructions, renewing that offer the very great technical facility of execution and the very great warrant of resistance, conserving yet the exterior esthetic, giving nay camp to the art applied at the building industry to manifest in every way.

One important enterprise that assumed the practical actuation of this project, furnished of the necessary means and initiative, by to take it to a vast application, would find a large camp of remunerative work.

The Streets of Manhattan.

(With Illustrations.)

Wider observation on the part of the Record and Guide strengthens judgment of the unbusiness-like, inexcusable lack of supervision and control of conditions in our streets.

The major offences are appalling in frequency and in their deleterious character. Impatience rightly yields to indignation, and exasperation in view of the criminally complacent prolongation of intolerable conditions; and also in view of the inevitable approach of winter, which makes any attempt at betterment quite impracticable.

Our pictorial proofs of the city's disregard of its own laws and regulations strengthens condemnation.

Besides the unvarying note of trenches, deep pits and lines and heaps of debris, there is the very common and exceedingly hurtful nuisance of obstructions of the sidewalks. They will appeal in each case to New Yorkers as familiar provocations to righteous anger and disgust. In many cases we know of this being harmful; and in some instances almost prohibitive to the rental of neighboring properties. Is not the grace of custom gradually annulling the force and sanction of our laws and regulations?

Sec. 1456. "No person or persons shall throw, cast or lay, or direct, suffer or permit any servant, agent or employee to throw, cast or lay any ashes, offal, vegetables, garbage, dross, cinders, shells, straw, shavings, paper, dirt, filth or rubbish of any kind whatever, in any street in the City of New York. It shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine, etc., . . . for any person being the owner or the agent, or the employee of the owner . . . of any box, barrel, bale or merchandise, or other movable property . . . to leave, or suffer or permit to be left, any such barrel, box, bale or other property . . . upon any such public street."

Sec. 545. "It shall be the duty of the commissioner of street cleaning to remove, or cause to be removed . . . all boxes, barrels, bales or merchandise and other movable property found upon any public street, etc."

Nothing could be more definite and explicit. They are laws wisely made to give us unobstructed streets and sidewalks. Nothing could be more definite and imperative as to responsibility and control, whereby our streets and sidewalks might be unobstructed. But, in matter of fact, actual conditions show the imperative sanction of our laws, the carelessness—if not something more censurable—on the part of constituted delegated authority.

As human beings and citizens of a great city, we call for such rights, and such protection of our properties as are accorded us under sanction of our laws.

BUILDING NOTES

The New York Prism Co. has removed to larger and better offices at 497 West Broadway. The former offices of the above company are now occupied by the Lawlor Regulator Co.

James McLaren, a prominent cut stone contractor, died at his home in Brooklyn, Nov. 28. He was in his 58th year and quite wealthy. His stone yard is situated at foot of Court st., Brooklyn, and his sons will continue the business.

The long dispute between the old and the new unions of plasterers is reported by the officers of both unions to have been settled. The old union is known as Local 25 of the Journeymen Plasterers' International Union. It was locked out by the Building Trades Employers Association for refusing to observe the arbitration agreement. The new union, known as the Journeymen Plasterers' Society, was then formed under the arbitration agreement. Under the terms of settlement the new union is to be divided into two locals of the international union, each of which will receive a charter. The locals will then belong to the one international body and recognize each other's cards.

A Warning.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I am reliably informed that subscriptions and advertisements are being sought for a publication to be known as the Official Souvenir of the New York State Conference of Bricklayers and Masons. I desire to make known to the building public the fact that such a publication is without authorization at this time, the State Conference having adjourned last September and will not meet again for one year.

The book that was intended to be published should have been distributed in September. By publishing this warning in your paper, you will protect some of your readers from what seems to be a scheme to delude the public. Respectfully,

WM. J. BOWEN,

New York's Register's Office Now in Its New Home.

Without any material inconvenience to the public, the records and maps of the Register's office have been safely removed from their temporary quarters in the Morton Building, 116 Nassau st., to the new Hall of Records on the northwest corner of Chambers and Centre sts.

It will be remembered that for many years the business of this office was carried on in an old and dilapidated structure, which was demolished some time ago to make room for the present subway station at the entrance to the Brooklyn Bridge. The danger from fire in this primitive building was ever present, and the facilities for handling the increasing volume of business were not up to the requirements of the times. Even worse conditions existed in the temporary Nassau st offices just vacated.

About two weeks ago the work of removing the libers, maps and other books and documents was begun, and all told about 20,000 volumes, 10,000 maps and 500,000 chattel mortgages have been safely transferred to specially devised receptacles in the new building. Among the statistical records removed are many interesting documents of the old Dutch settlement of New Amsterdam, in the original, as well as copies of those of the same and later periods which have not as well stood the ravages of time. The office of Register Frank Gass and the general administration offices of the department are on the second floor of the Chambers st building, and the recording division on the third floor, where eighty folio writers with their modern book writing machines are to be found. A map room is also located on this floor.

The new metallic files have been the subject of favorable comment. In the direction of improvements it has been suggested that it would facilitate reference if the labeling of the libers were to conform to the horizontal position in which they are shelved.

Register Gass expects that from now on instruments will be delivered in less than two weeks from the date of recording. Those who have been inconvenienced by the delays in this department in the past will view this as a vast stride in the direction of efficiency.

Mayor McClellan, President McGowan and other prominent officials have been asked to assist in the opening to-day, which, however, will not be attended by any formal ceremonies.

—There is a rumor afloat that the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. are purchasing property in the vicinity of Cyprus and Willow avs, Bronx, for the purpose of introducing an additional car yard, as much of its freight travels that way.

Mortgage Loans By Life Insurance Companies.

From January 1 to November 1, 1906.

AN examination of the records for the year 1906 proves most interesting, in view of the assertions made by officers of the life insurance companies that they have not discouraged mortgage loans. Printed below is every loan on real estate made by the four wealthiest companies for the first ten months of this year.

The New York Life Insurance Company made 11 loans, aggregating $1,626,500.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company made 77 loans, aggregating $3,430,500.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society made 30 loans, aggregating $7,954,000.

The actual amount loaned out by the Society in the first eight months was less than $1,200,000. The total was increased by September loans, two of which aggregate $6,700,000.

The Metropolitan Life makes the only good showing, namely, a total of 48 loans, aggregating $15,750,500, about 20 per cent. more than all the other companies combined.

The figures certainly do lend credence to the almost universal complaint that comes from the real estate community that there has been discrimination against real estate. The New York Life Insurance Company alone invested nearly $31,000,000 in railroad and other bonds, as against less than $2,000,000 in real estate mortgages. The list follows:

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Trolley Line from Middle Village to Jamaica.

There have been filed in the County Clerk's office 26 consents of property owners along the line of Metropolitan av, from Middle Village to Jamaica. These consents have been obtained by parties interested in the extension of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, by a trolley line between these two places. The assessed valuation of the property interested in this extension and the consents which have been filed amount to over $72,000, which is sufficient, according to law, to allow a railroad company to construct and operate a line upon any thoroughfare. It is stipulated in the consents that the line must be built and in operation within one year's time. This branch, if operated, will make a short cut to New York by way of Myrtle av and Broadway and the Williamsburgh Bridge. It will also open the section of the country that has as yet been unimproved and lays dormant.
